Human Talents Go Undeveloped

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 — Here at Columbia University where great scholars, scientists and philosophers are gathered for the first of three great convocations called to celebrate the university's bicentennial, a new book has been published as one of the many contributions to the celebration.

Its title is simple. It is called "The Uneducated."

During the time the now President of the United States was serving Columbia University as its president, he had brought before him the unhappy facts of rejection of thousands of Americans from military service because of their illiteracy. At Columbia he began to see equally disturbing facts developed out of a study of human resources.

President Eisenhower encouraged the setting up of a large-scale research project under the title: "The Conservation of Human Resources." It is from this research that now comes the disturbing book which might be called "The Shame of America." That it should appear now, at the 200th anniversary of a really great institution which has played perhaps a major part in the reduction of American illiteracy serves more effectively to point up the facts which had so disturbed General Eisenhower.

5 Million Rejected

"During World War II," say the authors, "more than five million people liable for military service were rejected as unsuitable because of a physical, emotional or moral disability. One out of every three young men could not serve this country during a major war. In the year following the outbreak of hostilities in Korea about five hundred thousand of the million and a half men examined were rejected. Nor is this all. Of those rejected during World War II 716,000, almost a million, were turned down as mentally deficient."

The authors went calmly about their research. Their presentation is factual, not editorial. But they say that as a people we have been, until recently, little concerned with our human resources. We have, at the same time, made great strides in other fields. We have produced improved strains of cattle, better suited to their environments. We have learned to breed hybrids of corn, wheat, vegetables, pigs, chickens and turkeys which are much improved. We have gone, even, to the trouble and expense to produce a small watermelon for apartment house refrigerators.

Thus it can be said with truth that, in those states which have been poor in income, a chicken, a pig or a vegetable has had more attention paid its "improvement" than has the average child.

60-Year Progress

Progress has been made, of course. In 1890 about one in every seven Americans was illiterate. In 1950 the figures were about one in each 50. In this same period, the authors note, "The Negro population has been transformed from a predominantly illiterate to an overwhelmingly literate group."

But much remains to be done.

The authors say that while the responsibility is local, the responsibility nonetheless cannot be fully discharged by many states. Therefore they suggest federal aid. They are aware of the hue and cry which goes up against this plan. But they apparently think that if local responsibility can accept federal sums to help cattlemen eradicate the screw worm; cotton men to fight boll weevil, and so on, that we might use some to help human beings.

It is not right, nor is it good for the nation, that education should depend so much on the accident of geography and birth. Many young people manage an education simply because they are born and live near a good school. Others, of real ability, don't have money and live far from schools. Education, too, must somehow reach the men who are emotionally unstable.

"The Uneducated" is not a comfortable book. And we won't be comfortable as a nation until we do something about it.

Dulles Says U. S. To Choose Weapons, Place Next Time

By PETER KIHSS
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—Secretary of State Dulles said here tonight that the nation's military and foreign policy is being adapted to a basic decision by the National Security Council—to confront any aggressor by "a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing."

The Eisenhower program, he said, seeks "more effective, less costly" security in cooperation with the nation's Allies "by placing more reliance on deterrent power, and less dependence on local defensive power."

"NO PARTNERSHIP"

Speaking at a dinner in his honor by the Council on Foreign Relations, Dulles promised continued efforts at negotiation with the Soviet Union on such issues as atomic energy, Germany, Austria and Korea, but he pledged there would be "no plan for a partnership division of world power with those who suppress freedom."

Dulles foresaw hope of peace because "there are limits to the power of any rules indefinitely to suppress the human spirit," and he reported "signs" that Soviet leaders are "bending" to their people's desire for more food, more household goods and more economic freedom.

The secretary's speech, entitled "The Evolution of Foreign Policy," had been heralded by the State Department as a major address.

EISENHOWER COURSE

Pulling together a review of the Eisenhower course, it was broadcast nationally over the DuMont television network, and re-broadcast later by the Mutual and NBC radio systems.

Many pre-Eisenhower foreign policies were "good," Dulles said. He cited aid to Greece and Turkey, the European recovery program, the Berlin airlift, United Nations resistance to attack in

Quake Rocks 500-Mile Area In California

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—A strong earthquake rocked large sections of California today, jarring cities more than 500 miles apart, snapping power and telephone lines and cracking buildings.

There were no reports of injuries.

California Institute of Technology seismologists at Pasadena said the quake, lasting more than a minute, began at 6:34 p.m., EST, and was of 5.75 to 61 magnitude—a major quake. The University of California seismograph at Berkeley recorded the quake for 15 minutes.

Some telephone lines were broken at nearby Tehachapi, where 10 lives were lost in a devastating 1952 quake. Lines also were snapped at Ventura and all phone lines were reported out of operation at Newhall, near Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles, 120 miles southeast, plaster on some buildings cracked, as did walls on the 24th floor of the City Hall Tower.

More Cold Is Expected; 26 Slated Tomorrow

More cold weather is the prospect for Atlanta and North Georgia today, with slightly higher temperatures and rain forecast for tomorrow.

The Atlanta Weather Bureau said the mercury, plunging to 18 degrees this morning, would climb to near 40 degrees in the early afternoon.

The forecast calls for "increasing cloudiness today, not so cold tomorrow with showers likely." Temperature tomorrow is expected to range from 26 to 44.

Yesterday low readings of from 20 to 30 degrees were recorded by weather stations over the state and the Atlanta bureau said the temperature probably went as low as 10 or 12 in the mountainous northeast section of Georgia.

HOURLY TEMPERATURES

1 p.m.	33	7 p.m.	28
2 p.m.	34	8 p.m.	27
3 p.m.	34	9 p.m.	25
4 p.m.	33	10 p.m.	25
5 p.m.	31	11 p.m.	24
6 p.m.	30	12 midnight	23

The mercury dropped to 20 at Rome, while Alma in southeast Georgia reported a low of 30. In Atlanta the high reading was 35 and the low 23.

A broken water main resulted in an ice-coated Peachtree street at Peachtree Creek bridge yesterday morning but the traffic hazard was only temporary.

The 16-inch main spewed water 60 feet high for almost an hour, coating the area with ice. Traffic in two lanes was interrupted.

Wife of Fugitive Reuther Witness Seized in Ontario

DETROIT, Jan. 12 (UP)—Betty White, wife of Donald Ritchie, fugitive "key witness" in the Reuther shooting case, was arrested in Preston, Ont., tonight. She told provincial police that Ritchie planned to surrender after contacting his attorney, Donald Morand.

Morand was the Windsor attorney who arranged for the payment of $5,000 in CIO United Auto Workers funds to the woman an hour after Ritchie escaped from protective police custody in Detroit.

Ritchie was termed by police as the "key witness to the solution" of the shooting of CIO President Walter Reuther in 1948.

DEATH STALKS ALPS

GIs Battle Avalanches As Toll Soars to 200

VIENNA, Jan. 12 (INS)—American troops armed with snow plows fought a new foe today—slashing snow avalanches that spread death and destruction over thousands of square miles of Alpine lands.

It was estimated more than 200 persons were killed or were still missing in the roaring snow slides in Austria and Switzerland.

GIs stationed in Austria fought through a blizzard to a train halted south of the town of Lend in Salzburg province. U.S. Army officials said the train, carrying British troops, women and children from Villach, in the British zone of Austria, finally was freed by the troops and proceeded to Germany.

Another train—four passenger coaches, a baggage car and engine—was reported to have been hurled into a valley by an avalanche at Dalaas. The number of passengers aboard was not known.

Austria's Vorarlberg province was hardest hit. A government spokesman said: "It is feared the total number of dead in the avalanche catastrophe in Vorarlberg alone is 100, with scores still missing."

The known death toll in Switzerland jumped to 18. Specially trained snow teams rescued six persons trapped in central Switzerland for the past two days.

A new avalanche warning was sounded throughout western Austria where three to four feet of snow blanketed the ground.

The worst disaster in hard-hit Vorarlberg province occurred at the village of Blons. A giant avalanche smashed 23 houses and buried 50 persons yesterday. The tragedy was not reported until today because the slide cut off the town from the outside world for 24 hours.

A spokesman said "it is the worst catastrophe in Austria's avalanche history."

A sudden rise in the temperature after heavy snowfalls set off the wave of avalanches. The Tyrol and Upper Styria also were hit.

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M., Jan. 11—(UP)—Eight persons, including four young children, were killed when their packed automobile exploded in flame after colliding with a beer truck on a bridge near here late today. The truck driver was injured.

All the dead were from El Frida, Ariz. They were identified as: Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Lafferty and Mr. and Mrs. Slim Server and their four children. Police said the children ranged in age from 1 to 10.

Farm Plan Stirs Senate GOP Revolt

Ives To Block T-H Strike Poll

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—A major and perhaps decisive revolt against President Eisenhower's farm program broke out today among Senate Republicans in their first party conference of the new session of Congress.

The result was to make it unlikely that the President's approach, which seeks a gradual reduction of the farm subsidy, could even reach the Senate floor except possibly as an attempted rider to some quite different bill.

OPPOSE PLAN

Farm belt Republicans told their colleagues that the President's plan could not pass Congress in any event. If it did it might cost the Republicans the congressional election in November, they warned.

On a second main domestic issue, labor, one of the administration's requested changes in the Taft-Hartley act was put in danger.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) announced his opposition to the President's proposal that provision be made to poll striking employes as to whether they wanted to go on with their strike.

LABOR PANEL

Ives' opposition was enough to make it next to impossible for this provision to obtain the approval of the Senate labor committee, of which he is a member, and thus to reach the Senate itself. Assuming the disapproval of the committee, the amendment still could be attempted on the floor, but such an attempt was regarded in the Senate as unlikely. (Labor leaps on President's proposal. Story on Page Two.)

On the farm issue, the Midwestern and Western resistance to the President's approach had been foregone but the severity and timing of the eruption appar-

Senate Okays Bigger Cotton Acre Quota

By ROY CALVIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (UP)—The Senate approved a bill today to increase the 1954 cotton planting allotment to 21,379,342 acres despite Southern protests against special acreage "bonuses" for Western growers.

The measure, approved by an unrecorded voice vote, was the first major legislation to clear either house in the new session of Congress. It now goes to the House which passed a similar measure last year.

It would increase by 3,468,894 acres the 17,910,448-acre cotton allotment set for this year by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

(The legislation would increase Georgia's allotment 173,573 acres, to a total of 1,186,908.)

The measure represented a compromise reached before the congressional session between growers in the "old" Southern cotton-producing states and new production areas in Arizona, California and New Mexico.

Just before the final vote, Democratic Sens. Robert S. Kerr (Okla) and J. William Fulbright (Ark) argued unsuccessfully against "special privileges" granted Western states. Under the bill, their acreage cannot be cut more than 34 per cent under 1953 levels.

Atlanta Traffic Court Vetoed by Talmadge As 'Unconstitutional'

$1.3 Billion Tax Relief Plan Ready

By JOHN D. MORRIS
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—The ways and means committee of the House meets tomorrow to start writing a bill that would give individuals and corporations about $1,300,000,000 of tax relief in a full year without changing any rates.

Republican committeemen, who have been meeting secretly since Congress convened, are reported to be in substantial agreement on most major provisions.

President Eisenhower is expected to recommend them formally in his budget message Jan. 21.

PLANS READY

The ways and means Republicans have been given advance information on the proposals, which actually had already been worked out by congressional and Treasury staffs. Major points of agreement include the following:

Medical Expenses—Outlays that exceed 3 per cent of an individual's income would be made deductible for tax purposes. Under present law, only those in excess of 5 per cent of income are deductible.

Child Care—Up to $300 a year paid for child care by the working parent of a motherless or fatherless child would be deductible. This would not apply, however, in cases where the parent is re-married and where the child is over six years of age.

Depreciation — Under present law, business may deduct from income an amount representing the depreciation of plant and equipment. The allowance is usually apportioned equally over the useful life of the property, ordinarily about 20 years or more. The proposal is to allow deduction of two-thirds of the cost over the first five years of the property's life. The aim is to encourage plant expansion and modernization.

EARNING TAX

Dividends—As a first step in the elimination of "double taxation" of corporation earnings, shareholders would be permitted to deduct 5 per cent of their dividend incomes in calculating individual income taxes. Corporation earnings now are taxed first as profits of the business and again as individual income when distributed in the form of dividends.

Dependents — Under present law, anyone earning more than $600 a year cannot be counted as a dependent, and the taxpayer consequently loses the $600 personal exemption. The proposal is to waive the $600 income limit so long as more than half of the dependent's support is provided by the taxpayer. It would apply to all children under 18 and to older ones still in school or college. Dependents would be required to pay taxes themselves on income above $600, but this ordinarily would be at the lowest tax rate.

Jet Crashes 4 Homes; 6 Are Killed

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 12. (UP)—An Air Force jet flying in a rainstorm crashed in residential Signal Hill today, striking four homes and killing six persons, including the pilot.

Long Beach and Signal Hill police, after combing the wreckage and debris, said they had fixed the toll at six deaths. A seventh man, Ernest G. Bailey, 72, died from a heart attack as he watched.

The identified dead were listed by authorities as Mrs. Shirley Roberts, 21, and her 18-month-old son, Douglas; the pilot, Maj. Robert A. Blair of Omaha, Neb., and Stephen Louis Shupe, 11. Mrs. Shirley Ledbetter, 25, whose husband and 4-month-old son were in critical condition at Long Beach community hospital, and Grace Miller.

Police said two persons were treated for shock.

Identification of the victims was a slow process because of the badly burned condition of the bodies.

The Air Force said the 600-mile-per-hour jet, of the type which did the bulk of the air fighting in the latter stages of the Korean war, was on a routine training flight when something went wrong. It crashed into Raymond avenue, exploding and sending chunks of debris smashing into houses along both sides of the street.

Cook Opinion Cited; Mayor Pledges Fight

By ALBERT RILEY

Gov. Talmadge last night vetoed a legislative bill that would have created a Traffic Court of the City of Atlanta, empowered to try violations of state traffic laws.

In his veto message, the governor said Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook had ruled that the bill is "palpably unconstitutional."

Talmadge's action killed at least until 1955 city administration hopes of getting a single court in which all traffic violations could be tried.

MAYOR'S PLEA

Mayor William B. Hartsfield, who had appealed in vain to get Talmadge to sign the bill, promptly said: "We are not going to quit trying to give Atlanta a modern traffic court like other progressive cities. Our citizens will be the final arbiters of who is right in this matter. We have just begun to fight."

Text of veto message and of mayor's comment on Page 15.

Sol. John I. Kelley of Fulton Criminal Court, who bitterly opposed passage of the bill by the last session of the Legislature and urged the governor to veto it, was pleased at the action.

SETTLE DOWN

"I am certainly gratified," Kelley said, "and I hope we can settle down and law enforcement agencies can get together and do the job we've got of enforcing the law in the city and county. I want the cooperation of the city and its officers and I am ready to cooperate with them."

Gov. Talmadge noted in his veto message that the State Supreme Court had ruled unconstitutional a legislative act that created "a hybrid court" at Griffin, which would have been a municipal court with jurisdiction over state offenses. And he said the Atlanta Traffic Court bill "identically paralleled the Griffin court which was held unconstitutional."

For that reason and others, Talmadge said, the attorney general

Cure Your Nerves Yourself

Fear of Insanity Often Is Normal

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D.

Dr. Bisch, one of America's noted psychiatrists, believes psychiatry has become too popular. He says many people who rush to a psychiatrist can usually cure themselves. This is the fourth installment from his book, "CURE YOUR NERVES YOURSELF," published by Wilfred Funk, Inc.

CHAPTER IV

About the easiest thing in the world to sell yourself is the idea that you are not mentally normal.

Unless a person has specialized in the workings of the mind, he naturally is ignorant of the "peculiarities" that are common among the vast majority of the population.

Here are several worrisome symptoms that alarm people who are perfectly normal.

Poor concentration heads the list. Although it is a universal complaint, it often seems alarming.

Always look to possible physical causes when you find you have to read a passage over and over again, or you "don't listen well," and the like. All that this means is that your nerves are physically tired. So they rebel against registering more information. They are trying to take a holiday and rest themselves.

Maybe it is insufficient sleep you are suffering from, or irregular hours, or poor bowel movements or excessive use of tobacco, alcohol, or drugs. Ask yourself whether you are getting enough fresh air, exercise or recreation.

When the mind gets tired, it automatically shuts out new impressions as a protective measure, so it may carry as light a load as possible.

Faulty memory is another annoyance that may start you worrying. Naturally, if the mind is trying to shut out new impressions because it is tired, it also is clouding over, so to speak, the stored-up ideas in your memory storehouse, your unconscious mind.

The remedy for a bad memory is the same as for poor concentration. Neither should be considered as terrifying. Nobody ever lost his mind or had a breakdown because his concentration or memory were not av-

GOPs Give M'Carthy Strategic Rules Post

Agree To Up Senator's Power In Face of Drive To Curb Him

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Senate Republicans agreed today to put Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) on the Senate Rules Committee which, among other duties, parcels out money for investigations.

This means a boost in power for McCarthy at a time when some Democrats aim to trim funds for his investigations subcommittee.

The Rules Committee also considers disputed Senate elections and any challenges to a senator's right to sit in Congress.

If Senate Republicans have any intentions of trying to tone down McCarthy, today's action doesn't seem to fit into the pattern. The Rules Committee assignment for McCarthy is in addition to those he now has, on the Appropriations and Government Operations Committees. The Wisconsin senator is chairman of Operations, the parent committee to the investigations subcommittee.

SENATE HEADS

McCarthy goes on Rules under a system worked out by Republican and Democratic Senate leaders to let the GOP keep control of major committees even though the Democrats outnumber them in the Senate 48-47.

The arrangement is subject to Senate approval. That would be pretty much a matter of routine except that the lone Senate independent, Morse of Oregon, has said he will fight it.

In addition to McCarthy, the Senate GOP conference voted extra committee posts for three other Republican senators. Duff (Pa.) and Payne (Maine) were named to interstate commerce and Upton (N.H) to labor.

A reshuffling also puts Senators Aiken (Vt.) and Capehart (Ind.) on foreign relations, Purtell (Conn.) on interstate commerce, and Cooper (Ky.) on labor.

RULES POST

McCarthy's assignment to Rules was a surprise—all the other changes had been tipped in advance. It puts him in a strategic spot to combat any efforts to whittle down funds for his investigations.

The committee realignments approved today by Senate Republicans stem from the deaths last year of Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire. Upton, another Republican, took Tobey's place. But Sen. Burke, a Democrat, replaced Taft.

That left the Democrats with a one-vote majority over the GOP and created a committee assignment problem.

The Democratic leadership agreed to a plan whereby the Senate would boost from 14 to 18 the number of Senate Republicans who can have three committee posts instead of the regular two, and thus hold majorities in the committees.

LOSES LEG

Suzan Ball

Actress Suzan Ball Loses Leg In Year-Long Fight Against Cancer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP)—Actress Suzan Ball, whose fight against cancer captured the nation's heart, today underwent an operation for the removal of her right leg.

"The operation was successful and Miss Ball is resting easily," hospital attendants reported.

The amputation came after a year-long battle with cancer by the plucky actress. After apparently recovering from a knee tumor, she slipped in the kitchen of her home and broke the leg Nov. 28.

A bone graft operation was attempted, but Miss Ball did not respond. Because of the deterioration of the bone, an amputation was necessary. The operation was performed by Dr. Hy Engleman, who removed the leg between the knee and hip.

Present at Temple Hospital was actor Richard Long, to whom Miss Ball became engaged a few weeks ago. He has said they will go through with their marriage plans as soon as she is able.

The 20-year-old Buffalo, N. Y., girl had a meteoric rise at Universal-International studio, rising to star billing in "East of Sumatra." During dance rehearsals for that picture, she bumped her knee on a cement floor and injured it. Later examinations disclosed that she was suffering from Ewing's disease, a malignancy.

Extensive treatment appeared to have arrested the cancer, but her condition worsened after the leg break.

Her studio has footed most of the medical expenses and has indicated she will be welcomed back to continue her acting career when she is outfitted with an artificial leg.

Before she went to the hospital, Miss Ball said, "It didn't seem as though it were happening to me. I had always loved life so. Somehow I just couldn't believe it when the doctors told me I would have to have my leg amputated.

"I guess I prayed a lot. But I didn't say, 'Please God, save me.' . . . I have a good relationship with Him. I'd just say, 'I guess You know what You're doing, because I surely don't.'"

Asked if the experience brought her closer to religion, she replied: "I think it has brought me a better understanding of the nature of God. It also has made me appreciate the kindness of other people."

Jane Russell's Film Run Is Cut On Studio Order

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12—(INS)—"The French Line," Jane Russell's controversial debut in 3-D is to end its St. Louis run Jan. 18 on orders from the movie studio that made it.

Edward B. Arthur, general manager of the theater chain which exhibited the film in St. Louis, said the withdrawal was directed in a telephone conversation he had with RKO president James R. Grainger. The picture had been scheduled for an extended run.

The musical premiered in St. Louis Dec. 29 despite refusal of Hollywood's Breen office to give it the industry's seal of approval.

RKO was fined $25,000 Friday by the movie code administration for distribution of the picture without the Breen office seal.

Repairman Trapped in Tavern Refrigerator Sounds Alarm by Shutting Off Beer to Bar

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12 (INS)—A quick-thinking refrigerator repairman saved himself from freezing to death today because he knew how to attract the atention of a bartender and his customers.

Robert Moore, the repairman, inadvertently locked himself in the large walk-in type refrigerator in the basement of a St. Louis tavern.

The shirt-sleeved Moore, after shouting and beating on the door to no avail for 30 minutes, got an inspiration.

Moore shut off the pipes carrying beer to the taps upstairs in the bar. In a few minutes the bartender came down, opened the refrigerator door to investigate and rescued the chilled repairman.

Strike Breaker, Union Cry At Ike's Worker Poll Plan

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Labor leaders hollered "strike breaker" and "government interference" today.

They charged that a proposal to conduct government polls of strikers would do just what President Eisenhower had been declaiming against— "union bustin'" and too much government intervention in labor-management affairs.

The President's labor message to Congress yesterday proposed secret ballots because "there is nothing which so vitally affects the individual employe as the loss of his pay when he is called on strike."

Many persons jumped to the conclusion that the President proposed polling the employes on the question whether they wanted to go on strike, but he was not so specific.

SMITH BILL

Sen. H. Alexander Smith, Republican of New Jersey, introduced a bill, which he said incorporated the President's recommendation. This provided for polls on the question whether the employes wanted to continue striking.

The White House declined to accept or deny responsibility for the procedure in the Smith Bill.

It was learned, however, that the technicians who wrote the Smith Bill did so under White House instructions.

A spokesman for the CIO said a prestrike poll by the government was a discredited antiunion weapon and that the Smith Bill proposal for a vote "at some undetermined time after the beginning of a strike . . . is clearly a provision for government strikebreaking. This is union busting, which President Eisenhower proclaimed against during his campaign speeches.

CONFIRM OR DENY

"Perhasp the President, in his press conference, tomorrow, will confirm or deny whether Sen. Smith's Bill is the administration bill to improve Taft-Hartley."

The AFL, by the assumption that prestrike ballots were proposed, said "this is a serious restriction of labor's rights to manage its own affairs," and a "complete reversal of the administration's own professed policy of less government interference."

Teacher Shines Shoes For March of Dimes

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—Clark Cox, an eighth grade school teacher, is raising money for the March of Dimes by shining the shoes of all students who will contribute 25 cents instead of a dime.

The 26-year-old teacher works on the shoes during recesses and the lunch period. He said he's already collected around $10.

"I've got more business than I can take care of," he said.

U.N., Reds Will Try To Talk Anew

Aides To Confer At Panmunjom

SEOUL, Wednesday, Jan. 13 (AP)—U.N. and Communist aides tomorrow will attempt to revive the preliminary Korean peace talks, which blew up in an explosion of angry words a month ago.

The U.N. Command agreed yesterday to a Communist suggestion that liaison secretaries meet at Panmunjom. But the Reds said nothing about taking back a charge of "perfidy" leveled at the United States.

PERFIDY MATTER

The U.N. representative was instructed to take up the "perfidy" matter, but there were indications the U.S. attitude had softened and a compromise was possible. When the U.S. envoy, Arthur Dean, walked out on the talks Dec. 12 he said he would not return until the charge was withdrawn.

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Britain today advised India to withdraw her troops, guarding 22,500 anti-Red Korean war prisoners, at midnight Jan. 22, official sources reported. They said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden underlined the British view during a long talk with India's high commissioner to London, B. G. Kher.

The liaison officers' task is to try to work out conditions and a date for resuming the preliminary talks, which are designed to arrange a time and place for a Korean peace conference.

In Washington, press officer Henry Duydam of the State Department declined to comment when asked if among the U.S. conditions would be a retraction of the perfidy charge.

PRISONER PROBLEM

While the liaison officers assemble, the Neutral Nations Repation Commission will be meeting to argue a new and possibly decisive Indian plan for disposing of the explosive prisoner problem.

The commission voted down yesterday Sweden's proposal that the 22,000 prisoners who have refused to go home be released Jan. 23, as the U.N. Command demands. Only Switzerland sided with Sweden. India and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia voted "no."

Bulge in Barracks Bag Is German Girl, 18

BERLIN, Jan. 12 (AP)—An Army barracks bag is noted for what a GI can cram into it. A military policeman opened one today and found a petite 18-year-old German girl.

MP Sgt. E. Salazar of San Jose, Calif., kicked the bag as he made a routine inspection aboard the Berlin-bound U.S. military train at the East-West crossing point of Helmstedt. A muffled squeal came from the bag. Salazar investigated and out crawled pretty brunette Maria Pawlik.

Miss Pawlik had been smuggled aboard the train by Pvt. Charles M. Goodman, 24, of Long Beach, Calif. She had been taken off a bus for Berlin when Soviet zone authorities found she did not have the necessary travel papers. The girl said Goodman felt sorry for her and allowed her to cram her five-foot and 90 pounds into the olive drab bag along with his clothes and other possessions. She was put off the train.

U.S. Rests Case Against Car Dealer

A U.S. tax investigator yesterday testified that Raymond J. Bedgood, former Savannah used car dealer on trial here for alleged income tax evasion, reported he lost $16,366.24 in 1947 on stolen cars he received at his car lot.

James Cumberworth of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service's Savannah office testified that the government allowed Bedgood to deduct the stolen car losses from his income tax, but still claims Bedgood netted $26,614 instead of the $11,559 he reported on his return for the year.

LAST WITNESS

Cumberworth was the last witness introduced by the government before U.S. Atty. Harvey H. Tisinger rested his case.

John Sullivan, Bedgood's attorney, immediately asked U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper to direct a verdict of acquittal for Bedgood on grounds that government evidence did not show "willful evasion" or that Bedgood received more money than his tax returns show.

The judge overruled Sullivan's motion.

BANK ACCOUNTS

Earlier, Cumberworth testified tax investigators had used Bedgood's bank account records in computing their figures on Bedgood's net income for 1946 and 1947.

In cross-examination Sullivan obtained Cumberworth's admission that the government had considered bank deposits not explained in Bedgood's tax returns as sales made by Bedgood.

Sullivan termed this method of computing net income "presumptious."

CITY HALL

Fire Survey Begins, May Affect Rates

By MARJORY SMITH

Fire insurance rates for the Atlanta area may be affected by results of a five-week survey started here yesterday by a team of experts from the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

George Swann, chief engineer for the national board, heads the team, which expects to "bring up-to-date a report" made by the board in 1948. Gordon Anderson, board field engineer, has been assigned to study the Atlanta Water Department, with other board representatives assigned to fire and other city departments. The group met with Mayor Hartsfield and will hold conferences with various city department heads during the survey period.

Policeman's Hearing

Police committee of the Atlanta Board of Alderman will hear charges of "neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer" against a city policeman here tonight.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said formal charges had been drawn up against Officer N. E. Nolan. Nolan is accused of letting three burglaries go undetected on his East Atlanta beat. Jenkins, who said the charge of negligence in such a case was the first made here in recent years, has recommended that the city police committee "take strong disciplinary action."

Ald. Ed A. Gilliam, committee chairman, said other business expected to be taken up tonight is "routine."

Bevins To Speak

Atlanta Traffic Engineer Karl Bevins will speak on "Traffic" at a meeting of the Griffin Rotary Club Thursday, Jan. 21.

Tuttle Named To Study Panel

Elbert P. Tuttle, general counsel of the U.S. Treasury Department and chairman of the Republican Party in Georgia, has been appointed by former President Herbert Hoover as a member of a government reorganization panel on legal procedures

The Atlanta attorney will be one of 14 legal experts on the panel designed to study and streamline legal services and practices of federal agencies.

The board will be headed by Judge James M. Douglas, former justice of the Missouri Supreme Court.

Suspect in 'Triangle' Knifing Accused of FBI Masquerade

A 23-year-old automobile plant employe, identified by police as the second man in a romance triangle which bloomed in Florida and waned in Atlanta, was being held yesterday in Fulton Tower to face federal charges of impersonating an FBI agent and county charges of stabbing another.

U.S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden ordered the man, Joe Sprayberry of 158 13th St., NE. held in lieu of $1,000 bond after Sprayberry was charged with pretending to be an FBI agent to impress Victoria Johnston.

Police said Mrs. Johnston Saturday night took Sprayberry up to the Atlanta apartment of W. H. Hushour, a Miami mechanic. An argument ensued and Hushour received a stab wound in the side that required 37 stitches, officers said.

Sprayberry is being held under $300 bond to Fulton Criminal Court on the stabbing charge. Hushour, whose off-and-on romance with Mrs. Johnston led through Florida and Georgia, was ordered held as a material witness in the stabbing case.

Mrs. Johnston, whose former husband and three-year-old daughter live in Cornelia, is being held under two warrants charging larceny in Miami Beach, detectives said.

Her attorneys have filed a writ of habeas corpus asking that a bond be set and a hearing is scheduled for tomorrow in Fulton Superior Court.

"I don't believe in retirement so long as you can stand on your feet," says the 90-year-old Shelton.

Arnall Urges REA Fight on Public Tower

Special to The Constitution

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 12—Former Georgia Gov. Ellis Arnall, special counsel for the Georgia Electric Membership Corp., today said the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association (REA) must fight for its right "to acquire publicly financed and publicly generated power, and we propose to do it."

He said "the outcome of present assaults" upon REA "may determine whether our people can successfully maintain their historic insistence that public property belongs to the people."

Arnall, addressing the 12th annual convention of REA, urged the delegates to prepare to fight any move by the Republican Administration to "turn over to private corporations for private profit power facilities developed by the Government with your money."

Referring to the Tennessee Valley Authority, Arnall said:

"Talk about private enterprise, TVA has been the greatest boon to private enterprise in the South. Look at the industries it has made possible. With the possible exception of equalized freight rates, it has been the South's greatest blessing."

Labor Distribution

The marketing of farm products now requires more workers than farm production itself, a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report shows. The number of workers in agriculture has decreased by 10 to 15 per cent during the last 20 years, while the number engaged in marketing farm products may have increased more than one-third.

Ike's Farm Plan Has Little Chance

Reaction in and out of Congress to President Eisenhower's proposals on agricultural and labor problems is about as expected. Charged as they are with political controversy, it is doubtful whether much of either program will emerge intact from the 83rd Congress.

Southerners in House and Senate, guided by the wishes of their farm constituents, will form a solid bloc in opposition to the flexible price-support plan. With other Democrats, they can perhaps muster enough votes from Republicans representing Western farm states to defeat it. Georgia's Sen. Russell will lead the fight.

What seems likely to emerge is at least a one-year extension of the present support program, although rigid supports are not likely to be accepted as permanent policy. The mandatory rigid supports were war-born to meet a production need.

Somehow Congress must find the answer—and it will not be found in an election year—to the problem of how to strike a balance between farmer and consumer, taxpayer and the subsidized, free enterprise and government intervention and glut and scarcity.

There are valid arguments, pro and con, about the price-support systems.

Farmers maintain that the only way they can gain a fair share of the national income is to be allowed the same protection that government gives labor and industry through "restrictions, controls, regulations and monopolistic practices which influence agriculture's total cost of production, distribution and marketing."

Advocates of flexible supports describe them as more sensible economics. They maintain that a practical farm program "must be geared to use rather than storage." They point out that farm prices are already becoming stabilized and that a permanent rigid support policy will drive the American farmer out of the world market.

Opponents come back with the argument that the price supports have cost 40 cents per capita during fiscal 1953 and only $10 per capita during their entire history. While the farm program cost $1,000,000,000 in the last 10 years, they maintain this is one of the best bargains the country ever got for its tax dollars.

At any rate, the battle is joined. Although the President is unlikely to get what he has asked, the outstanding fact about all his messages to Congress thus far is their recognition that government must be concerned with the welfare of all its citizens. That is a radical departure within itself from traditional Old Guard doctrines. So is the idea of partnership between government and free citizens for the general good.

Uniform Traffic Code Is a Reality at Last

Effective early in March, Georgia will operate under a Uniform Traffic Code, Gov. Herman Talmadge having signed the voluminous traffic bill passed by the General Assembly in December.

Not everyone is pleased with the new code. Scarcely anyone is entirely satisfied with it. We are not satisfied, for one. The code is not perfect. It is the result of compromise and no compromise has ever attained perfection.

Now that a uniform code becomes a reality, it is something to work from instead of something to work to. It has its "bugs," as its authors admit. But almost anything new does have. Often defects cannot be detected until a new machine or a new way of doing things is put into effect. Then they can be remedied.

The Code increases the penalties on drunken driving—the time will come when they will be made stricter yet. In the opinion of the attorney general, the Code and the Driver's Financial Responsibility Law are complementary and not in conflict.

The Code brings Georgia speed limits —60 by day and 50 by night—into line with those of neighboring states. By the way, 55 miles an hour is still the law until the new limit becomes effective.

The important fact about the Uniform Traffic Code is that it is a means to an end and not an end itself. The Code will make for highway safety only as it is obeyed by the public and enforced by the agencies charged with upholding the law.

Henry County Profits In Protecting Forests

One doesn't always have to fight fire with fire. On the contrary, that method usually is the last resort. Much better is prevention and preparation that betters the chance to nip the blaze at the start.

Henry County has found that protection pays. The county has a forestry unit. In 1953 three lookout towers were available for the unit's use. As a result, losses from fire were cut to 253 acres as compared to the average of 2,500 or 3,000 acres that burned annually in the days before organized protection.

Besides timber, many homes and other buildings were saved because the firefighters got there in time to suppress the blazes in the woods and in the broom sedge fields.

The Henry County story is typical among those counties which have, through cooperation with the state, established organized forest protection.

What Russia Admires Is Claimed as Her Own

Russia refuses to rest content with her enormous territorial and ideological gains. She's still capturing other nations' heroes, inventions and folklore.

Since World War II she has claimed the invention of the telephone, television and many other scientific accomplishments of the western world. Now Russia is laying the first claim to what once was science fiction, but now is approaching reality—the exploration of interplanetary space. Naturally, they say they were way ahead of American comic strip artists.

As Russia pre-empts for herself more and more of the accomplishments and national figures of other peoples, we wait the day when she sovietizes such American legends as Mike Fink and John Bunyan.

We feel confident, however, that here in non-Russian Georgia, we will rest undisturbed in the possession of two of our most beloved and gentle figures, Uncle Remus and Aeneas Africanus.

Survey of Handicapped Is a Worthy Project

For the first time in history an attempt is being made to determine the number of handicapped children in Georgia and to measure the extent of their handicaps. It is significant in that some kind of yardstick needs to be established to weigh their needs and to measure their effect on the economic and social well-being of the state.

The first test survey, being conducted by the Cerebral Palsy Society and the Georgia Society for Crippled Children, is in progress in Clarke and Oconee Counties. It is part of a state-wide study being made by Dr. S. M. Wishik of the University of Pittsburgh.

The people of the two counties are being asked to report instances of handicapped children to the health center in Athens and at the Oconee County Health Department at Watkinsville. Through cooperation of the people of the two counties, it is hoped to establish a basis for estimating the needs over the entire state.

The survey covers the range of common defects—hearing, vision, mental retardation, epilepsy, bone and muscle ailments, cosmetic defects, speech impediments and others.

Such a study is definitely worthwhile. Far too long have the physically handicapped been neglected to their own and the state's detriment. Far too many potentially useful citizens have been relegated to the back rooms of our society to die eventually of heartbreak. The cost to the families affected, to the communities and to the state has been great.

The problem of the handicapped is of concern to all of us. Fully one-third of our total population is handicapped to some degree. The proportion in Georgia perhaps is higher. Let's find the extent of it and initiate and extend programs of rehabilitation that will make useful citizens of many deserving people.

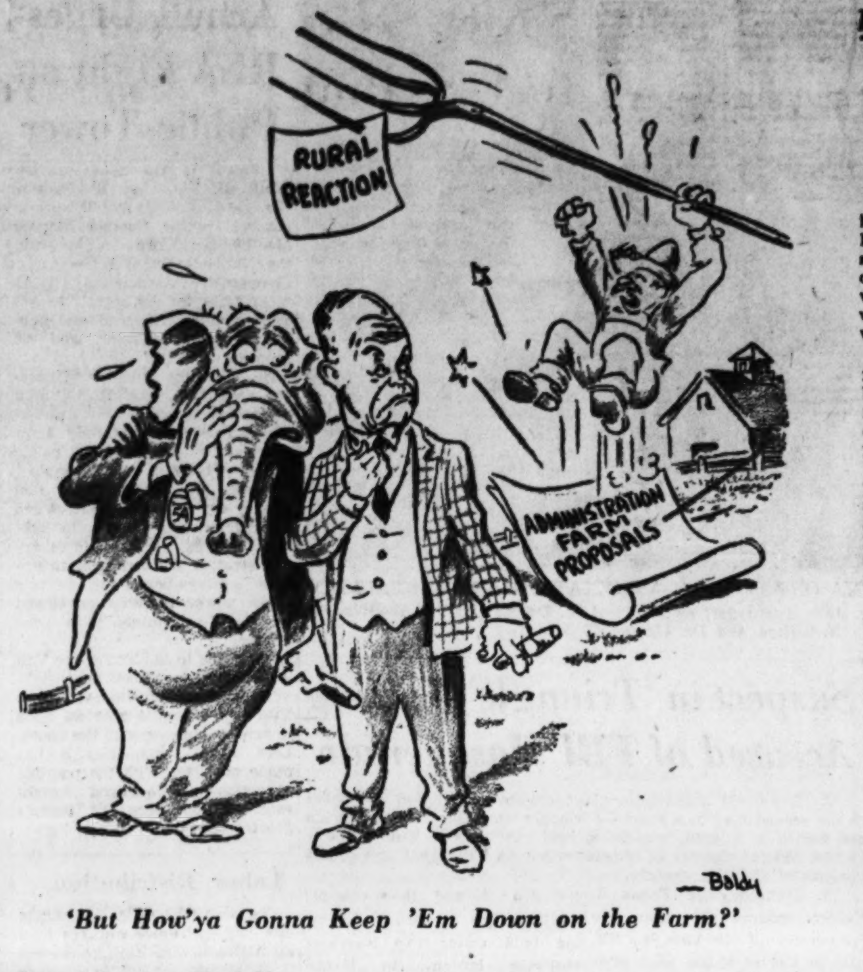
Palsy-Walsy Shovel May Educate Youth

Merchandising's oldest adage is, of course, "Why plug only one when you might could sell two?" From such sound logic, we suppose, came the matching mother-and-daughter dress and the father-and-son topcoat.

And we have no doubt it was some canny piecework carpenter who first sold the idea every dog lover should have at least two holes in his door—a big hole for big dogs and a little hole for little dogs.

So probably amazement should be minor at the aluminum industry's new catch-play: A palsy-walsy snow shovel set containing a big snow shovel for Papa and a little snow shovel for Junior, that they may undertake one of life's more dreary responsibilities in mutual camaraderie and one-way education.

The educational opportunity seems particularly priceless—and we hate ourselves for even thinking of it. If the little shovel can be thrust upon the little one, why need the old dog go out at all?



'But How'ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm?'

There Should Be Law Forcing Dog Owners To Train Their Pets to Keep the Peace

Hapeville — In one of Ollie Reeves' rhyming masterpieces recently, he decried the use of poison—as the great majority of us do—in trying to silence the sleep-destroying barking of untrained dogs, but hinted that many people wouldn't be too much concerned if such a fate overtook the owners of these disturbers of the peace.

People who work for a living can't do their work properly when kept awake by barking dogs, and doubtless thousands of sick persons are hurried to their graves because of such undisciplined canines. Sleep is the greatest medicine known to man for making people well and keeping them so.

While there is no rhyme to the following suggestion, there is good, sound reason, so let's have a law with real teeth that will require the applicant for a dog license to swear that he or she will train his or her dog to keep the peace. This law would also require police officers to enforce it.

Allen's Friendship Has Helped Talmadge

Decatur — I believe that the friendship of the Rev. Charles Allen with Gov. Herman Talmadge and both his prayers and those of many devout citizens of Georgia have had a great deal to do with the success of the Talmadge administration.

Transit Driver Asks Traffic Safety Steps

Atlanta—As an operator employed by the Atlanta Transit Company I cover the city day after day and I believe that the following recommendations would help improve traffic conditions:

1. Stop traffic from going around and around Rich's. No turns except for commercial vehicles.
2. Put traffic light at West Peachtree and Third Streets on a treadle or push button system.
3. Make the traffic light at West Peachtree and Fifth Street hold longer on West Peachtree.
4. The light at West Fulton High School should not be in operation after school hours.
5. Eliminate about half of the bus stops downtown, particularly at Forsyth and Marietta Streets, and at Broad and Marietta Streets.
6. Stop all parking on Peachtree Street from Fifth to Eighth Streets between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Constitution Lives Up To Masthead Standard

Atlanta—Judging by magazine and paper reprints and local public opinion, the Constitution has fully lived up to its masthead slogan, The South's Standard Newspaper.

For his uncanny ability to parallel history with timely topics Ralph McGill has justly inherited the prize toga of the late Arthur Brisbane. Celestine Sibley's features merit syndication. Baldy's cartoons are really gems of art. He ranks with the best.

Furman Bisher's sports pages are well-rounded and always up-to-the-minute. Leo Aikman's state press quotes and comments hit the bull's-eye for those who keep abreast of Georgia happenings.

'Drooling' Trucks Are Definitely a Hazard

Marietta — I recently was driving along the highway when an oncoming truck heavily but carelessly loaded with scrap iron, parts of junk automobiles, etc. began losing part of its cargo.

Many times I have steered quickly to avoid pieces of timber with large nails in them, cement blocks, etc. which have fallen from trucks. I'm sure the drivers don't mean to drool these objects along the highway, but it seems more care should be given to loading. Traveling the highways is hazardous enough at best.

Has GOP Accepted Most Social Gains?

WASHINGTON—Before the last presidential campaign it was observed in this space that if a Republican were elected President he would become, at the very moment he stepped into the White House, the most advanced—or radical, if you prefer that word in this context—Republican President who ever occupied the White House.

That, it was explained, was because of what he would inherit as President, the legacy of change and reform in the previous 20 years that had become accepted by the American people.

That would be true, it was said, whether the Republican President should be the late Sen. Taft of Ohio, as it might well have been then, or Gen. Eisenhower, as it turned out to be. Reflecting this recognized heritage, Gen. Eisenhower promised during his campaign to preserve the "social gains" of the previous 20 years.

Old age pensions? Unemployment insurance? A uniform minimum wage? A law to guarantee collective bargaining and protect labor unions? A law to guarantee fair prices and income to farmers? A law to provide decent, low-cost housing to replace slums?

Now a Republican President not only accepts all those things listed, but casually recommends the extension of most of them to more of our citizens.

In his detailed message on labor law modification, we see nothing unusual in a Republican President's statement that the National Labor Relations Act—known as the Wagner Act and adopted in 1935 by bipartisan majorities—came into being because American workingmen and women needed the protection of law in order to guarantee them the free exercise of their right to organize into unions and to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing.

Also we now accept as routine such a statement as "government price supports must, therefore, be provided in order to bring needed stability to farm income and farm production," which was said by President Eisenhower in his special message to Congress on agriculture. Such would have been unthinkable from the last Republican President, Mr. Hoover, who stoutly resisted any semblance of a planned economy for the farmer.

Though President Eisenhower and his administration accept virtually all of the reforms of the past 20 years, this does not mean that they are not seeking to tone down some of them, as well as to restrict the scope of others, of which a notable example is public power policy previously discussed here. This, however, is not done directly, through legislative changes, but by administrative actions within the discretion of existing law.

Sunshine Fell On Alabama

With the governor of Georgia flying is routine. Or maybe it's because the governor is essentially an agriculturist.

Ensconced in an easy chair, Herman Talmadge read from "Successful Farming," paying no mind to attendant circumstances. The chair was on the National Guard C-47 at Dobbins Air Force Base. The circumstances were a take-off for Auburn, Ala., where an hour before the field had been closed in. Now the Air Force had given clearance. But at Dobbins, it was snowing as if by forced draft off Kennesaw Mountain.

For the governor, the flight was relaxation. Already, he had done a day's work. "They asked me why I signed the traffic code at 5 a.m.," he said. "I told them I signed it then because I got up at 4 this morning and had breakfast at 4:30."

The governor was going to Auburn to speak at a Kiwanis-sponsored luncheon, and to visit the Alabama Experiment Station.

For Lou Wells and Julian Gross of the Gross Realty Co., the trip was a homecoming. Lou graduated from Auburn in 1918 and went back there as Lee County agent in 1922. His brother-in-law, G. H. (Monk) Wright, is the Auburn mayor, Julian Gross was born at Waverley, near the Lee County seat.

Dave Rice, restaurateur and regent, was going as one interested in schools of agriculture. Lt. Lowell Connor of the State Patrol was aboard in line of duty, as the governor's driver. Col. Joel Paris of Stockbridge and Atlanta; Maj. Rollins Snelling of Albany and Marietta; and Sgt. Jim Lynch of Marietta, were there to drive the plane. I was along for the ride. Col. Paris shoved the nose of the C-47 into the clear at 5,500 feet. We saw no more of Georgia. When we broke through, all below was Alabama.

P. O. Davis, Alabama Extension Director, Dean E. V. Davis of the College of Agriculture and others carried us to the hotel. The Kiwanians were past the sunshine report and the meal. The honoree was late, but they gave him ample time to eat and to talk.

Our governor made a fine regional speech. He predicted a great future for both Georgia and Alabama if the federal government will just quit spoon feeding the East. He compared the problems of the two states, he compared the resources. He said Alabama might have ore and oil, but Georgia had poultry and pine trees.

His hosts didn't let him forget that Monday, Jan. 11, when Georgia had snow, Alabama had sunshine. Coming home, we had sunshine all the way.

Nobody Will Listen To the Old Soldier

WASHINGTON—Every time I see the Colonel in civilian clothes I feel a faint shock of surprise. I remember him in battle dress, haggard, bearded, stained with mud, with grenades hung at his belt and a carbine slung over his shoulder. His eyes were blue and cold and ceaselessly moving, watching every rock and bush and fold of ground to the front, and he was the perfect picture of the fighting commander, brave and battle wise, and calm.

I remember him in dress uniform, his hard jaw barbered, his brass ashine and his leather gleaming. Ribbons covered his whole left chest, not the cheap stuff they give you for just being there — the "theatre" ribbons — but the ones that only brave men get, the DSC and the Silver Star and the Bronze Star with the V on it, for valor. He had them all with Clusters on them, to show he had earned them more than once.

A man does not often win these ribbons and come through unscathed. He wore the Purple Heart as well, for in two wars he has fought against three races of fighting men — Japanese, Chinese, and North Koreans — and each has shot him, or punctured him with shrapnel, or slashed him with bayonets until he is herringboned with scars.

He is by trade a fighting soldier and in a world at peace. He is restless and unhappy. He tries to do his desk job and it bores him. When he plays golf, he finds himself staring down the rolling fairways, not planning his drive and pitch and putt, but figuring where he'd put his machine guns if he had to defend that ground.

He dresses up in civilian clothes, a slim, mild, neat, harmless looking little man, and he takes a pretty girl out for dinner and for dancing. But in the candle light, over the wine, he finds himself thinking how helpless she'd be, how cold and frightened and alone, plodding along in a refugee line, fleeing from an invading enemy. And he looks about him at all the happy laughing people, and thinks of how helpless they'd be, if a shower of bombs should fall, and paratroopers should drop on the rubbled cities.

And he gets off on his favorite theme—of how every able bodied man in the country, every family man particularly, should have the escape route planned for his family —have a place in the hills picked out where they could hide—while he, the father and protector, went out to fight as a guerilla.

And he sees her eyes glaze with boredom, as he talks this way, and she pats back a yawn, probably. And he takes her home, and goes home himself to read and brood, an old fighting man, nursing his wounds, who believes in his heart that the dream of peace is a myth, and that war is sure to come. And that when it does come, the people of this country will be streaming helplessly along the roads in flight, terrified, discouraged, confused, as he has so often seen them, in other wars in other lands.

But nobody likes to listen when he talks this way, not even the high brass, whose trade is war. And that frustrates and angers him, and makes him very sad.

Fear Makes People Do Foolish Things

Most people are the victims of fear most all of their lives. In childhood there is the fear of going to bed; later it is the fear of school; still later we awake in the morning with a fear because of the amount of work we need to do that day. In some form or another fear dogs the steps of every one of us.

In his book, The Conquest of Fear, Dr. Basil King writes: "I am ready to guess that all the miseries wrought by sin and sickness combined would not equal those we bring on ourselves through fear. We are not sick all the time. We are not sinning all the time. But most of us are afraid—afraid of something or somebody all of the time."

I have had many opportunities to study the actions of people who were extremely afraid and most of the time when one is gripped by fear, instead of following a course which will relieve his fears, he does just the opposite and does the things which makes his fears worse. Robert Frost, in one of his poems, "The Hundred Collars," has the line, "There's nothing I'm afraid of like scared people." That is a good line because scared people do foolish things.

Sometimes fear disguises itself as courage. I saw a newspaper story about a serious automobile wreck in which two youths were killed. The driver of one of the cars saw another group of young people pulling up behind him in another car. Immediately he stepped on the gas and drove at a dangerous speed because he was afraid of the ridicule of his companions if he allowed the car behind to pass. The boy was really a coward but he tried to cover it up with a foolish display of courage.

Sometimes fear is expressed by snobbishness or an effort to show superiority. I have studied a goodly number of people who gave the impression of extreme conceit and in nearly every case the person is trying to cover a feeling of inferiority. The person who goes about snubbing other people is not sure of his own standing. Sometime ago The New Yorker had a cartoon of two neighbors talking over the garden wall. One is saying, "You mean all these past twenty years when we have been trying to keep up with you, you have been trying to get ahead of us?" Another of the most common expressions of fear is the "chip-on-the-shoulder" attitude.

One night about fifteen years ago an estimated six million people were listening to a radio broadcast that purported to describe an invasion from Mars. Long before the broadcast was over people were crying, telephoning farewells, calling for ambulances, and a terrific panic developed in which many people were seriously hurt. There was no invasion from Mars but the fear instilled by someone talking about it produced great harm.

It is usually the case that the fear is much worse than what we are afraid of. Tomorrow I would like to discuss a right course of action when fear grips our lives.

Soviet Grab Certain To Meet A-Weapon

WASHINGTON—What John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, told the Council on Foreign Relations in New York, and simultaneously the nation by radio and television network, is more revealing as a statement of American foreign policy than anything said since the Eisenhower administration began.

For it tells why the military budget is being cut and how the United States is embarking on a long-range program in the world that is not geared merely to emergencies but to a definite plan of defense for all purposes.

Many people must have wondered how troops could be withdrawn from Korea now, why plans were being made for less American manpower in Europe and for substantial cuts in conventional military services. The answer is given by Mr. Dulles:

"Before military planning could be changed, the President and his advisers, as represented by the National Security Council, had to take some basic policy decisions. This has been done. The basic decision was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing. Now the Department of Defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff can shape our military establishment to fit what is our policy, instead of having to try to be ready to meet the enemy's many choices. That permits a selection of military means instead of a multiplication of means."

The secretary of state isn't to be expected to disclose military measures, but the plain meaning of his remarks is that the United States is relying on the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb and every atomic weapon in its arsenal to repel any military aggression that might come from the Communists in the future.

So, for all practical purposes, the Untied States has decided on a retaliatory defense—a defense that doesn't require massive land armies to win an objective but enough striking power from the overseas bases by our Air Force as well as from aircraft carriers of the Navy to make sure that the enemy will not launch an attack in the first place.

Reliance is placed by Mr. Dulles on the "strategic reserve" idea, which means a mobile force. He says it was never "sound military strategy permanently to commit U.S. land forces to Asia to a degree that leaves us no strategic reserves."

Statments such as these could not possibly be made today by a spokesman for the United States government if it were not for a basic decision to use maximum military power.

LAKE MICHIGAN WINTER—MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 12—A crewman on a tanker carrying a half million gallons of gasoline from Blue Island, Ill., to Milwaukee by way of Lake Michigan hacks away at the ice-caked bow of the vessel, which arrived two hours late after fighting rough water and subzero temperatures.

Ike Would Rein Rhee, George Says

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today President Eisenhower approves proposed Senate action to make it clear the United States is not committed to support the Syngman Rhee government if it starts a new conflict in Korea.

George, a foreign affairs spokesman for the Democrats, added in an interview he will ask the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—after it has heard Secretary of State Dulles testify on a mutual defense treaty tomorrow—to consider an interpretation spelling out American policy on this score.

This would put the Senate on record as saying that the United States reserves to itself any decision on whether to join forces with the South Koreans if they take the initiative in a new shooting match with the Communists.

A RESTRAINER

This would be regarded, in congressional circles at least, as a restrainer and a warning to the Rhee government not to count on American aid unless the Reds launch an attack.

The defense treaty involves an agreement by both nations to "act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes" if there is an armed attack in the Pacific area.

However, Dulles has said that each nation reserves to itself the decision on what action to take, adding that an armed attack on either party does not automatically obligate the other to come to its assistance.

At intervals since the Korean truce was signed, officials of Rhee's government have threatened repeatedly to go to war again in an attempt to drive out the Chinese Communists and unify Korea.

WAIT UNTIL JAN. 25

Rhee himself has indicated he would wait until Jan. 25 — the end of a 90-day period after the still-to-materialize Korean peace conference was to have started—before taking any action.

No responsible American official expects Rhee to resume the war, but George said he thinks the Senate should spell out its attitude in plain terms.

"As I understand the President, he would have no objection to this action," George said. "Secretary Dulles has said he would support it."

George added that he was seeking only an interpretation which would leave the treaty signed with Rhee intact in its terms and would not require any renegotiation. Such interpretations sometimes are made by the Foreign Relations Committee in its official reports on treaties.

Rhee has left his army under United Nations Command with the understanding it will remain there until the mutual defense treaty becomes operative. After that, however, he might move to pull his troops out of that command and thus have full control of them.

Lost Memory in Texas, 'Wakes Up' 8 Years Later in Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 12 (INS)—A 53-year-old Texan, apparently the victim of amnesia, "came to" in Salt Lake City today with an eight-year blank in his memory.

A man who identified himself as Richard J. Arnold of Bowie, Texas, walked into police headquarters and asked for help. He said the last thing he remembered clearly was walking down the main street of Bowie the afternoon of May 27, 1946.

Arnold told police he was standing in front of a furniture store when it occurred to him that there was no such store in Bowie. He asked a startled pedestrian what city he was in and what day it was.

Stunned to learn he was in Salt Lake City and that it was 1954, Arnold went to police for help. Officers contacted the Bowie city marshal, who in turn located Mrs. Florence Arnold at work in nearby Fort Worth.

"Thank God—I've been frantic," the marshal quoted Mrs. Arnold as saying. "Is he all right?"

Dean Vows Sympathy For 21 Pro-Red GIs

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, who emerged from Korean prison camps a humble hero, tonight said he has the "utmost sympathy" for the 21 GIs who decided to stick with the Communists, and urged more extensive teaching about America.

"I'm often asked, 'What about the 21 American soldiers who don't want to come back?' " Gen. Dean said.

"I have the utmost sympathy for them—I know the pressure they were under and the persuasion used."

The 54-year-old general touched briefly on his experiences at Red hands during his address to the Columbus Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting.

Speaking of the 21 Americans who embraced communism, the general said:

"You will find that not one of them had many advantages in this country.

"They came from the underprivileged class.

"We do many things in this country which we are not proud of. If only these are presented, the picture is not pretty."

Another old soldier, Lt. Gen. Manton S. Eddy (Ret.), was named president of the chamber at the meeting.

Discussing the Korean problem, the general said it is not a new one. He explained that it has faced the United States since 1945, and that establishment of the 38th Parallel division divided the nation — brother against brother.

He also pointed out that the United States signed a treaty many years ago agreeing to protect Korea, but when the Japanese entered in 1904 "we did not raise a hand," and the United States later sanctioned Japan's annexation of the country.

"The Koreans did not forget this," Dean said. "When the U.S. entered the country in 1945 they asked if the Americans mean what they say."

Farmer, 29 Animals Die of Fumes in Barn

BOONVILLE, N.Y., Jan. 12. (UP)—A farmer, a dog, four cats and 24 cows and calves were found dead today in a barn near here.

State police said the victim, Leslie De Voe, 50, and the animals apparently died from carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust of a farm tractor. The tractor was found attached to a milking machine in the barn, police said.

Stanley De Voe, brother of the dead man, came upon the death scene when he visited the farm this afternoon. Police said De Voe, who lived alone on the farm, had been dead since late Monday.

Dr. Marshall Charged With Sending Obscene Letters to Teen-Aged Girls

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12 (INS)—Dr. Roy K. Marshall, nationally known scientist and former radio-television commentator, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of sending obscene letters to teen-aged girls.

Federal agents said Marshall was indicted last Nov. 18, for allegedly writing the letters to five girls who had written to him for scientific information.

U. S. Attorney W. Wilson White disclosed that the indictment had been impounded immediately at his request pending a psychiatric report on the scientist, a former director of Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia.

The indictment came to light today during a proceeding before U.S. District Judge J. Cullen Baney, during which the court requested White to "hurry along" reports of the psychiatric examination.

Marshall, an astrophysicist, received his doctorate at the University of Michigan in 1932 and was identified initially with the Adler Planetarium and the Yerkes Observatory in Chicago.

Then he was connected with the Harvard Observatory and with Wilson College before coming to the planetarium at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia in 1939.

Soviet Seeks Reputed 5.5 Million In U.S. Butter, Cottonseed Oil

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—The Commerce department said tonight it had received two applications for licenses to export very large quantities of United States surplus butter and cottonseed oil to the USSR and to a satellite country.

This was the first time the Soviet Union has attempted to buy consumer goods in the United States on a large scale. The Soviet Union has, however, been buying butter and other fats, fish, meat and a variety of other consumer goods in Europe, Australia and New Zealand since last summer.

The quantities the Soviet Union is now seeking in the United States were reliably reported to be around 150,000,000 pounds of butter and 150,000,000 pounds of cottonseed oil. Estimates of the total amount of money involved ranged from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.

This would be the largest sale of U.S. surplus agricultural commodities yet made. The cost to the United States of cottonseed oil is about 15 cents a pound, and butter about 67 cents a pound. But large scale exports are frequently made at lower prices.

Commerce Department officials explained the export license applications would be considered by the advisory committee to export policy which is composed of the deputies of a number of cabinet members under the chairmanship of Samuel W. Anderson, assistant secretary for international affairs.

Final decision on the applications is likely to be left to the cabinet, and possibly to President Eisenhower himself, officials believed.

John H. Davis, assistant secretary of agriculture in charge of foreign operations, explained that the decision as to whether or not the exports could be made might depend to a large extent on price. Pointing out that these were goods for which the United States government paid a subsidy, he said, the question was whether the purchasers could meet that price or whether the government would now be willing to sell the goods at a loss.

Most of the butter and cottonseed oil would be exported to the U.S.S.R., it was learned, leaving only relatively small quantities for an undesignated satellite country.

The license applicant was described as representing an American export firm. But according to one source the American applicant was acting as agent for a firm in a European country which intends to re-export the fats to the Iron Curtain countries.

If approved the exports would greatly reduce United States surpluses which now stand at 250,000,000 pounds of butter and 825,000,000 pounds of cottonseed oil, according to the Department of Agriculture.

State Department officials pointed out that there is no legislation prohibiting the export of non-strategic items such as butter and cottonseed oil to the Soviet bloc, except in the case of China. In the case of China the United States maintains a complete embargo on trade.

The large quantities involved, however, make it necessary to study the application from the points of view of economic defense policy and of general defense policy, the officials explained.

PLAYS LEAD IN KRAFT TV DRAMA TONIGHT
Hollywood Actress Louise Allbritton Makes Debut On Video

Louise Allbritton To Star In Kraft's 'Atherton Boy'

Louise Allbritton and Grant Sullivan head the cast of the Kraft Television Theater production of "The Atherton Boy," at 9 p.m. over NBC-TV and WSB-TV.

Marjorie Gateson, Viola Roache, Lydia Reed, and Katherine Emmett are also featured in the cast of this melodrama by Reginald Lawrence. The play is an original television play which centers on the efforts of a young man to "get even" with a society to which he aspires but cannot attain.

Miss Allbritton is well known to moviegoers who have seen her in many pictures including "The Egg and I," "Sitting Pretty," and "Walk a Crooked Mile." In making her Kraft debut the lovely blonde actress portrays a young matron who sees through the "Atherton Boy."

Sullivan makes his Kraft debut in the title role. An extensive career in stock which followed his graduation from the drama department of Carnegie Tech has prepared Sullivan for his growing television career. In stock he has appeared in many of America's greatest plays including "Desire Under the Elms," "Death of a Salesman," and "Strange Bedfellows." He toured recently with Edward Arnold in "Apple of His Eye."

Miss Gateson was an established Broadway personality when she signed a movie contract in 1933. Her stage credits include memorable performances in "Street Scene," and the "Love Letter." She has appeared in more than 60 films.

New Mystery Series Starts

Staats Cotsworth, as the fearless newspaper cameraman of the Morning Express, opens the new series of CBS Radio's "Crime Photographer" mystery dramas tonight at 9 on WAGA-Radio with an assignment to track down a daring feminine hitchhiker who terrorizes highway motor travelers. Jan Miner is featured as girl reporter Ann Williams, and John Gibson is heard as bartender Ethelbert.

Joan Davis' Barbecue Pit a Flop

Outdoor barbecues can be fun, unless you're trying to compete with the neighbors, comedy star Joan Davis discovers in the telecast titled "Barbecue" on the I Married Joan program at 8 p.m. over NBC-TV and WSB-TV.

When Joan's husband, Brad Stevens (played by Jim Backus), raves about the barbecued spareribs served up by Helen Cavanaugh, Joan is determined to duplicate the feat.

They try to have a barbecue pit of their own built, but since there's a labor shortage, they have to construct it themselves.

Something goes wrong between the reading of the instruction sheet and the actual bricklaying, and the result is a sad contraption that just doesn't work.

KATE'S GUEST — Soprano Helen George will be featured in excerpts from "Die Fledermaus" during the Kate Smith show today on WSB-TV. Ralph Herbert and Colee Worth will be featured with her.

Ike's School Conference Plan Backed in NEA

SAVANNAH, Jan. 12 (AP)—Top officials of the National Education Assn. announced today they are in full accord with President Eisenhower's recent proposal that state and national conferences be held on the problems of public schools.

In a joint statement, NEA President William A. Early, Savannah, and NEA Executive Secretary William G. Carr, Washington, said they would "recommend that our 48 affiliated state education associations cooperate heartily."

The President proposed the conferences in his State of the Union message.

The NEA officials proposed that the conferences include state and national officials, teachers, and representatives of all major segments of the general public.

The statement also pointed out that "by existing resolutions the NEA also strongly supports the President in his call for continued firm support of the United Nations, for statehood for Hawaii, and for lowering the voting age to 18."

Only about 5 per cent of the 40,000 inhabitants of British Guiana are Europeans.

Gregory, Laughton Hailed in 'Mutiny'

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 — "Don Juan in Hell" and "John Brown's Body" have been triumphs for Paul Gregory and Charles Laughton. Their "Caine Mutiny Court - Martial," which this reporter saw in Washington, will be their greatest popular success. Directed by Dick Powell and starring Henry Fonda, John Hodiak and Lloyd Nolan, this adaptation of his book by Herman Wouk is magnificent theater.

Far from being an attack on the Navy chain of command, it is a poignant and moving explanation of the actions of a regular Navy officer, subjected to years of nervous stress. Unknown Eddie Firestone, cast as Signalman 3d Class Junius Urban, proves hilarious in one of the trial scenes; veteran Russell Hicks is superb as President of the Court, and other key parts are distinguished by the craftsmanship of Paul Birch, Stephen Chase, Herbert Anderson and Ainslie Pryor.

The Burt Lancasters expect Sir Stork in June. . . . Ava Gardner going into "Love Me or Leave Me," film biog of Ruth Etting. . . . Jack Dempsey's doctor ordered him to take off 50 pounds.

Bob Hope flying to Korea after his Jan. 26 show. . . . Comic Mickey Shaughnessy to marry Lorraine Carrigan. . . . Testimonial dinner Jan. 18 to Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, former Commissioner of Hospitals, at the Astor. . . . Ginny Simms and Bob Calhoun giving it another try. . . . Ilsa Bey planning to file for American citizenship. . . . Max Blouet, of Hotel George V in Paris, here.

Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Mrs. Brooks Howe and Jimmy Donahue an El Morocco foursome. . . . Robert Merrill hurried back from a Florida vacation with Danny Kaye to rehearse "A Masked Ball" with Toscanini, scheduled for the 17th.

Clifton Webb postponed his N.Y. trip because of Dorothy di Frasso's passing. . . . Joe Kirkwood Jr. underwent knee surgery. . . . Marcia Nance, whose dad is the Packard Biggie, will marry William Atcheson

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights
When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.
Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Traffic Court for Atlanta Is Vetoed by Talmadge

Ruled Unconstitutional by Cook; Won't Give Up, Hartsfield Pledges

had ruled the Atlanta bill unconstitutional.

Mayor Hartsfield and City Atty. Jack Savage said, however, that the Griffin court was entirely different from the proposed Atlanta traffic court and was set up under a different constitutional provision.

"We disagree with the conclusions reached by the attorney general," Savage said. "We carefully analyzed the Griffin case in preparing the bill and we do not believe the decision in the Griffin case is controlling, since the facts are vastly different.

HYBRID COURT

"That (the Griffin court) was in truth and in fact a hybrid court. Ours would not have been. It was on the same basis that the Supreme Court ruled and we carefully avoided the creation of a hybrid court.

"We had hoped that we would be permitted to obtain a decision from the Supreme Court of Georgia, which is the only arbiter and the final arbiter on the constitutionality of acts of the General Assembly.

"A constitutional amendment of 1911 broadened the powers of the General Assembly to give it unlimited authority to establish such courts as it might desire, provided such courts did not usurp the powers of other constitutional courts," Savage continued.

"We are disappointed in the ruling of the attorney general and the action of the governor," Savage concluded.

Rep. Hoke Smith of Fulton, one of the sponsors of the bill, was less critical of the veto, however.

VETO DUTY

"If the governor is convinced the bill is unconstitutional, it is his duty to veto it," Smith said. "I'd be the last person in the state to criticize the governor. I have worked with him for four years and as far as I am concerned, he calls 'em just like he sees 'em."

"We've still got the problem and it's up to us to figure out what the answer is," Smith added. "I think it is a problem for everyone and it's up to everybody to pitch in and find a way to stop killing so many people."

Rep. Hamilton Lokey, a cosigner of the bill, had this to say about the veto:

"I am sincerely sorry to hear that the traffic court bill was vetoed. I had hoped the question of the bill's constitutionality would be left to the courts, but I do not think there should be any criticism of the veto.

"The governor said he would sign the bill if he believed it to be constitutional, but would veto it if he believed it was not. The question of constitutionality was certainly not an easy one. Good lawyers held contrary views on it. The governor referred that legal question to the attorney general and rightly so.

"I have not seen his opinion but I presume he concluded the bill was unconstitutional. Under such circumstances no one can blame the governor for his veto nor should anyone criticize the attorney general. I know both men are sincere and conscientious and called the shot as they saw it.

BILL CLOSED

"So far as I am concerned the issue as to that particular bill is closed but the problem of traffic law enforcement in Atlanta still remains. It is a hard one to solve, complicated by numerous jurisdictional factors but the problem can and must be solved.

"It cannot be solved by recriminations. It can be solved by all hands working on the problem and producing a bill for the next Legislature which will stand the test of constitutionality and still provide the public with fair and prompt handling of traffic offenses and all in one forum."

COURT FIGHT

The traffic court dispute between Atlanta and Fulton County over jurisdiction in state traffic violations is one of long standing. It was resolved in favor of the Fulton Criminal Court in a decision by the Supreme Court several months ago.

Since that time persons charged by city police with drunk driving and other violations of state traffic laws have had to be tried in Fulton Criminal Court instead of the Municipal Court.

The legislative action to create a Traffic Court of Atlanta apparently had won the battle for the city until the governor vetoed the bill.

3 Heroes of Korea Presented Medal of Honor by President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower presented the Medal of Honor today to a Navy hospital corpsman and two soldiers for gallantry in Korea.

The award ceremony took place in the President's office at the White House before a large group of high military officials, members of Congress, and relatives and friends of the heroes.

Clasping the gold medal and blue ribbon around the neck of Pfc Ernest E. West of Wurtland, Ky., Army infantryman, the President expressed "an old soldier's admiration" for the young hero and added: "This is the highest we have."

"A salute to you," he commented as he awarded the medal to Army 1st Lt. Edward R. Schowalter Jr., of Metairie, La.

Then, as Navy Hospital Corpsman William R. Charette of Ludington, Mich., stood nervously as the blue ribbon was tied on him, the President smiled and said, "Somebody told me you were far more scared today than you were in Korea."

Charette shook his head and told the President he wasn't scared. After the ceremony, however, Charette said he was scared "a bit."

Secretary of Defense Wilson, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and high civilian and military officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines watched the colorful ceremony.

Ike's Farm Plan Stirs GOP Revolt; Sen. Ives Turns Fire on T-H Change

ently caught the administration's leaders by surprise.

The Senate Republican conference, the party organization of all Republican senators, met at 10 a.m. in what by ordinary practice would have been merely a session on internal housekeeping matters, such as the formal assignment of men to committees.

The chairman of the conference, Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, invited general comments and half a dozen farm state Republicans arose to discuss with some heat what Millikin later called "the farm situation."

Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota, a member of the party hierarchy as secretary of the conference, put the position plainly for the dissidents.

HIS WARNING

"I just told my Republican colleagues about the practical thing they are up against," Young reported. "I said to them: 'If someone gets up and proposes a continued 90 per cent parity payment, who is going to vote against it?' "

The basic issue involved is this: the President wants Congress to authorize the administration to adopt a flexible system of subsidy payments, running from 75 per cent of parity to 90 per cent. The bipartisan opposition to this—many of the Senate Democrats already have taken the field against the President on this issue—wants an unqualified continuation of 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a formula intended to guarantee to farmers a price pegged high enough to permit them to operate at a "fair" profit.

Other Midwestern Republicans joined Young, and persons in attendance said only two Republicans offered any general defense of the President's plan.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, which has the task of re-electing a Republican Senate, gave to the conference an optimistic view of Republican chances this fall. Dirksen is backing the administration's farm approach.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin directly—and others indirectly—disputed this forecast. McCarthy was understood to have told the conference that the administration might well consider not merely a maintenance of 90 per cent of parity but perhaps a maximum figure going up to 110 per cent.

He was said also to have added: "Regardless of how sound the administration program may be it has been so badly misrepresented that you could not reeducate the people between now and the election."

Another senator was reported to have observed: "We can follow Benson (secretary of agriculture) and say goodby to five or six Republican senators."

There was much subsequent talk of a compromise that would rewrite the President's program to maintain high parity.

FARM LEADER

The administration's leader on farm problems, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, made it plain, however, that he proposed to stand to the end with the President's plan.

Aiken contended that in the argument over parity figures there was "much politics." He asserted that the second and momentarily little discussed half of the President's plan, to take vast surpluses off the market, would improve the farmer's net position.

"The farmer will understand this," Aiken added, "before we get through."

Capehart in Hospital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (INS). Officials at the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital said today that Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) has been admitted for a physical checkup.

U.S. To Choose Weapons If Reds Attack, Dulles Says

Korea, and the building up of American and Western European armed strength.

But these were "emergency actions, imposed on us by our enemies," and costly, Dulles said. He pictured new planning by Eisenhower and his National Security Council, realizing that "there is no local defense which alone will contain the mighty land power of the Communist world."

"RESPOND VIGOROUSLY"

"A potential aggressor," Dulles said, "must know that he cannot always prescribe battle conditions that suit him. . . . The way to deter aggression is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing."

Dulles' report tied in with Eisenhower's notice in his State of the Union message last Thursday that atomic weapons might be used "against an aggressor if they are needed to preserve our freedom."

There had been earlier administration warnings that Communist aggression in Korea or open Chinese Communist aggression in Indochina might evoke military reactions beyond those areas.

Out of the new planning, Dulles said, the Defense Department and Joint Chiefs of Staff will be able to make "a selection of military means instead of a multiplication of means." This will make it possible, he said, "to get, and share, more basic security at less cost."

With the Korean War ended, and armed forces no longer largely committed to the Asian mainland, he said a "strategic reserve" can be set up.

The revised "long haul" buildup adopted for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will avoid exhausting members' economic strength, he went on.

Dulles vowed confidence that "peace will soon have the indispensable foundation of the European Defense Community," bringing in West Germany, and expressed hope for "a political community thereafter."

The new concepts of collective security, Dulles said, will enable limiting foreign aid to "situations where it clearly contributes to military strength," such as Indochina. With exceptions for continuing technical assistance and specific disaster relief, he forecast that economic aid would be trimmed in favor of seeking more trade and investments.

CURE YOUR OWN NERVES

Fear Insanity Near? That's Sign It's Not

erage or up to his usual ability.

Feelings of unreality needlessly frighten many people. Indeed, few sensations alarm as much as do these emotional reactions where persons, events, and the environment generally appear unreal.

"I see you clearly," a patient once said to me, "but you do not appear to me as real flesh and blood. If I touched you, I would know it, but there would be something ghostlike both about you and about me. It's silly, but I can't feel otherwise."

FIND OUT

This woman was not mentally abnormal. All she needed was to figure out for herself what it was from which she was trying to escape. It turned out to be a severe disappointment in a love affair. She was trying to persuade herself that if she could not possess the loved one she would no longer be interested in anything in the world whatsoever.

Find the actual reason for trying to withdraw from reality and the "vagueness" will vanish. It is not always easy, but you can do it. Never persuade yourself that you are not normal.

The fear of insanity, whenever anything unusual happens to one's thinking, feeling or action is common to both sexes of all ages.

"I know something's the matter with me," says the nervous person, in despair. "I am overly self-conscious; I am full of fear; I exaggerate trifling occurrences; I am filled with doubt and uncertainty. Why, oh why, can't I be like other people?"

But the insane person says: "Nothing is the matter with me, absolutely nothing! It's my enemies who are hounding me. They are responsible for my always losing my job. If they'd lay off using their electronics on me I'd be all right."

What the insane person says is absurd but his ego is of such magnitude that he believes his absurdities are facts.

HUMBLE

You, however, only fearing insanity, are not in the least egotistic. You are definitely humble and frightened, not at all sure of yourself. You are saying, in effect: "Since I believe I am insane, I am excused for all my mistakes; I will be put away and soon will be forgotten." Such thinking is, you can readily understand, escapist in character.

The fear of insanity will disappear once you have made it clear to yourself what it is you are running away from and what insanity really is. If you were insane or were heading in that direction, you most certainly would not fear it.

Depression is also an alarming bugaboo among normal people. For a few days at a stretch they are happy, active and optimistic; then they are depressed mentally and sluggish physically, with an outlook on life that is hopeless and despairing.

Such depression is another normal deviation within the normal. Few escape it. It is not a sign of insanity. It is probably nothing more than a severe attack of "the blues," often brought on by neglect of the physical body,

Bear this in mind: If you think you are not normal, you are exhibiting the very best proof that you are normal. Remember that your brain is an orderly collection of nerve cells, strong and resistive, and that it can and does take a tremendous amount of punishment before it gives way.

Finally, don't forget the wide variations that exist among normals. You, too, will feel that maybe you are normal after all!

Our 40th Year

The stunning new 1954 Buick Super Riviera, master buy in the middle-price class.

One look settles it -
Buy of the year is BUICK

We knew them for great automobiles the moment we saw them.

But it turns out we have a far bigger hit on our hands in the new 1954 Buicks than we ever figured.

Folks in a steady stream come into our showroom, look over these glamorous new beauties, and tell us—with signed orders—that Buick's the beautiful buy, hands down.

It's the biggest new-car excitement in a long, long time—and you ought to take a look at it, firsthand.

Because one look at the sensational new styling of these breath-taking Buicks shows them to be the freshest new automobiles in years.

One look into the modern interiors—and through that spectacular new back-swept windshield—firms the conviction.

One look at the new V8 power story, the new ride story, the new handling-ease story—practically wraps up the sale.

And then, one look at the prices—one eye-opening experience with the hottest values to be brought on the American automotive market in 1954—clinches Buick as the buy of the year.

Come in and see for yourself—the sooner, the smarter.

NO OTHER CAR GIVES YOU ALL THIS:

GREATEST STYLING ADVANCE IN YEARS with completely new bodies across the board; lowered rooflines, longer and higher fender sweep, exclusive sweep-spear design

NEWEST VISIBILITY ADVANCE with backswept windshields that give 19% more visibility; greater glass area around full 360° arc

BIGGEST VENTILATION ADVANCE in Buick interior comfort: new, screened intake just below windshield brings in huge quantities of outside air at hood-high level, freer of road heat and fumes

HIGHEST V8 HORSEPOWERS in Buick history — from advanced vertical-valve V8 engines with up to 8.5 to 1 compression and 200 hp — plus more fuel efficiency from new Power-Head Pistons

FINEST MILLION DOLLAR RIDE — from all-coil springing, torque-tube drive, longer wheelbases — and a new front-end geometry that stabilizes "cornering," insures more positive control, more responsive handling

—PLUS THE WIDEST SELECTION OF MODERN FEATURES—either as standard equipment or extra-cost options:

TWIN-TURBINE DYNAFLOW • SAFETY POWER STEERING
AUTOMATIC-BOOSTER POWER BRAKES • POWER-POSITIONED 4-WAY FRONT SEAT
POWER-OPERATED RADIO ANTENNA • EASY-EYE GLASS
WIRE WHEELS • ELECTRIC WINDOW LIFTS • DRAFT-FREE AIRCONDITIONER

East Point Mayor Gives 14-Point Improving Plan

A traffic squad, better garbage collection and closer supervision of city supplies were top recommendations of East Point Mayor Al Roberts for improving city services.

The mayor listed 14 recommendations to council in his year-end survey of the city's financial and governmental status. He approved the $6,000 cash surplus in December but criticized the "laxity" of city employes in some departments.

He called for creating a three patrolman force on special traffic duty to handle parking meter collections, parking lot patroling and traffic directing.

The group would give reliable assistance, Roberts believes, in suggesting remedies to traffic problems now facing the city.

A "multitude" of complaints about garbage collections, Roberts said, indicates that collectors are being careless on their routes. He called for an immediate improvement.

In another recommendation concerning city employes, Roberts suggested that the city adopt a more "definite" ordinance covering sick leave.

"The one now in effect is vague and indefinite and is drawn in such a way that an employe can absent himself from the city for seven he said.

A copy of the soon-to-be-published city code should be given each council member as a means of improving "his advice to constitutents on their problems," he added.

The mayor also went on record as favoring the immediate paving of DeLowe drive from Headland drive to Neely avenue and requiring a formal petition of 51 per cent of the property owners on a street they wish paved.

Such a petition would eliminate "unjustifiably occupying council time with neighborhood squabbles when three or four persons want the street paved and the others do not," Roberts said.

Tax Kick Plan Set at Hapeville

All Hapeville taxpayers will be notified by mail this year when they may register complaints about the 1954 assessments in a new procedure worked out this week by the board of assessors.

Previously, only those taxpayers whose assessments were raised or lowered were notified by mail of the time "complaint day" would be held.

Newspaper advertising was used as public notice for residents whose taxes remained the same.

AGREE AT MEET

The new procedure, according to Mayor Gene Dixon, was approved unanimously by the board and agreed to by city council this week at a "get-together" of the two groups.

The meeting was held to familiarize councilmen with the work the assessment board conducts and to discuss how the assessors might improve their procedures, Dixon said.

Council agreed that the assessors should investigate thoroughly any improvements they notice which aren't listed in tax returns and pledged cooperation with the board in every way possible.

A split in council last week over an unsuccessful attempt to reappoint S. J. Whigham to the board for a three-year term was at least temporarily eradicated at the meeting, observers believed.

MOTION LOSES

A motion to reappoint Whigham, who was a member of the board for several years, lost, 3-2, with Alderman C. B. Bonds and Councilment Hoyt Smith and Tom Morris casting the "no" votes. Newly installed Councilman I. L. Ellis, who stated he had queried some 60 businessmen and residents over whether they were satisfied by last year's tax assessments, made the unsuccessful motion to re-elect Whigham.

Councliman Perry Jackson, chairman of the finance committee, voted with Ellis.

Whigham was replaced on the board by Thomas A. Lewis, while Richard Paula was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late H. W. White. He will serve one year.

The other member of the board is I. W. Taylor.

Disposal Plant Aid for Hapeville

Fulton County has offered to pay one-third of a $25,000 bill levied as Hapeville's part in expanding and remodeling the South River sewage disposal plant, Mayor Gene Dixon said this week.

Under the proposal, the county would pay the first of three yearly installments on the bill, which was presented to Hapeville City County last summer.

LEGAL ASPECT

No action has been taken on the bill, and council has questioned whether the city has any legal responsibility in the project.

The South River plant is owned by Atlanta, but Hapeville and East Point use the plant facilities on a contract basis.

Mayor Dixon said he had turned the new proposal over to Perry Jackson, chairman of the finance committee, for further study, but added:

"I feel sure we will eventually have to pay some portion of the bill. We're negotiating to reach a satisfactory conclusion on what would be a fair amount."

Dixon said the three-year payment plan was suggested at a recent meeting of county officials, which he attended. A. P. MacDonald, Fulton County public works director, who first notified Hapeville of its bill, and Harold Sheats, county attorney, offered the new proposal with the approval of the county commissioners.

SIMILAR OFFER

The offer to pay one-third of the bill is similar to one adopted in December by East Point City Council.

East Point was asked for $60,000 as its part in the South River project since it holds a proportionately larger service contract with Atlanta for use of the plant.

Fulton County will pay the first $20,000 of East Point's bill. The city will pay the remaining $40,000, plus interest in 1955 and 1956.

Cost of the entire project will total $321,389. Atlanta public works officials estimate.

Parents Plan Teen Home In Chamblee

Parents of Chamblee's teen-agers will meet tonight at the Chamblee City Hall to discuss plans with the DeKalb Lions Club to set up a clubhouse for Chamblee's Teen City.

The ground floor of the Masonic Hall has been selected as the new clubhouse and Chamblee City Council voted at its Friday meeting to provide $25 a month for rent of the clubhouse for the group.

MEETING HALL

The club has been hampered in not having a place to meet and hold dances. Meetings have been held in the City Hall. The Lions Club took over the sponsorship of the club and together with the council is providing funds to get the new clubhouse started.

Teen City is made up of youngsters in the Chamblee area between the ages of 12-17. Mrs. Bruce Richardson started the club to provide Chamblee children with an opportunity to enjoy social and recreational opportunities.

MEET PARENTS

Parents of the club members have been meeting with the teens and taking them on hayrides and skating parties. The youngsters have also held dances.

Plans for the new clubhouse are for it to be open afternoons and evenings. Regular dances and socials will be held at the club. Parents of the children will act as chaperones for the activities.

The club has a juke box and records for dancing. Ping pong tables and furniture will be installed, according to present plans.

Bulldozer Hits Mine; Korea GI Is Killed

WITH THE U.S. 24TH DIVISION, Korea, Jan 13 (INS)—U.S. 24th Division authorities announced today that one American engineer was killed and three others seriously injured late Tuesday when a bulldozer they were operating unearthed and exploded a land mine.

The accident occurred on the Pusan-Masan highway.

2ND PLACE HONORS

Doraville Awarded $750 And Home Town Plaque

Doraville took its place among the champions last night when it was awarded a Champion Home Town plaque and a $750 check at a banquet in the community center of the north DeKalb County municipality.

The second place award in its group in the Georgia Power Company's 1953 contest was presented by George H. Brodnax, power company vice president and Atlanta division manager, to George Walker, general chairman of the town's contest committee.

SECOND SPOT

Doraville ran second to Cleveland in the under-1,000 population group.

Brodnax said Doraville's award winning effort was an excellent example of democracy in action, in which the citizens of a community pooled their efforts to make their home town a better place in which to live.

Walker pointed to the building in which the dinner was held as evidence of the results of the drive to make Doraville a better community.

BETTER PLACE

Taking as a theme "Doraville a Better Place to Live," this city organized its citizens into committees to carry out the theme.

The growth of Doraville has been marked by substantial increases in the number of new homes erected. During the contest year more than 130 new houses were built. Abcut 104 more are going up.

The campaign covered all fields of civic improvement such as beautification, business and industry, education, health and sanitation, municipal improvement, recreation and youth, religious welfare and advertising and publicity. A special committee from the Negro community joined in the campaign.

The beautification committee, headed by J. R. Kinnard, kicked off its campaign last spring with the planting of pink and white dogwoods and flowering crabapples along the streets.

Doraville businessmen caught the spirit of the drive and repainted buildings and landscaped their property. Grass was planted on the elementary school lawn and shrubbery added around the school building.

Homes were painted, lawns put down, shrubbery planted and awnings put up. Cement drives, garages and porches were built.

BRING PLANTS

The business and industry committee, led by W. L. Brown, worked to attract new business and industry. Eight new businesses were started in Doraville during the contest year and five additions to already established businesses were made.

The education committee, under the chairmanship of J. L. Bickers, brought together the PTA and such civic organizations as the Woman's Club, the Civic Club, UAW-CIO Local No. 10, Lions Club, Civitans, American Legion and Order of the Eastern Star into a well rounded and integrated program providing educational aids, record players, hot lunches for the children and school recreational programs.

This committee was supplemented by the recreation and youth committees. Mrs. W. L. Brown, chairman of the recreation committee, instituted a Teen Town Club for the teenagers of Doraville. Janet Chapman was chairman of the youth committee.

NEW LIBRARY

As a result of the work of the municipal development committee, headed by E. H. Albea, city and county officials of Doraville added a new auditorium, a library, a health center and swimming pool in the new Community Building.

The City Hall was painted, a new police car was bought, a new traffic light installed and paving and curbing was done in the city and 11 new street lights installed.

The religious welfare committee, led by the Rev. Harry Schutte, reported improvements to the Winters Chapel Church, the Doraville First Baptist Church, the Doraville Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, and the Prospect Methodist Church.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Doraville Woman's Club, Mrs. J. B. Dabney, president, made pajamas for hospital patients and worked with the health and sanitation committee, headed by George Herman, in establishing the health center in the community building.

The Doraville Civic Club, J. D. Chesnut, president, was instrumental in selling the idea of a community center to the city commissioners and organizing the citizens' vote to pass a $50,000 bond issue, without a single vote against the issue.

The committee from the Negro community announced the erection of nine new homes in Carver Hills, a long range plan to erect 18 new homes in Parsons Village, and major endeavors to improve homes and surroundings. A lunchroom and a shoe store were added to the business section.

DINNER GUEST

Officials from the Georgia Power Co. attending the dinner were W. P. Parrish, who acted as master of ceremonies, C. M. Wallace, Temp S. Davis, Frank Hood and members of the advertising department.

Also attending the dinner were three of the four state judges, Howard Minhinnick, head of the city planning department of the Coca-Cola Co., and Mrs. Agnes Reasor Olmstead, home economist of Colonial Stores.

Special guests included Clark Gaines, head of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, DeKalb Commissioner Scott Candler and Robert M. Holder, north DeKalb realtor.

Hunting Victim, Boy of 17, Is Told He'll Never See

Atlanta doctors last night had to tell a 17-year-old Anderson, S.C., boy that it is likely he will never see again.

The boy, S. T. Gunter Jr., was critically injured on New Year's Eve when a friend's shotgun accidentally discharged while the boys were on a bird-hunting trip.

Gunter's father said the youth "took it all right" when doctors broke the news to him. They gave him a mild sedative before telling him.

Father and son will return by automobile to Anderson today from Crawford Long Hospital where the boy was treated by an eye specialist, a plastic surgeon and a brain specialist.

Top Poultry Show Listed Here Jan. 25

From New England to California, top poultry experts will come here Jan. 25-27 to talk about commercial egg production at the largest poultry show in the South.

Nationally known authorities on the subject will be spotlighted at the Southeastern Poultry and Egg Association's annual convention-exposition because, a spokesman explained, "probably no phase of Southern agriculture is growing faster today than the production of market eggs." So far the South has been eating more of them than it produced.

G. T. KLEIN

G. T. (Chick) Klein, of Amherst, Mass., writer and former State extension poultry specialist in Kansas and Massachusetts, will discuss "Making a Living from Eggs" at the morning session the final day, most of which will be devoted to the egg business.

Dale F. King, head of the poultry department at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, will moderate an afternoon panel on "How to Grow Better Pullets"—for broiler breeds as well as egg laying.

ATTENDANCE

The convention, which is expected to draw more than 2,500 persons from the association's 11-state area, will open in municipal auditorium Monday, Jan. 25, with a talk by Howard H. Gordon, administrator for the Commodity Stabilization Service, USDA, at 2 p.m. He will review the Washington situation as it affects poultrymen.

Direct Aid To Be Given By DeKalb Cancer Unit

The DeKalb unit of the American Cancer Society will extend its services this year to give direct aid to the county's cancer victims for the first time.

Under a reorganization plan which calls for about 400 volunteer workers, the DeKalb group will be divided into five committees, two of which will deal directly with patients, according to Gilbert McLemore, president of the unit.

CANCER FUNDS

Previously, McLemore said the unit consisted only of a board of directors which conducted annual campaigns for cancer research funds, he explained.

Under the new setup, a funds crusade committee, under Jim Cherry, will conduct a fund drive each year, the president said. The 1954 drive is scheduled for April.

Mrs. Alfred Boylston Jr. heads a patient services committee. The committee will aid in transportation of indigent patients to clinics for treatment and will serve as an information committee to refer persons to proper sources for examination and treatment.

A professional services committee under Dr. T. O. Vinson will assist in referring persons to proper examination and treatment centers and will help to inform professional groups on the latest results of national cancer research.

EMPLOYES EDUCATION

James A. Mackay will head the employes education committee, which will help educate persons in business and industry on cancer.

A publicity and information committee under Miss Dora Byron and Joseph H. Baird will distribute cancer information through news media and other means, McLemore said.

McLemore, who is assistant administrator of Emory University Hospital, was named president of the DeKalb cancer unit by a board of directors headed by C. O. Emmerich.

Other members of the board include Mrs. Alfred Bolston Jr., S. A. Council, Hansford S. Sams, Calvin Rutland, Scott Candler Sr., Guy Rutland Sr., Walter Scott, Dr. Dick Hall Jr., Dr. J. Elliot Scarborough, W. L. Hobb, Jim Cherry and McLemore.

The committee chairmen will meet at least once a month, McLemore said, with an annual membership meeting scheduled for February.

After 50 members of the DeKalb cancer unit will attend a state meeting of state cancer workers in Atlanta next week, McLemore said.

John White Swim Pool Faces Delay

A swimming pool in John A. White Park, previously scheduled for early construction, may not be completed for use this summer, according to Charlie Leftwich, chairman of the City Parks Committee.

Leftwich and other parks officials earlier indicated the White pool project had the full speed ahead sign from the city and that work would probably start on the pool early this year.

Leftwich, in an interview this week, said he still favors speedy action on construction of the pool but that he did not know how other members of the Parks Committee felt.

He also indicated that Mayor Hartsfield had expressed a desire to give other projects priority over the White pool. Mayor Hartsfield, was not available for comment.

Recently, Leftwich and Parks Directors George Simons told a group of West Manor citizens that no appreciable improvements could be made at West Manor Park this year because "all the money for the West End area this year must go on the White Park pool."

At that time, city officials had also told a West End delegation that Mozley park and pool would be converted to the use of Negroes in January and that White Park pool would replace it.

Parks Director Simons this week said a topographical survey of the proposed pool site has been completed but that detailed estimates on cost and actual location of the pool are not yet ready for submission to the Parks Committee. He also said, 'the pool may not be completed for use this year."

The first 1954 meeting of the Parks Committee is Tuesday, Jan. 19, according to Alderman Leftwich.

Navy Halts Planning on Byron Depot

CHARLESTON, S.C., Jan. 12 (AP). A cut in the amount of land originally scheduled to be bought has brought planning on the Naval Supply Depot at Byron, Ga., to a temporary halt.

The Public Works Department of the Sixth Naval District Headquarters made the announcement today.

A Macon architectural and engineering firm — Dunwody, MacEwen, Hall and Ferguson — has made a revised study of the project and submitted it to the Public Works Department.

This plan, which changes the schedule of construction and building placement, will be forwarded to the Navy Department in Washington.

Battle To Seek Sparkman's Seat

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 12 (AP)—Rep. Laurie C. Battle, who has represented the Birmingham District in Congress for four terms, announced today he would be a candidate for the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary in May.

Battle will seek the seat now held by Sen. John J. Sparkman of Huntsville, who also will be a candidate. Sparkman was the Democratic nominee for vice president in 1952.

In announcing this step, Battle said he would "run a clean, hard campaign," and said he reached the decision "after carefully weighing several thousand requests."

Tucker Bus Cancellation Under Fire

The Decatur Merchants Assn. board of directors has adopted a resolution condemning the abolition of a Decatur-Tucker bus line without a public hearing.

The business group joined the Decatur City Commission in opposing the Georgia Public Service Commission ruling that would allow the Metropolitan Transit Co. to discontinue service on the line late in January.

Spokesmen for the transit company have said they will be glad to discuss the proposed change with interested parties.

In its resolution, the merchants board urged that the PSC reconsider its order permitting the discontinuance and require a public hearing be held.

Charles D. McKinney Jr., secretary of the association, said representatives of the Decatur businessmen would appear at a PSC hearing on other proposed transit changes in DeKalb County scheduled Jan. 19.

The merchants would emphasize their stand at the hearing and would request that all changes in DeKalb routes be subject to public hearings, the resolution said.

DeKalb Gives School Staff Pension Plan

Non-professional employes of the DeKalb County Board of Education have been placed under Social Security effective Jan. 1 of this year, School Superintendent Jim Cherry announced yesterday.

The personnel category to come under the federal pension system includes lunchroom workers, school bus drivers, building custodians, maintenance workers and construction crews, Cherry explained.

Those groups previously had no retirement coverage, the superintendent said.

State Teacher Retirement benefits already were available to professional employes, Cherry said, with that category covering clerical personnel as well as teachers.

Accident, hospital and disability insurance under a groups plan was available to all employes of the board of education, the administrator said, and the board action placing the non-professionals under Social Security rounded out the school system's employe benefit program.

Audubon Church Sanctuary To Cost $250,000

Audubon Forest Methodist Church will begin construction of a $250,000 sanctuary about March 1, the Rev. Bevel Jones, pastor, has announced following a meeting of the church's Men's Club.

The proposed sanctuary will seat an additional 660 persons. The Rev. Mr. Jones said a church school building costing about $100,000 will be added to the rear of the proposed sanctuary, but not in the immediate future.

Value of the church plant, after completion of the two buildings, will amount to nearly a half million dollars, he said.

Today, the church membership numbers nearly 800.

The church's present assets amount to about $140,000, the Rev. Mr. Jones said, with only about $11,000 in debt remaining.

This debt will probably be retired by March, when the new construction begins, he said.

Evolution at Impasse, Emory Lecturer Says

A nationally recognized physiologist who has traced the evolution of man back some 550 million years, said here yesterday that further evolution of man is "virtually impossible."

Dr. Homer Smith, professor of physiology at New York University, explained "where there is cross breeding, you don't have evolution."

He said man is now one species with virtually no inbreeding so that a further significant evolution of man is not to be expected.

USES TITLE OF BOOK

Dr. Smith will tell the story of the evolution of vertebrates and of "consciousness" when he launches the Emory University lecture series at 7:30 p.m. today in the hospital auditorium. His subject will be "From Fish to Philosopher"—the title of his recent book.

The physiologist said the story of evolution is usually traced through the bones and the teeth—but he believes a study of evolution requires a picture of man's "internal constitution." He said an organism lives in "a kind of hothouse" or chemical environment which it creates for itself.

The task of manufacturing the internal environment, he said, "falls on the kidneys." He said about 180 quarts of body fluids are filtered by the kidneys each day, and only one quart is excreted.

LUNG FISH AUTHORITY

An authority on the lung fish, Dr. Smith said he spent some time in Central Africa studying the kidney of the lung fish. He said that it can live without water. In fact, he became so fascinated with the lung fish that he wrote a book about it—"Kamongo."

Dr. Smith said the kidney "began its evolutionary course" when the first vertebrates migrated from sea into fresh water. The vertebrates not only evolved the kidney but fins, smell, hearing, a different kind of brain, the power of locomotion and eventually the four legs of tetrapods which enabled them to leave water and take up life on land.

The physiologist said man with his "superior endowment of brain" was the ultimate development in evolution.

Bonds Win, Tax Loses InAmericus

Voters' approval of a $200,000 school bond issue and defeat of a 3.5 millage increase designed to finance the new bonds left Americus city officials in a quandary yesterday.

City voters approved the bond issue by a vote of 426 to 400. The millage increase proposal was defeated by a vote of 431 to 382.

Although some observers predicted that defeat of the millage plan will nullify the new bond issue, city officials were non-committal. They said that a meeting will likely be held Thursday night to study the action.

The election had been termed necessary in order to alleviate what officials called "serious financial difficulties" faced by the city.

Crowded conditions in the schools necessitated the school bond vote, they explained.

Board Okay Limited on Teacher Jobs

County boards of education cannot employ teachers who have not been recommended by the county school superintendent, the State Supreme Court ruled in effect yesterday.

This decision overruled a verdict of Dodge Superior Court in a dispute between Dodge County School Supt. Manning W. Tripp and four members of the Dodge County Board of Education.

Tripp last spring refused to sign contracts with several teachers elected by the board without his recommendation. Four of the five members of the board petitioned the superior court for a mandamus to force Tripp to sign the contracts.

The lower court ruled in favor of the board members and Tripp appealed to the Supreme Court.

The high tribunal held yesterday in a unanimous decision that the prevailing law is a provision of the Minimum Foundation act which says that "teachers, principals and other school employes shall be elected by the boards of education on recommendation of the respective superintendents."

Justice T. Grady Head, in writing the opinion, said this means that "the board must select and employ those teachers needed from the number recommended by the county school superintendent."

In a special concurring opinion, Justice T. S. Candler noted that if a superintendent recommends a person not satisfactory to the board of education, the board may require the superintendent to recommend someone else.

Eatonton Approves Gas Certificates

Constitution State News Service

EATONTON, Jan. 12—Voters here today overwhelmingly voted in favor of construction of a natural gas system to serve Eatonton, Gray and Haddock.

The vote was 472 in favor of the proposal and only 5 against. Approximately 75 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots.

The favorable vote empowers the city council to ask for issuance of revenue certificates to build the system. A total of $630,000 in certificates is being considered, according to officials.

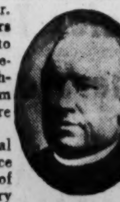
WHY THEY SAY:
"We'd Never be Without Father John's Medicine"

In many homes Father John's Medicine is always on hand—because its use has become a habit from one generation to another. Today mothers are giving it to their children because their mothers gave it to them when they were young.

This unusual family confidence is the result of proven merit. Try it for yourself. It has been used by millions for over 95 years.



PHILLIES' ASHBURN AND ROBERTS RETURN CONTRACTS TO CARPENTER—UNSIGNED

ROBERTS

CARPENTER

ASHBURN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12 (UP). Headaches piled up today for President Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies. First, pitcher Robin Roberts, a 23-game winner, said absolutely no to a proposed pay cut. Then, Richie Ashburn, the club's top hitter at .330, said, "no, thank you" to a slight increase.

Roberts, 27-year-old right hander acclaimed by most experts as the top pitcher in baseball, classified himself as a definite holdout.

"I have no intention of signing that contract," he said of the pact offered him by Carpenter.

Ashburn, who is wintering at his Tilden, Neb., home, mailed back his unsigned contract with a friendly, but firm note. A club spokesman quoted the tow-headed outfielder as saying he had a good season and expected more of a raise than he was offered. Ashburn, one of the finest defensive outfielders in the business, drove in 57 runs and had 36 extra base hits—25 doubles, nine triples and two home runs.

At home with his wife and two sons, Roberts declined to discuss the figures on the contract, except to say, "We're far apart."

It is believed the Springfield, Ill., native received in the neighborhood of $40,000 last year.

"I don't think there is any reason why I should be expected to take any less in 1954, and I told Mr. Carpenter that," Roberts said. "I expected an increase. After all, I equalled the best win record in the National League last year and was willing to pitch any time I was needed."

Roberts has been busy this winter with a weekly local television show. He also makes personal appearances for the club. He said he has no other plans at the moment. "It's just waiting for spring training."

Carpenter didn't seem worried by his star's adamant attitude.

"I don't anticipate trouble in adjusting the difference. When we get everything straightened out Robbie can make as much money this year as he did last," Carpenter said. His remarks inferred that the club probably would be willing to match the 1953 Roberts contract and were indulging in a little strategy aimed at preventing any increase for the pitcher.

The Phillies' boss did have some good news. Del Ennis, slugging outfielder, told him his contract terms were satisfactory except for a few minor points. Carpenter said he expected more trouble with his players since a number of cuts had been administered.

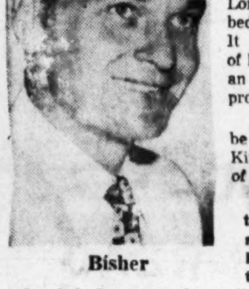
A Man Named Mose

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 12—Some of these days I'm going to meet Mose Simms and when I do, I'm going to forget myself and act like I've known the old faker since he outsmarted his first victim.

There has been going on in Texas for many years a serious debate about which is the state's most ripping character, Simms or John King. Their talents drifted in opposite channels, but in the end it seems there have been no other human beings created after the same pattern.



Bisher

For the right-handers in the audience, it should be explained that John King is the man who feels that the Lord got up on the wrong side of the bed the day he invented left-handers. It is said that when he observed one of his children reaching for an object at an early age with his left hand, John promptly cut it off.

This gruesome charge can hardly be substantiated, however, for all the King children have a full complement of hands.

Where John developed his bitter dislike for left-handers was in a baseball uniform. He was a left-handed hitter. He was a great hitter as long as the pitcher was right-handed. Some people can't hit left-handers with an oar. John couldn't hit left-handers with a canoe. This led to his disenchantment by left-handers, and the stories they tell of John's vicious desire to rid the world of these monsters are sometimes scarifying.

The stories they tell of Mose Simms are of a less vicious nature, but still just as remarkable in their own way. As I understand it, Mose was a character lifted bodily from O. Henry and placed here in Texas, where O. Henry himself loitered a spell in the state lockup.

—A College That Moved on Wheels

There was a session around a table in the coffee shop of the Austin Hotel the other evening dedicated to the entrancing qualities of Simms and King, but mostly Simms. The discussion leaders were Texas sports editors who were gathering in for a three-day newspaper seminar and who huddled inside away from the awful clutches of a "Blue Norther," which had just struck.

"Blue Norther" is Texas' name for a cold blast that feels like somebody left Canada's refrigerator door open.

Simms was a football man. He moved in on a little Catholic school named St. Mary's in San Antonio several years ago and prevailed upon the fathers there to allow him to field a football team in their name. As it turned out, it wasn't absolutely necessary that the players go to class to play for St. Mary's. All Mose wanted to do was use the name.

He bought a bus, converted it into a house on wheels, loaded his athletes aboard and set out around the country to play anybody who'd play him. It turned out sort of great for St. Mary's for awhile. Mose hadn't been too particular about academics, for some of his boys were playing for their third or fourth school. But he took two professors around with him to make it look good. They were often photographed tutoring the players in the bus, and the newspapers ate it up. It was great copy, a college on wheels.

The team wore candy-stripe uniforms subtlely set off by stars and other trimmings. To say the least, it was a colorful entourage.

—He Prepared the Gamblers for Slaughter

There were no geographical limitations on St. Mary's of Texas. They played from coast to coast, wherever Mose led them. In one series they played St. Vincents' in Scranton, Pa., on Friday, Catholic U. in Washington on Saturday and St. Thomas in Greensburg, Pa., on Sunday. And won all three.

Mose was a man with money in mind, and he was never too concerned about the manner in which it was produced. There was the time out in San Francisco. St. Mary's was scheduled to play University of San Francisco, and Mose decided to give the townspeople an advance showing.

He suited up his manager, bus driver, the two professors and a few other pickups and drilled them on Union Square. There has never been seen a more fumblesome crew in football clothes. Duly impressed were the town gamblers, who immediately rushed to the nearest book to get down dough on USF. This was the particular effect desired by the crafty Simms, whose football team murdered San Francisco, and the gamblers, the next day, an event on which Mose had wisely placed a few fins in his own behalf.

The thing eventually blew up at St. Mary's, largely because of a disagreement between Mose and his partner in the project, Frank Bridges, who at one time or another coached at Baylor. But Mose was to enjoy the stories of his own quackery. Fact is, he came back to San Antonio some years later and spoke to the Touchdown Club on the subject, "The Inside Story of My Stay at St. Mary's." It was a smash hit.

"Funny thing about it," said Clark Nealson, sports editor of the Houston Post, who once traveled with the Simms circus, "if Mose was here, he'd be listening to these stories and laughing along with us. He'd explain to us how it all really happened and how he was right. And you know, he'd have us all believing him."

And then there was John King. But that's another story.

Molinas To 'Visit' New York Probe

'I Have Nothing To Hide,' Says Basketball Bettor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (UP)—The Bronx Grand Jury put aside other matters today to learn whether big scale operations of professional gamblers were involved in his long distance telephone wagers to an old friend.

District Attorney George DeLuca of the Bronx charged the jury with full responsibility of determining what use was made of the telephone calls made by Molinas to Stanley Ratensky, 24-year-old son of a Bronx candy store operator.

The first witness to appear before the jury was Lt. William J. Hyland, head of the District Attorney's staff of detectives. He was assigned to the basketball case last month when it was learned that Molinas, former Columbia University captain, was making bets by telephone from Fort Wayne, Ind., where he played with the National Basketball Association professional team there.

It was not revealed what Hyland told the jury but he was before it for some time.

In Fort Wayne, Molinas said that he would come to New York "tomorrow or Thursday" and that he expected to appear in DeLuca's office shortly after his arrival.

"I have nothing to hide," he said. "I still say I did nothing dishonest. I never bet against my team. I only bet on Fort Wayne to win. And in my entire career at Columbia I never was involved in a single bet on basketball."

What DeLuca wants to know and what he has instructed the grand jury to find out is just what may have been done after Molinas telephoned his wagers.

Cats Holding No. 1 Spot In UP Poll

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (UP)—Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats today held the top spot in the United Press basketball ratings for the third straight week, despite a comeback by Indiana's defending champions.

Duquesne, another unbeaten power, remained in a contending position with 286 points, while Oklahoma A&M held down fourth place with 222 points.

Rounding out the top 10 in order were Holy Cross with 210 points, Western Kentucky (118), Kansas (92), Minnesota (62) and Duke and California (43 each).

Rules Group Facing Three Big Problems

Sucker Shift, Fake Injury And Lewis' Act Cause Talk

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 12 (AP)—College football rules may be rewritten in an effort to get rid of such problems as the "sucker shift," the fake injury and interference from the bench.

The football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tackled these matters today and indicated it was in the mood to do something about them.

"I think it is safe to say that some action will be taken on all three of these things in our final meeting tomorrow," said E. E. Weiman, committee secretary from the University of Denver.

The "sucker shift," a maneuver calculated to draw the opposing teams offside in scoring territory, has been a problem for many years.

Present rules provide a 15-yard penalty for any shift by the backfield or any movement by the linemen which fakes the beginning of a play and pulls the opposition across the line before the ball is snapped.

In last year's meetings at St. Petersburg, Fla., the rules committee decided that the situation was fully covered by the rule book and it was simply a matter of the officials calling it. Today the members apparently decided that some new rule was needed.

"We don't know the answer yet to the problem of feigned injuries," Weiman said. "There are many possible solutions and we expect to take some kind of action on it."

Tommy Lewis, Alabama back, brought the problem of sideline interference into the headlines last New Year's Day when he rushed off the bench to tackle a Rice runner who seemed to be on his way to a touchdown in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Present rules give officials the right to award a touchdown in such cases when the runner appears reasonably assured of going all the way.

Olson to Risk Title Against Kid Gavilan

Bobo Lays Middleweight Belt On Line in Chicago April 2

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP)—Canny Kid Gavilan, king of the welterweights, today was given his chance to reign over the 160-pound boxing division with a middleweight title shot against champion Bobo Olson in Chicago Stadium, April 2.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced final plans of the much-discussed 15-round championship match which promises to be one of the main boxing attractions of the year.

It will be televised nationally with the Chicago area blacked out.

Since making his seventh successful welter title defense against Johnny Bratton in the Stadium last November, Gavilan has been busy making a moving picture of his life story in Havana under the auspices of the Cuban government. He persistently has passed up other defenses of his welterweight title to concentrate on the middleweight crown.

Since the time he pounded Bratton into a pulp for a 15-round decision, Gavilan has insisted he was finished with the welterweight division and would, like Sugar Ray Robinson, go after the 160-pound crown. Robinson made the grade, smashing Jake LaMotta out of the title in February, 1951, in a 13th round TKO at the Stadium before 16,000 fans.

The site of the Olson-Gavilan affair involved San Francisco, the middleweight champions' current home, and Chicago Stadium.

Norris said Olson will receive 35 per cent of the receipts and Gavilan 25 per cent.

The NBA will require Gavilan to forfeit his 147-pound title if he defeats Olson.

STAR GETS BARS—FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 12—Bob Mathias, two-time Olympic decathlon champion, is sworn in as a second lieutenant in the Marine reserves by Capt. Edward Easter of the Fresno reserve unit. Mathias reports for active duty June 4 at Quantico, Va.

TATUM TALKS TURKEY TODAY WITH 'PACK COACH-HUNTERS

RALEIGH, N.C., Jan. 12 (UP)—North Carolina State will talk turkey with Jim Tatum tomorrow and either come to terms to lure the 1953 football "coach of the year" away from the University of Maryland or forget Tatum if his price cannot be met.

"He's willing to come here if we can meet his price," Dr. H. A. Fisher, State Athletic Council chairman, said. "He's definitely interested if we want to pay him. He wants to live here."

There were published reports that Tatum is ready to ask a 10-year contract and a salary of $20,000 a year to leave College Park to try to build the football fortunes of the big agricultural and engineering college here. But Fisher said "no figure has been mentioned."

Fisher and Athletic Director Roy Clogston discussed the post here with Tatum in Cincinnati last week and Tatum agreed to consider it. He will give State his terms tomorrow.

Charles Pick To Earn Title Shot Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (UP)—Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion close to a shot at Rocky Marciano's title, is a 3-1 favorite to dispose of dangerous Bob Satterfield in a 10-rounder which seems unlikely to go the distance at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Satterfield, as much a boxing enigma as his fellow Chicagoan Johnny Bratton, is a belter who either knocks out his man, or gets knocked out himself in a hurry.

The nationally-televised bout (starting at 10 p.m. EST), reportedly would put a victorious Charles in the ring against Marciano in a June title bout at New York or San Francisco.

But Charles must win convincingly to stay ahead of Dan Bucceroni or Nino Valdes as Marciano's next possible foe.

Betting is comparatively light on the fray which is tabbed to end abruptly with Satterfield swinging from the opening bell in hopes of a knockout before the far better-boxing Charles hammers him groggy as he did young Coley Wallace recently.

Satterfield has a 32-14-2 record with 25 knockout victories and being knocked out nine times himself. Of his 48 pro fights, only 14 went the route.

Charles, at 32, is about as near a chance for a bout with Marciano as he will ever be. The Cincinnati Negro at 188 will have a six-pound weight pull over the 182-pound Satterfield, listed as a light heavyweight.

Wooddall Fires 24 As Rebs Nip Eagles

Murphy's Vickery Gets 23 But Brown Prevails, 64-57

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Brown High's Rebels wrote another basketball victory into the book last night, 64-57, but Murphy scribbled a postscript with a poison pen for City League Bigwigs to beware the next invasion of the Eagles.

It took one of the fanciest efforts of the year by Roy Rowlett's home-floor folks to notch their ninth triumph in 10 outings as is evidenced by the fact the Eagles were breathing on their Rebel necks at 52-51 with two minutes left in the game.

Fact is, they never could have raked the victory chestnut from the coals had not Pudgy Hartsfield fanned the flame by dumping in nine of his 11 points in the final frantic quarter and had not Charlie Wooddall chipped in the final five of his 24 for the night.

Coach Morris Phelps' invading Eagles were intent upon upset. No doubt about that. Husky Roy Vickery, the 6-4, 227-pound football type, was the basketball type for the night. His personal record-shattering 23 points prove that.

Each team fired 24 field goals, Brown in 59 flings at the hoop for a 40.9 percentage of hits, Murphy in 60 flips for an even 40 per cent.

That shows again that the close ones are usually won at the foul line. Brown was well nigh perfect there, bagging 16 of 19 tries. The only three misses were on first shots when one-and-one situations developed Murphy dumped in a creditable nine of 18 charity chunks.

Brown led at every quarter mark, 18-12, 34-27 and 48-41, and once owned an 11-point bulge at 32-21. The determined Eagles kept coming at 'em though and almost had the answer at the end.

Wooddall, who had eight field goals and hit eight of ten foul shots, was the vital factor in the victory, but Crawford Kennedy snagged 13 points and, along with Pat Stephens, Richard Dix and playmaker Hartsfield sparkled along the boards.

Paul Cochran, who fired 12 points, George Counts, Mel Sorrow, Travis Vining and the fired-up Vickery went almost the entire route for Murphy.

Sandra Brown found net with 11 points in leading Brown's lassies to a 31-26 opening triumph but lost high point honors to Murphy's Carolyn Lynch, who had 18.

College Park Turns Back Hapeville

College Park's boys overcame a nine-point deficit in the last five minutes and squeezed out a 56-53 victory over Hapeville last night in a boys' basketball game at College Park.

The College Park girls, paced by Gloria Akins with 24, rolled to a 40-22 victory in the first game.

Alvin Plews, sharpshooting College Park forward, fired the rally and finished with a 23-point total. He was pressed for point honors by Hapeville's Jim Stovall, who rang up 21.

Hapeville assumed a 14-10 lead in the first quarter, trailed 25-24 at halftime, then came on again to take a commanding lead.

However, Plews and his mates found the range in the closing minutes and quickly closed the gap.

OLD STORY, NEW YEAR—BROWN'S DON HARTSFIELD CONTROLS BALL

Murphy's Mel Sorrow Dogs His Footsteps In City League Thriller Tuesday

Unbeaten Smithies Trounce Bass, 79-33

City League Leaders Roll To 14th Straight Victory

By GENE ASHER

Smith high's fast-breaking Smithies grabbed all loose balls, dominated both backboards and raced to a 79-33 victory over host Bass last night.

It was the 14th consecutive victory for the unbeaten Smithies and perhaps their most impressive.

Smith coach Shirley Watkins cleared his bench in the fourth period, and all but one player scored at least two points. Bobby Keanum was top man with 21 and Gilbert Adair, who prior to tonight's game had a 17.4 average, tallied 19.

Boys

Team	W	L	Pct.	Team	W	L	Pct.
Smith	6	0	1.000	Roosevelt	3	3	.500
N. Fulton	5	0	1.000	Sylvan	2	4	.333
Brown	5	1	.833	Northside	1	4	.200
W. Fulton	4	2	.667	Southwest	1	5	.167
O'Keefe	3	2	.600	Grady	0	5	.000
Murphy	3	2	.600	Fulton	0	6	.000
Bass	3	2	.600

Girls

Team	W	L	Pct.	Team	W	L	Pct.
Southwest	6	0	1.000	Brown	3	3	.500
Northside	5	0	1.000	Fulton	2	4	.333
Grady	4	1	.800	Smith	2	4	.333
N. Fulton	4	1	.800	W. Fulton	1	5	.167
Murphy	3	2	.600	O'Keefe	0	5	.000
Bass	3	2	.600	Sylvan	0	6	.000
Roosevelt	3	3	.500

The Smithies surged to an 8-0 lead in two minutes and Bass never recovered. Harry Lockwood's free throw put Bass on the scoreboard at 2:10, but the Blue Wave failed to make a field goal during the opening six minutes.

Braden, Keanum and Leon Tuck figured prominently in Smith's opening quarter defensive setup, stealing balls, blocking shots and ruling under the boards.

That made it easy for sharpshooters Adair, Keanum and Donald Ford to score seven, seven and six, respectively, and pace their mates to a 24-8 first period lead.

Keanum, who hit on four successive free throws, added nine more points in the second quarter and the Smithies walked off at halftime with a 42-18 advantage.

Smith accounted for 21 more in the third period, held Bass to seven, and for all practical purposes the game was over.

Lockwood was high point-getter for Bass with 15 and Ben Cotten played a fine floor game. It was Bass' second loss against three triumphs.

The Bass girls took a 44-35 seesaw decision in the opener. Jerry Meek had 13 for the winner and Callie Kennedy was tops for Smith with 15.

Smith (79)	Pos.	Bass (33)
Adair (19)	F	Crowley (4)
Keanum (21)	F	Cotten (4)
Braden (13)	C	O'Farrell (3)

Ford (6)	G	Hannah (3)

Score at half: Smith, 42; Bass, 18.
Subs: Smith—Smith (4), Haynes (4), Jenkins, Shadix (8), McDaniel (2). Bass—Brannon, Birdsong (2), Reeves, Heisler (2).

Boy's Club Play

Fulton and the Hot Shots took basketball victories in the Atlanta Boys' Club League play last night. Fulton ripped the Boys' Club 16-and-under team, 41-35, and the Hot Shots clobbered Decatur, 60-36.

DEKALB ROUNDUP

Coiner's Free Throw Wins for Avondale

Richard Coiner looped in a foul shot with five seconds remaining to squeeze his Avondale High basketball team past Tucker, 56-55 tonight.

After Coiner's shot, Tucker had the ball but could not get within shooting range before the gun killed the action.

Bobby Creech was the big man for the winners with 19 points—that is until Coiner downed his big throw.

Larry Dunn pushed through 23 for the losers.

Tucker's girls won the opener, 53-42.

Avondale (56)	Pos.	Tucker (55)
Adams (2)	F	Morris (5)
Mitchell (11)	F	Craft (2)
Creech (19)	C	Dunn (23)

Druid Hills Tops Chamblee Cagers

Druid Hills held Chamblee to its lowest point total of the season last night in carving out a 34-27 victory on the Druid Hills court.

The Druid Hills girls made it a clean sweep by taking the opener, 38-28.

Buddy Edwards sparked the Druid Hills scorers with 10 points and played a terrific defensive game. He was credited with 19 rebounds.

Smyrna Teams Top Sprayberry

Special to The Constitution

SMYRNA, Jan. 12—Campbell of Smyrna marched to its tenth basketball victory of the year here tonight, defeating Sprayberry High School of Marietta, 60-52. Charles Billingsly and Fred Herren topped the winners with 20 points each while Bobby McCoy tallied 13.

Jim and Jerry McClure scored 15 and 12 points each to lead Sprayberry. Mary Ann McClesky dropped in two foul shots in the last minute of the girls' game and scored 20 for the night to lead Campbell to a 39-38 edge over Sprayberry. Jeanette Mabry topped the losers with 20.

Russell Throttles Griffin

Blondheim's 28 Paces Wildcats

Special to The Constitution

GRIFFIN, Jan. 12—Harry Blondheim saved his best for the last here tonight and it was too much medicine for the Griffin High School basketballers to swallow. Blondheim poured through 11 points in the final quarter to highlight Russell's Region 4-AA victory over Griffin, 69-62.

Blondheim, the rangy Russell rifle, scored 28 points for the evening. He had one bad quarter, the second, netting only one field goal.

Griffin, led by Boyd Goss and Jim Nance, was in the thick of the fight right up until the final few minutes. Russell's Wildcats held a one-point advantage at the end of the first period, pulled ahead by five, 33-28, at halftime, but saw Griffin pull to within two points at the end of the third period, 51-49. This set the stage for Blondheim's great finish.

Goss and Nance were responsible for Griffin's rush at the end of the third period. They got 15 points in that period between them. Goss bucketed five and Nance contributed 10. They each got 18 for the night.

Marsha Maddox led the Russell girls to 52-45 decision.

Vickers Accepts Tech Scholarship

Paul Vickers, who was chosen to the All-State basketball squad after helping lead North Fulton to the crown in The Constitution-sponsored Class AA Georgia meet last year, has accepted a Georgia Tech grant-in-aid.

Vickers, a 6-4 180-pounder, made The Journal-Constitution's All-State AA and Constitution's All-Greater Atlanta football squads at end, chiefly because of his brilliance as a pass receiver.

AT SEA ISLAND

Suggs, Faulk Face Stern Competition

By BERT PRATHER

Though Georgians would like to see a head-and-head battle between native daughters Louise Suggs and Mary Lena Faulk in the first annual Sea Island golf tournament Friday through Sunday at the beautiful coast layout, it may be that they will have to settle for something slightly different.

With each mail bringing in new entries, the field is becoming so stocked with tried and true campaigners that anyone of at least a dozen of the starters could walk off with the winner's share of the $3,500 purse Sunday afternoon.

Certainly Miss Suggs, who set an all-time money-winning record for pros last year and Miss Faulk, who won the National Amateur cannot be crowded out of the favorite's list, but they must move over and make room for such consistent winners as National Open champion Betsy Rawls from Spartanburg, S.C., and redheaded Patty Berg of Fort Myers, Fla., and perhaps Mrs. George Zaharias, the fabulous Babe, should be included in the list along with Betty Jameson, the San Antonio, Tex., veteran.

The exacting Sea Island course is strictly one for the major leagues. And the above ladies are in that classification.

Latest communique from Sea island publicity ace Louise Ferguson advises that young Lisba Lobo of San Antonio, who turned pro late last year, has entered. That means three outstanding former amateur stars will be playing in a winter tour tourney for the first time. The other two are Pat O'Sullivan of Southern Pines, N.C., former titleholders and North and South champion, and Fay Crocker, 14 times champion of South America.

Northside Wins on Late Run

By J. B. EBERHARDT

Stubborn Fulton High School fought and won an uphill battle for three quarters but Northside's big Bobby Black started a landslide in the fourth period and it rolled the Tigers to a 67-56 City League basketball triumph.

The Northside boys' victory came after Betty Eason had paced the Tigerettes to a 47-39 decision. Eason poured through 18. Jerry Rainey netted 29 of her team's 31 points.

Northside took advantage of Fulton's poor first quarter shooting to move in front, 17-7.

But it was in the third period that Fulton found the range, Murphy and Don Benton threw in eight and six points respectively as the entire Redbirds team combined for 24 points during the comeback quarter.

Sadler Scores TKO Over Don Wheelock

Golden Gloves Tourney Opens With 6 Knockouts

Welterweight George Sadler, an AAU champion out of Philadelphia, TKO'd Donald Wheelock in 1:15 of the first round last night as the Greater Atlanta Golden Gloves tournament opened at Henry Grady gymnasium.

Sadler floored Wheelock in 30 seconds and then battered him with a combination of left and right hooks before referee Frankie Allen stopped it.

In the only other open division bout, light heavyweight Clifford Penn punched sharply during the in-fighting to decision two-time Georgia champion Jimmy Mathews.

Approximately 450 fans watched the opening session and saw half of the 12 bouts end in knockouts, three of which were in the first round.

O'Keefe's Bob Goeke stopped Russell light heavyweight Jimmy Sykes in 25 seconds, defending novice welterweight king Dewey Conner flattened Charles Kirkbride in 57 seconds, and lightweight John Hall of Georgia Tech halted novice lightweight Charles Little in 1:05.

Tonight's 13-bout card features the 118-pound, open division finals. Southern titleholder Ken (Sugar Boy) Pruitt of Hapeville meets Fred Reese for the championship.

In another top attraction and the finals of the 126-pound school class, Ted Morgan, twice state king, faces Joe Pucket. The first fight is at 8 o'clock.

Southwest Wins Two From Grady Teams

By RAY BLACK

Southwest defeated Grady in both ends of a doubleheader last night on the Southwest court, in two of the most important games of the season. Southwest's boys won their first victory, 54-47, while the girls continued their undefeated string with a 42-26 win over Grady's previously undefeated team.

Superior teamwork, the best of the season, paved the way for the boys' win, with only one substitute being used. J. B. Hendrix was the shining light in the victory. He scored 18 points, eight of those coming on foul shots out of 13 tries. Jimbo Towery had 14 points, with Jim Wendorf and Chambers sharing nine points each.

Not only was Southwest's offensive above par, but its defense was so perfect that only three fouls were called against the entire team.

Grady showed vast improvement over past games and actually outscored Southwest, 21 field goals to 15, but did not have the chance at foul shots as did the winners.

Rudolph, a rangy guard, led the scoring for Grady with 13 points, batting in several field goals on the rebound from the backboards. The remainder of the Grady scoring was well divided.

Taking an early lead, Southwest girls were never in danger of losing after the first quarter, when a 15-5 score was racked up. "Chicken" Waites was held to 15 points by some fine Grady guarding, but Harriett Ware and Joe Anne Gunn cut loose with 16 and 11 points respectively.

Best Offensive Tackles in NFL? Snyder and Miller, Brown Says

By EDWIN POPE

Georgia Tech supplied pro football with its finest brace of offensive tackles in 1953.

That's the word on Hal Miller and Lum Snyder hauled in from the West by former Jacket center Pete Brown.

"It's not just my opinion," says Brown, back at The Flats to work on his degree. "Everybody on our club—the San Francisco 49ers—says it. Plenty of others think so, too. Leo Nomellini, our defensive tackle, and Barney Poole, the New York Giants defensive end, thought Snyder was the best blocker in the league. And all the 49ers figured Miller was great."

San Francisco rates as a Tech-Georgia auxiliary. "We've got six guys out there from around here," Brown reports. "Clay Matthews of Tech at defensive end, Nick Feher of Georgia at offensive guard, Billy Mixon of Georgia at offensive halfback, Harry Babcock of Georgia at offensive end, and Miller."

And Brown played second-string center both offensively and defensively.

The Rossville boy, a brand-new father, never weighed more than 202 pounds at Tech. Today he scales 215. "I dunno how. I just gained it. And I don't figure on losing it. No more basketball barnstorming. I'm retired from that. Played 10 minutes the other night and it liketa killed me."

Jackie Roberts, old Georgia flash who backfield-coached at Chattanooga the past autumn, will stay in school there until time to report back to Columbus in the Sally League. The Gainesville fireballer had a 6-4 pitching record for the Class A Cardinals last summer. . . . And no matter what you say about Mississippi State, you can't accuse basketball coach Paul Gregory of not recruiting close to home. Nine of 12 Maroon courtmen are from Mississippi. . . . A spectacular chain-reaction of misfortunes caused Charley Trippi's wife Ginny to miss a trip to Los Angeles for the Pro Bowl this Sunday. First, the Georgia-Chicago Cardinal hero's two daughters came down with flu. The missus caught it, too. Then she cut her hand—deep. So The Lady Trippis will watch the old man on TV instead of first-hand Sunday.

You might know two of sport's most logic-minded coaches have law degrees. They're Alabama's Johnny Dee (basketball) and Rice's Jess Neely (football). But they have precious little time to hang out shingles. . . . SMU baseball coach Alex Hooks is none other than the ex-Atlanta Cracker first baseman. . . . Most-taped basketeer in Dixie must be Tech's olive-skinned Bill Cohen. He wears swaddling on one knee and both ankles. And every time Tech gym sees referee Max Macon, he's up the baseball ladder another rung. Three years ago, the Southeastern Conference basketball official was managing Class D Hazard, Ky. Then it was Class B Miami Beach. Then Class AA Fort Worth. Triple-A Montreal is the latest lap on a road that could take the Louisville gent to the Brooklyn Dodgers helm . . . Macon and old Tech star Jim (New York Giants) Hearn "fraternized" at the Jacket-Vandy game Monday night.

Ever wonder about the records of basketball's 400 —coaches, whose major-college teams have won more than 400 games? Here they are: Phog Allen, Kansas, 44 years, 735 won, 211 lost; Ed Diddle, Western Kentucky, 31, 571-184; Hank Iba, Oklahoma A&M, 25, 539-139; Fred Enke, Arizona, 33, 489-237; Adolph Rupp, Kentucky, 24, 479-82; Jack Friel, Washington State, 26, 454-284; Nibs Price, California, 30, 440-288; Joe Hutton, Hamline, 23, 422-96; Slats Gill, Oregon State, 26, 417-291. Yep, Rupp's percentage is highest—.853. . . . Canadian football teams are making eyes at Darrell Crawford, who quarterbacked Tech in 1951. But they'll have to wait awhile. Crawford has another couple of years in the Army, and very shortly will begin working out part of the term in Japan.

Joe DeLany Pops in 35 As North Fulton Romps

Undefeated Bulldogs Conquer Roosevelt's Quintet, 86-50

By RED MULLINS

Joe DeLany, who was not even on the list of individual scoring leaders in the early count, put on a one-man offensive show to lead Coach Bill Bryce's undefeated Bulldogs over Roosevelt, 86-50, last night. DeLany's 35 points not only gave him the scoring honors for the night but were the most points scored in City League play so far this season.

The lead changed 5 times in the first quarter with North Fulton closing on top, 15-12.

In the second quarter, it was all DeLany as he poured 12 points through the basket to give the Bulldogs a lead of 32-20 at intermission.

Joe Marco, who had only four points at the half, kept up with DeLany's torrid pace in the third quarter and these sharpshooters had things well in hand to lead, 58-34, at the end of three.

The final quarter, North Fulton scored 27 points with DeLany collecting 14. The Tides' big point getters were center Jack Bush with 16 and Charles Smith with 12.

Marco, top man in City League scoring, ended up with 18 before fouling out.

Earlier, the North Fulton girls defeated the Crimson Tide, 45-31. Jennie Holt's 24 points was tops for North Fulton and Joan Miller had 14 for Roosevelt.

West Fulton Edges Sylvan

By BILL KING

West Fulton's Owls came from behind twice in the last 30 seconds of play to tie the score, then went on to win a tense 38-34 overtime thriller from Sylvan's luckless Bears at the West Fulton gym last night.

By the time the final whistle sounded, the near-capacity crowd was limp with excitement; for the opening girls' game was almost as thrill-packed as the nightcap. West Fulton won that game, too, by an identical 38-34 score.

West Fulton started out like a house afire and by the first-quarter mark, it appeared as though a complete rout were in the making. The Owls had amassed a 16-point total themselves, while holding the Bears to but two points.

The final minute had the crowd in a nervous frenzy. Sub Meredith Clarke came off the West Fulton bench to knot the count at 29-29 with 30 seconds remaining.

Then, with but 10 seconds showing on the clock, Sylvan regained the lead with a Gerald Hawkins field goal. Owl ninth-grader Marvin Tibbetts provided the electrifying climax with a two-pointed that swished the net as the horn sounded.

Tip Top Sam Grabs Field Trial Fixture

By BILL ALLEN
Constitution Sports Writer

WAYNESBORO, Jan. 12—A colorful mounted gallery of nearly half a hundred pointing breed fanciers today braved south Georgia's coldest weather of the winter and a biting 20-mile-an-hour wind to see some of the na- Georgia Field Trial Club's amateur all-age and derby stakes.

The all-age was a tough, white, liver and ticked pointer male, Tip Top Sam, owned and handled by Bill Chaney of Sumter,

Yet to be run are the open stakes for professional handlers, both all-age and derby classes.

A hugh entry of 46 dogs made the state's traditional trial also the most successful amateur meet of the season. Thirty-one of the amateur entries made up the largest field of any Southern trial this season. There were 15 derbies entered.

Tip Top Sam's handling of a clean covey find and a single with a classy ground race copped the silver coffee urn, permanent trophy for winners of this event which was inaugurated in 1898. Runner-up with an excellent half-hour run in the field with a flawlessly handled covey was Rhett Night, male pointer owned and handled by E. H. Vare Jr., a Pennsylvanian. Third with a very good shooting dog ground race and two well handled finds was Dr. Sam Orr Black of Spartanburg, S.C. with Dr. Sam's Ranger.

Running past twilight, the club finished the Members' Derby tonight and the first open all-age brace will go down at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

First in the Members' Derby was an excellent ground performance and one creditable contact with game was Dr. Sam's Ghost, owned and handled by Dr. Black. Runnerup was a Cartersville pointer, Rumson Farm Haymaker, owned and handled by Raymond Hoagland. Third was Crawford's Junior Lady, owned and handled by Clyde N. Crawford of Atlanta.

U.S. Stiffens For Curb on Italian Reds

By JAMES RESTON

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — The U.S. Government is planning a tougher policy to prod Italy toward sterner measures against the growing power of her Communist Party.

It is understood that Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce has been authorized to advise the new Italian government, when it is formed, that the United States does not intend to continue placing military contracts in Communist-dominated Italian factories.

Rome will be urged to change what Washington regards as a "lax" policy toward Communists.

$400 MILLION

In the last fiscal year contracts totaling more than $400,000,000 were placed by the United States in Italy. A comparable program was planned in the coming fiscal year.

These contracts — for aircraft, minesweepers, ammunition, radar and other military supplies — were part of the so-called offshore procurement program.

This is a plan to help increase military production, lower military costs and improve the economic life of Allied countries. The program will be the main source of U.S. aid to most Allied countries of Western and Southern Europe in the fiscal year starting July 1.

DISCUSSED WITH IKE

Mrs. Luce discussed this program with President Eisenhower when she was here last week.

The Eisenhower administration is disturbed about the trend of events in the Italian peninsula. Though that country has been helped by the United States ever since the end of World War II, Communist strength in Italy has not fallen, but has risen as the standard of living has improved.

Long before the government of Alcide de Gasperi fell on Aug. 15 the United States was trying to persuade officials in Rome to adopt a stronger policy toward Communists.

Clarke and Oconee Slate Survey on Handicapped

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS, Jan. 12—A report on handicapped persons under 21 years of age in Clarke and Oconee counties began yesterday as an intensive part of a Georgia study of services for crippled children.

The Cerebral Palsy Society of Georgia and the Georgia Society for Crippled Children planned the Clarke-Oconee survey and analysis.

It is being held in connection with the state-wide study seeking the basis for securing more adequate services to help crippled children lead as nearly normal lives as possible, Mrs. Paul Pfuetze, chairman of the local study, said.

PARENTS' REPORT

Emphasis in the Clarke-Oconee survey is given to volunteer reports from parents to record information on every child suffering from one or more of 10 crippling conditions, regardless of treatment being received by the children.

Mrs. Pfuetze describes the survey as the first comprehensive, state-wide study of handicapped children in an effort to analyze both resources and needs. The study will include:

1. Conducting community self-evaluations throughout the state to determine the present services available and the number of children being assisted.

2. Finding in Clarke and Oconee Counties the number of children suffering from crippling conditions and determing both the severity of the condition of each child and the quantity of services desirable for aiding them. The survey will determine the number of handicapped children in relation to the total number of children to provide a "yardstick" for estimating needs over the state.

3. Estimating the additional or improved services (both public and private) needed to assist handicapped children in each county and in the state as a whole.

Following the survey a sampling of cases will be examined in March by medical specialists to determine the "yardstick" figures. Reports will be received on the following conditions:

Harelip or cleft palate, cerebral palsy or orthopedic defect, poor hearing and deafness, speech defects, eye defects, mental retardation, cosmetic defect, orthodonetic defect, epilepsy and heart conditions.

Northwestern Plans Huge Research Hub

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (INS)—Northwestern University today announced plans for a new $2,000,000 medical research building to be located near the university's downtown campus on Chicago's near North Side.

The building, seven stories high and of modified Gothic design, will be ready for occupancy by medical researchers in May of 1955.

It will be known as the Morton Medical Research Building and will be financed from a bequest to the university from the late Mrs. Margaret Gray Morton, a member of the Morton Salt Co. family.

New Role for Censor: She Helps Youngsters Here To See a Film

Miss Christine Smith, Atlanta motion picture censor who occasionally prevents Atlantans from seeing a movie, reversed her role this week.

She made it possible for 20 city high school students to see an Academy Award-winning picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives," by arranging a special preview for the youngsters.

The movie, produced in 1946 and scheduled for re-issue here and in other parts of the nation in February, deals with the adjustment of a handicapped World War II veteran to civilian life. Miss Smith explained she and motion picture executives were interested in obtaining reactions of youngsters who "probably were not old enough at the time the picture was first released to have seen it or to have understood its significance."

Slayer of 3 Still Eludes Posse

LEXINGTON, Miss., Jan. 12. (AP)—Sheriff Richard Byrd called off a mass hunt for a Negro killer tonight because darkness made it too dangerous to hunt the sharpshooting slayer of three white men.

Byrd said roving patrols and armed guards would remain on duty in the area eight miles from Lexington, where the fugitive was last seen. A feeling grew among officers and the posse that 28-year-old Ed Noel, had eluded the net and left the vicinity.

Volunteers summoned by a loudspeaker scoured two square miles today without finding a trace of Noel, who killed the three men and wounded two in a berserk shooting spree that began Saturday night and ended Sunday night when he fled into a patch of woods.

NEW CAR ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THE BUILDER OF THE "ROCKET"

NEWEST NEW OLDSMOBILE IN FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS!

NOW . . . the "88" of tomorrow . . . the car that Oldsmobile has been "building up to" for many years . . . will be displayed on Wednesday, January 20th!

JUST WAIT! For the most significant, the most exciting new car announcement in Oldsmobile's 57-year history. Yes, even more startling than 1940, when Hydra-Matic Drive was introduced by Oldsmobile. Even more spectacular than 1948 and the debut of Futuramic styling. Even more thrilling—believe it or not—than 1949, when Oldsmobile's first "Rocket" was launched and started a whole new era of high-compression power.

JUST WAIT! It's going to be not just a new car, but an ultra-new kind of car. A "dream car" that actually had its beginnings years and years ago. A "show car" that draws inspiration from the many experimental models of recent years. A "car of tomorrow", so basically new in styling and engineering, with so many new convenience and comfort features, that it's bound to set new trends in automotive design!

JUST WAIT! It's going to be THE "88." Remember when Oldsmobile startled the automotive world with its first "88" model? It represented a new idea in fine cars—a new balance of power and pace, style and grace—and soon became the "hottest number on the highway". Even today, if you'll check trade-in values and used-car prices, you'll find that those "88" numerals still possess their own special kind of magic. And this new Oldsmobile for 1954 represents the peak, the climax, the fulfillment of the "88" idea!

JUST WAIT! You're going to see a startling new kind of styling that—we warn you!—will make you dissatisfied until you actually own this car. A definite low slung "sports car" look, but American through and through. With a "new slant" on windshield design. (This will start a new trend, just watch!) A new silhouette that's longer, lower, lovelier. New fender treatment, new door design, new interiors—well, frankly, everything everywhere you look is new!

JUST WAIT! Your biggest thrill will come when you drive this car. For remember, it's a "Rocket"—and you know what a wonderful performer the "Rocket" Engine is right now. Yet for 1954, the "Rocket" will be bigger, more powerful and—here's real news—more economical than ever. Already, it's a World's-Record-breaker! In a gruelling test run at Monarch Pass, Colorado, this new 1954 Oldsmobile engine outstripped the famous 1953 "Rocket" in every phase of performance, hit the "top of the world" at the Continental Divide with far greater ease than any car had ever approached. Similarly, at the Indianapolis Speedway, in a 10,000-mile, nonstop economy run, this astonishing new "Rocket" used 10% less gasoline than a 1953 Oldsmobile.

JUST WAIT! And you won't have to wait long! This "dream car", this "car of tomorrow", this newest new Oldsmobile in fifty-seven years, is being displayed on Wednesday, January 20. So make a date with this new "88" at your Oldsmobile dealer's. JUST WAIT TILL YOU SEE IT!

JUST WAIT TILL YOU SEE THE NEW 88 ---- JAN. 20 IS THE DATE!

Appellate Races Take Top Spot

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Selection of a majority of the Court of Appeals moves into a top spot in Georgia politics this year, with new changes in the court's membership opening four of the six judgeships for election. Ordinarily, only two positions would be filled this year.

St. John

Members of the appellate court are elected for staggered terms of six years each. This year the terms of Judge J. M. C. (Red) Townsend of Wildwood and Judge Jule Felton of Montezuma expire. Under ordinary circumstances, these two positions would be the only ones open for the Court of Appeals on this year's ballot.

However, Gov. Talmadge has elevated two other Court of Appeal judges to the Supreme Court. He appointed men to fill their unexpired terms. These successors can serve only until the first general election following their appointment. That is next November.

The appointees are Judge H. E. Nichols of Rome and Judge Joe Quillian of Winder.

At present, it appears that Judges Nichols, Townsend, Quillian, and Felton will be running for the posts they now hold.

ANOTHER TO RETIRE?

Should Judge B. C. Gardner Sr. of Albany retire this year—he has sufficient years of service and age to be eligible for retirement, although his term doesn't expire—five of the six judgeships would be open.

Judge Ira Carlisle, elected in 1953 after being appointed earlier by Gov. Talmadge, is the other member of the court.

When the governor administers the oath of office to new judges at 11 a.m. Friday, two men who have been his personal and political friends will be on the court. Their political friendship may, or may not, be a bit strained right now. They are Nichols and Townsend. Townsend was appointed to the court by acting Gov. Thompson in 1947 and later elected by the people. Nichols was appointed to the Superior Court by Thompson a year later, but he now has been promoted by Talmadge.

CHANGE IN PAY

The General Assembly recently made a change in the pay of the appellate judges and the Supreme Court justices. The starting salary now is $8,000 per year, and is automatically increased until a top salary of $12,000 is reached in 20 years. This replaces a former arrangement of $8,000 plus $3,600 expense allowance, regardless of length of service on the court.

Those expected to run for the posts they now hold on the appellate bench have had political experience. In the past, Nichols and Townsend have worked in anti-Talmadge campaigns, Nichols has held state office in the Thompson administration, and Townsend is a former legislator. Felton served on the Public Service Commission and was a mayor before going to the Court of Appeals in 1937. Quillian, a Winder attorney, ran for the Supreme Court in 1948.

WRONG TIE-IN

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin says we had the right story about his friend Jimmy Pippen, but the wrong tie-in. In a recent column, we said Pippen spread a rumor to help Griffin in a campaign against M. E. Thompson for lieutenant governor. Griffin says it was done for Herman Talmadge against Thompson, and had been done earlier by Pippen for Carmichael against the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge—but the lieutenant governor says Pippen didn't do it for him. Jimmy is interested in Griffin this year.

Methodists Set District Meetings

Atlanta-East and Atlanta-West Districts of the Methodist Church have scheduled their annual business meetings for 10 a.m. Thursday.

The Atlanta-East meeting will be held at Haygood Memorial Church. Dr. Nat G. Long, district superintendent, will preside.

Dr. Long will license seven candidates to preach. One of the seven, T. H. Erwin, is a layman. The other six are ministerial candidates. They are J. Z. Henry, P. H. Tinney, C. D. Colquitt, F. T. Farran, Harry Alderman and J. C. Hendon.

Candidates from Atlanta-East District for admission on trial to the North Georgia Conference are Harry Blackwood Alderman, Charles Jackson Reaves and Jackson Perry Speer.

Dr. Candler Budd, pastor of Glenn Memorial Methodist Church, will be the main speaker at the Atlanta-East meeting.

The Atlanta-West meeting will be held at Calvary Methodist Church. District Superintendent J. W. O. McKibben will preside. The principal speaker will be Dr. W. R. Cannon, dean of the Candler School of Theology at Emory University.

The Rev. Mr. McKibben will license a young lawyer, Kermit Charles Bradford, to preach and will admit the following men to the North Georgia Conference on a trial basis: Franklin Edward Payne, Elmer Owen Kellum Jr., and Russell Taylor.

Each district's report will include a new church organized during the year. Atlanta-East now has 61 churches, including the one begun several weeks ago at the Steele School on Second Avenue in Decatur. The 63 churches in Atlanta-West District include the newly organized Powers Ferry Road congregation.

FATAL FIRE—ELBERTON, Jan. 12—Firemen attempt to enter the rear of a burning house to save a Negro child, but heat and flames drive them back. Edward Norman Jr., 2 years old, was killed in the fire which yesterday leveled his parents' home here. The mother had left on an errand a few minutes before the fire broke out, investigators said.

Texts of Talmadge's Veto And Reply by Hartsfield

Won't Give Up, Mayor Warns

Statement by Mayor Hartsfield:

"The governor's veto means that the Atlanta Police Department must continue trying to enforce traffic laws and prevent deaths on our streets under the handicap of an uncooperative and hostile set of county court officials. Innocent citizens will be the chief sufferers.

"That Griffin case was totally different from our court and under an entirely different constitutional provision. Ours would not have been a hybrid court. It would have been purely a state traffic court. Local city ordinances would still have been left to our Municipal Court which was still to have remained in existence. Our lawyers knew all about the Griffin case when they drew the bill and specifically avoided its objectionable features.

"We are not going to quit trying to give Atlanta a modern court like other progressive cities. Some day we will have such a court in which all forms of traffic cases may be efficiently and fairly disposed of, and our citizens not be put at the mercy of professional bondsmen and tried in a common criminal court along with gamblers, prostitutes, vagrants and other criminals.

"Our citizens will be the final arbiters of who is right in this matter. We have just begun to fight."

A Hybrid Court, Governor Says

Text of Gov. Talmadge's veto:

"I have today vetoed House Bill No. 1035, which is an act to create a traffic court for the City of Atlanta, giving to said court jurisdiction to try offenses against the traffic laws, etc., and for other purposes.

"The General Assembly passed an act creating a police or recorder's court in the City of Griffin, empowering such court to try offenses against the state as well as offenses against the city. The Supreme Court of Georgia in the case of Grane versus Camp, 105 Georgia 428, ruled as follows:

"'We think the Legislature has no power to establish a hybrid court like the one now under consideration, the intention being to establish a municipal or police court and make it subordinate to the will of the municipal authorities, and, at the same time, confer upon it jurisdiction to try offenses against the state.'

"House Bill 1035 sought to create a traffic court with judges appointed by the mayor of the City of Atlanta, authorized to try offenses against the city as well as traffic offenses against the state.

"Such bill identically parallels the Griffin court which was held unconstitutional in the case of Grant versus Camp, 105 Georgia 428.

"For the above reasons, as well as others, the attorney general has ruled that such act is 'palpably unconstitutional.'

"Because of wide interest in this proposed legislation, I have requested the attorney general to make public his memorandum to me upon which my veto of House Bill 1035 is based."

Plea To Free Attack Case Pair Heard

The State Supreme Court yesterday heard arguments for and against the release of two young Negroes under death sentence on charges of raping a Milledgeville white girl.

Negro Atty. Frank A. Dilworth III of Savannah asked that Willie Jackson Jr. and Herman Lee Miller be released on a habeas corpus petition. The petition was turned down previously by a Reidsville City Court judge.

The petition claimed that the convicted pair should have been transferred from the Baldwin Superior Court to a juvenile court, then back to superior court.

Atty. Gen. Bob Hall presented arguments against the petition. The Supreme Court will decide whether to reverse the Reidsville decision.

Man Gravely Wounded Is Identified

A man admitted to Emory University Hospital late Monday night suffering a serious bullet would was identified last night as Stanley T. Miller, 45, of 374 E. Paces Ferry Rd., NE, DeKalb County Police Chief Hoyt Sutton reported.

Sutton said Miller, who declined to identify himself when admitted to the hospital, was identified by members of his family. He is married, the father of three children, and a representative of a St. Louis, Mo., vending machine company, Sutton said.

He was reported in serious condition. Sutton said Miller had been shot in the abdomen with a .25-caliber automatic pistol, the bullet ranging upward into the left lung. He added that labels had been stripped from his clothing.

Ernest Hester, a cab driver, told DeKalb police that Miller entered his vehicle in Buckhead and asked to be taken to Emory University Hospital. Sutton said Hester further related that Miller left the cab at the rear of the hospital, telling Hester to wait.

Hester said Miller staggered to the cab 20 minutes later and directed him to drive to the E. Paces Ferry road address. As the cab reached La Vista road, on Briarcliff, he slumped forward. Hester took him back to the hospital.

Tax Men Eye Poultryman Bank Deposits

The U.S. government yesterday delved into bank records of the account of J. L. Holbrook, Cumming chicken farm operator, in an attempt to prove Holbrook guilty of charges of evading $8,091.86 in 1945 income taxes.

Government tax investigators, placed on the witness stand by Asst. U.S. Atty. J. Ellis Mundy, testified approximately $345,000 was deposited in Holbrook's account in a Cumming bank during the year.

Considering this and other financial records, the investigators said they figured Holbrook's net income for 1945 was $21,376.06 instead of the $666.83 he reported.

The investigators said $290,000 of the bank deposits were checks from meatpacking firms which apparently bought Holbrook's poultry.

A. C. Wheeler, Holbrook's attorney, is expected to present defense witnesses today.

Weighted Body Found in Water

STATESBORO, Jan. 12 (AP)—The body of an unidentified Negro man, a weight wired to his neck, was found in a water hole 12 miles south of here this afternoon.

Sheriff Stothard Deal said the man had been severely beaten. There were wounds on the head and two front teeth were missing.

The sheriff, with Sgt. E. B. Deyo of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation and County Police Chief Edgar Hart, investigated when turpentine workers discovered a portion of the body protruding from the water.

Deal said the man weighed about 160 pounds, was five feet nine inches tall and was wearing khaki clothing.

Bride-Elect To Wear Heirloom

When Miss Joan Smith weds Walter Zillessen Jr. at an afternoon ceremony on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at the Cathedral of Christ the King, she will be the fourth-generation bride to wear a fragile seed pearl necklace that originally belonged to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Rhode Hill.

Formed of dainty medallions strung on horsehair, the necklace was first worn by Mrs. Hill, and subsequently by Miss Smith's grandmother, the late Mrs. Carroll Payne, and by her mother, Mrs. Alex W. Smith.

Msgr. Joseph Cassidy will read the marriage service at 4:30 o'clock, and afterward Miss Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex W. Smith, will entertain the wedding party, the out-of-town guests and relatives of the couple at a small reception at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mr. Smith will give his daughter in marriage. With her Alencon lace-trimmed wedding gown and tulle veil, Miss Smith will wear a matching lace cap worn by Mrs. Edward Adams, the former Martha Evans, at her wedding.

Mrs. Carroll Gay will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, and Edward Adams will be best man.

William S. Woods, Clement Ford, Alex W. Smith Jr., Jack Spalding, Waldo Mallory and Joseph F. Gatins will usher.

Miss Helen Hill Willis and Miss Laura Payne Clarke will keep the bride's book at the reception.

MRS. WILLIAM B. SWINT

Before her marriage at the Park Street Methodist Church, Mrs. Swint was Carolyn Bradford Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Walton.

'Winged Victory' Sets Spring Style Pace

By AGNES McCARTY
Constitution Women's Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—The winning point of the Winged Victory silhouette is that it allows a woman to back out gracefully without losing face.

This new shape, appearing predominately in cocktail and evening clothes being shown during fashion press week by members of the New York Dress Institute's couture group, gives top attention to the back with bodices that hit just above the beltline, back pleats and dierrier lines that flow as generously as disc jockey conversation.

But the plain face of the spring look hides nothing behind its elegant back. Molded bodices, often cut low, and slim waists catch the eye with surprising detail in cut or subtle accents—a bit of sparkle or soft pleating.

Originals, an ultra-swank coat line, geared their collection to "versatility." This versatility isn't cued by the coat that goes out to sweep the porch and then sweeps into PTA meetings later in the day. Orginala's versatility is of the sort that can cruise to the Bahamas, fly to Biarritz, motor to the country club, taxi to an afternoon of shopping and still have enough versatility left to get hubby to pay the minimum $200 price tag on these flexible garments.

The most fabulous style was a full-length white Kashmir, lavish with gold bullion, pearls, sequins and tiny mirror discs. The bright raspberry satin lining was matched in an evening dress. Price, coat only, was as breathtaking as the product—$1,000.

Herbert Sondheim, after explaining that pickets guarding the door of his establishment were placed by the AFL who is organizing shipping clerks, presented some striking notes of his own with his "See It Now" collection.

Sondheim's "See It Now" design was backed by the blustery weather. The grinning, gray-haired couturier thanked the elements for helping bring home his point that fashion, unlike the climate, should never be unseasonable or unreasonable. His clothes take to year-round wear.

Cotton, in bright stripes or brilliant centered paisley print, was used for short evening dresses. Sondheim's most effective color was porcelain blue used in a blue silk chiffon cocktail dress with an all-over shirred skirt, short sleeves and bands of self-trimming. He repeated this color in a poult de soie cocktail dress with a cluster of cartridge pleats on the skirt.

Harry Frechtel, showing his line with the couture group for the first time, did his best in the little "classic suits" that were slightly nipped at the waistline. These he topped with a coat, that in his words, "is a cloudy cover for all."

Ben Zuckerman, the man who puts the pants in tailored suits for women, described his collection as having a "lily of the field glow." He backed this up by designing daytime coats that had lazy grace and were willowy slim.

Zuckerman placed emphasis on the high bosom, long tapered waistline and a slender sweep from smooth hipline to a gently flaring hem. The Zuckerman dress was planned to fit like a second skin and did—shedding only long coats or matching jackets that topped them.

Oleg Cassini, the man whose debonair wit usually has the fashion press asking for front row seats at his showings, presented the "Balcony Line." This is the very tight, high-busted silhouette that juts out with ledge-like pleating or drapery at the bust.

Cassini declared war against Paris designers who wanted to make women flat chested for 1954-55. "I ask support for my voluptuous lines," he cracked.

Scolding the press for one reporter's mistake in describing him as "an evil-looking man with a mustache, weighing 145 pounds and standing five feet two inches," he asked that the mustache description be repeated but that his figure statistics be altered to read, "six feet tall, weight, 169 pounds."

All of Cassini's clothes showed great originality and he used fine whispy wools that made his designs perennials for any season. He closed the show with a cocktail dress of peach silk that billowed out all around like the upturned tulip. This he declared was completely unsellable, but was his sincere effort to recreate the Graf Zeppelin.

His most awe-inspiring gown was of white satin, overall embroidered with red cherries. It was strapless and full length with a bright red satin, high bodice that swept around to the back where it ended in a long train. The skirt was slim.

David Bellsey's line for spring 1954 were feminine and did wonders for figures that were a bit light at the top.

LIKES WAGNER, POPS
Singer Eileen Farrell

Singer OKs Arias for Supper Clubs

By JEAN ROONEY

Singing for supper clubs, especially if it's opera arias, is a fine innovation, visiting concert singer Eileen Farrell thinks.

"More power to anyone who can make party-goers listen to opera," opines the statuesque Miss Farrell, in town to solo with the Atlanta Symphony this evening.

What's more, the black-eyed soprano is "almost as mad" for popular music as for the Wagnerian arias she will trill tonight, she reports.

In real life, Mrs. Robert Reagan, the visitor, says she's "all for" Met singers Helen Traubel and Lauritz Melchoir who recently raised grand opera's elegant roof by entering the night club circuit.

Miss Farrell raised a few eyebrows herself a few years ago when she went on the air waves.

The handsome soprano who has never sung in Metropolitan Opera and says she doesn't want to, credits her radio singing career with building up a quick audience and letting her lead a normal married life now.

On the "Telephone Hour" and other national radio shows, regularly, Miss Farrell also juggles a family and operates a sizable home neatly in Staten Island, N.Y., she reports.

Her husband, a policeman, likes music and attends her New York concerts, she says.

She limits out-of-town appearances to 10-day tours with "plenty of time in between at home."

Her children, Robbie, seven, and Kathleen, 10 months, come before career, she quickly assures.

Queen Settles Pronoun Hash

Well, I certainly am glad Queen Elizabeth has settled the hash of all the old purists who have been thrusting awkward pronouns on us down through the years.

You may have seen the story. The Queen on tour of New Zealand overheard an argument between two little girls who were standing near the royal car. They were arguing over whether the lady within was the Queen or Princess Margaret. The Queen, bless her, is said to have leaned out and settled the argument by saying, "No, it's me."

Well, her interest in the argument as well as the good maternal compulsion to stop a squabble when she can was the first thing about it that warmed my heart. Then I like the simplicity of it. She could have sent a minion forth to say, "Her Majesty wishes you to know . . . etc., etc."

Instead, as simply and easily as anything, the young queen leaned out the window and said, "No, it's me."

For years I've been struggling to remember, not always too happily, that it's I. That's what they taught me to say in my youth and that 's what I have been doggedly cramming down the throats of my children. When they call me up at the office and deepen their voices and ask for me by name, under the pleasant delusion that they have fooled my boss if he answers the phone, they always begin by saying, "Mama, it's me, Mary." Or Susan or Jimmy as the case may be. And just as automatically I've corrected them. "No, it is I." Which is silly, on the face of it. It's not I but they . . . or them?

Anyhow, since it was the queen's English originally, I guess she has a right to do what she will with pronouns and I for one favor "It's me" over "It's I."

Since the story appeared I've asked around about it and found the queen's British subjects have been using "it's me" for a great many years and, in fact, the National Council of Teachers of English once acknowledged it as an American idiom.

Now we may all feel perfectly comfortable about singing the old spiritual, "It's me, it's me Oh Lord, standing in the need of prayer."

While the queen's about it I wish she would straighten out a few other little grammatical items that have been bothering me. Whom, for instance. I'm never quite sure when to use whom and when to use who and have finally resorted to the policy of sticking in whom when I feel that the company warrants an extra dash of elegance. Whom may not strike you as a plushier word than who but where I came from we didn't use it for strictly utilitarian every day wear. So now I feel as uneasy with it as in borrowed finery at one of those receptions where you don't know a soul in the receiving line.

The queen would do me a great favor if she would abolish whom from her language because, as crazy as most of us Americans are about the sound of British speech, there'd be no trouble about getting whom dropped over here. Then we could all go about saying cheerfully, "Who did you say it is?" and answering, "It's me. Just me."

Difference in Religion Poses Problem for Couple

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 35, and for 10 years I have been in love with a man of different religious faith. During these years I have stopped seeing him several times because of this problem. I haven't seen him now for two months; and unless I change my faith, it is goodbye forever.

I have had three other proposals of marriage, and could have had more if I were interested. But I have carefully analyzed my feelings and know that it will be impossible for me to have a normal, happy life if married to anyone other than John.

If I had no parents I would have married John 10 years ago. I had no religious schooling in my own faith and was a believer only half the time or less. It is only through association with John that I have found religious help and comfort; and his is the one religion I prefer.

But it is one thing to change one's faith without hurting anyone; and another thing to bring disgrace and sorrow on one's parents; and to be ostracized by relatives, friends who never would forgive me for changing my religion, and never would accept my husband.

What shall I do? C. L.

DEAR C. L.: In all probability the problem is that you are afraid to get married, period. Your attachment to your parents, and subjugation to their views, seems infantile. Such undeveloped character is to be expected, perhaps, in a daughter whose parents are arbitrary, autocratic and hysterical in their governing rule—which is the picture of home life your letter shows.

By the time a person is 35, his (or her) search for the meaning of life, if it leads him to a change of religious faith or practice, cannot possibly be an occasion of "disgrace and sorrow" to sensible parents—provided, of course, that the new faith and new way of life are compatible with human decency. And from what you say, John's creed is good—in the sense that it affords you "religious help and comfort" such as you've not found in your parents' faith, which at most you've only half-accepted.

As I see your dilemma, you are penalized by social immaturity and moral cowardice. You are limply standing by your parents' creed, in fear of their disapproval if you follow an independent choice. And you are weakly refraining from acting on the faith you have, namely, faith in John's religious approach to God, and the conviction that you could have a normal, happy life if married to him. But as for what to do—only you can decide that.

Bringing Up Baby

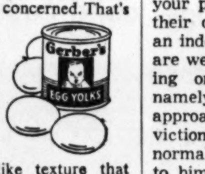
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Babies, like all of us, do come down with minor ailments from time to time. When your baby is convalescing from an upset remember:

1. It takes time for baby to get well. Your worry won't hasten recovery.
2. It's just as well for baby to eat less. He'll ask for more food as soon as his system is ready for it.
3. Don't try new foods at this time. Never wake him for a feeding.

• • •

Color catches the eye...even where the very young are concerned. That's probably one of the reasons so many wee ones take to sunny-colored Gerber's Strained Egg Yolks. Other good reasons: Gerber's Egg Yolks have a creamy, custard-like texture that feels good on the tongue...plus a delicious fresh-egg flavor. Rich in iron and Vitamin A and a good protein source. Heat-sterilized for protection, too! 2 tablespoons equal 1 egg yolk. And no wasted whites.



• • •

For sweeter dreams. Before lullabying baby to sleep, be sure his diaper and nighty are not too tight. Check to see that he has at least 2 fingers of space between him and his clothes.

• • •

For eager eating. When your doctor says: "Cereals," you'll appreciate Gerber's new Cereal "Quads." Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Cereal Food (a mixed cereal) are now available in small-size boxes, all packaged together for added convenience. Like Gerber's regular-size Cereals, the "Quads" are enriched with iron, calcium and B-Vitamins ...have the smooth, easy-to-swallow texture and mild flavors babies love.

German Botanist Gives Tips On African Violet Care

By YOLANDE GWIN

Having trouble with your African violets?

An expert and authority on them, Max Nagler, gives some valuable information of their care. Mr. Nagler, German born, holds a B.S. degree in horticulture and attended college in Berlin before coming to America in the late twenties to begin additional study and research work. He was on the horticultural staff of Cornell University. He lives at Fair Oaks Gardens in Marietta.

What Mr. Nagler believes to be one of the best varieties as a house plant is the "Flame" which requires a temperature of 60 degrees or more.

"One of the common mistakes made by novice growers is the watering method. Never water plants from the bottom. That is, never sit them in water to get the soil wet," he said.

"Apply warm water from the top with a small watering can or best with a rubber bulb syringe. Flood the soil until water begins to drain out through the bottom. Plants should be watered every day.

USE CLAY POTS

Always use regular clay pots with a drainage hole. The five-inch pot is about average. If you have only a few plants it is a good idea to use real large pots, but of course, the size of the pot should be complementary to the size of the plant. Pots may be placed inside a glazed container, fancy crockery, glass bowl or painted pot.

This will reduce excessive evaporation and add in attraction. But never allow any water to stay in these containers. Leaving pots permanently sitting in water is the surest way to kill any plant.

Mr. Nagler considers transplanting very necessary, in fact four months intervals are suggested. He says:

"Plants should be removed from pots. Shake off loose soil. This is a good time to remove side crowns or suckers. Then cut off all old leaves and give plants a thorough cleaning. Pots should be cleaned and sterilized in hot water.

EASY METHODS

"Fill enough new soil in the bottom of the pot so when the plant rests with its root system comfortably on top of this soil, the base of the crown is level with the edge of the pot. Then fill the soil around the roots, firm the plant in the center with thumb and forefinger of both hands, level the soil and tap the root gently up and down on a board or table to settle soil in natural position.

"Then apply warm water with a spreader or a syringe with a spray attached until the water starts to drain from the bottom. Warm water should be applied every day from then on for proper care and growth."

Mr. Nagler's booklet now on sale on "How To Make African Violets Bloom" is sure to be a best seller, in as much as it contains "all the answers."

Wolf-Whistling Parakeet Causes Fun, Chagrin

By DOTTY LUNDY
Constitution Staff Writer

ALBANY, Jan. 12—Having a parakeet around the house that emits wolf whistles can lead to embarrassing situations.

Recently Mrs. Henry T. West of 909 Residence Ave., called a telephone repair man to her home. After hearing several shrill sounds usually evoked by bold necklines and brief hemlines, the red-faced handyman was about to accuse the lady of the house of being fresh. Then he discovered the whistler was sky-feathered Mr. Blue.

BIG TALKER

The perky parakeet is a big talker with a vocabulary of about 25 words. He's the only vocal member of Mrs. West's 60-bird garage aviary of canaries and parakeets. The other parakeets can't talk, because she acquired them past the retentive stage. Six weeks is the best age to teach the brides, as soon as they're "weaned" from their mothers, according to Mrs. West.

"And females will talk," she declares. "The idea that they won't is a mistaken one among most bird fanciers." Mrs. West began repeating phrases over and over to Mr. Blue every night, like "Where is Henry?" (her husband) and "I'm a pretty boy." She held back on a mirror for his cage, lest Mr. Blue should preen his feathers and neglect his lessons. But she believes good scholars deserve a peck of sugar.

CLUB ORGANIZER

Mrs. West, who once wanted to be a veterinarian, is the wife of a retired Air Force sergeant. She was instrumental in organizing the Sowega Bird Club last summer which she believes is the only one of its kind in the state. She also serves as the club's first president. Composed of Southwest Georgia Bird breeders, a veterinarian and health officials, the group is organized to check fowl diseases, regulate breeding and band the birds for a lifetime record.

Though her parakeets are finger tamed, they'll fly the coop if you aren't careful, says Mrs. West.

Oldest Study Club Observes Anniversary

Atlanta's oldest study club, the History Class of 1884, is 70 years old this year, and by way of celebration, the class will hold a meeting Friday afternon at the Driving Club which will be followed by tea.

Guests on this occasion will be members of the two next oldest study clubs, the Every Saturday Club and the 19th Century History Class. Membership in the hostess organization is limited to 20, and Mrs. Harold Wey is president.

George T. Pappageorge will give an illustrated lecture on Greece, the program tying in with the club's subject for the year, "Civilizations of the Mediterranean World."

The History Class meets every other Friday afternoon. A program committee selects a study topic for the year, and each member presents one paper on the subject. Many on the present class roster are second-generation members.

RENEWING a friendship dating from World War II when he was stationed at Atlanta's Naval Air Station, movie actor Tyrone Power lunched yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Tompkins at their W. Wesley road residence. Guests included other members of the troupe of "John Brown's Body," Miss Anne Baxter, Raymond Massey and Bill Gallagher.

JOINING MISS HELEN SOBEL of New York and other bridge cronies, Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar left last week for Miami, where she is the guest of bridge expert Charles Goren at the winter home he recently purchased there.

Before returning home Mrs. Wagar will visit that former Atlantan, Mrs. Harold Johnson, and Mr. Johnson of Louisville, Ky., at their winter home at Delray Beach.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID T. ELLIS have returned from Mexico City, where they visited their son, David N. Ellis, who is a student at Mexico City College, having transferred there from Oglethorpe University for the study of the Spanish language and Mexican history.

ANOTHER ATLANTAN just back from Mexico City is Walter C. Hill, who was a guest at Hotel del Prado there for 10 days.

MRS. SPANN MILNER and Mrs. W. M. King spent yesterday in Lavonia where the former addressed the Lavonia PTA on "Americanism." Mrs. Milner has been chosen Woman of the Year in Civic Service.

MRS. JAMES C. DAVIS had made all her plans to leave yesterday by motor to join Congressman Davis in Washington, D.C., but due to icy roads in the Carolinas and Virginia, she had to postpone her trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have taken an apartment in the Coronet, just one block from the Capitol, for the next six months.

FRIENDS of those former Atlantans, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ware of Augusta, will be interested to learn that their young son, Cobby, who is quite a golfer for his 15 years, won the championship of Lady's Island Country Club at Beaufort, S.C., last week by defeating Ed Samuel of Beaufort by two strokes.

Cobby has won the Augusta Country Club Pee Wee tournament for two years and was runner-up last year in the City Junior tournament. But this was his first victory over grown-ups. His trophy will be presented at a banquet to be held tomorrow evening at Lady's Island Club.

HOSPITAL NOTES—Mrs. John A. Beall is at Emory Hospital for a cataract operation. . . . Theron Adams is at Emory Hospital following an operation.

BACK IN RESIDENCE at 734 Kennolia Dr., SW, are Brig. Gen. and Mrs. F. B. Hodson after an absence of two and a half months on the West Coast.

The Hodsons visited their son, Capt. Fremont B. Hodson Jr., and Mrs. Hodson at San Diego, Calif., where the former is stationed. They also visited in Laguna Beach, San Mateo and San Francisco before going to Oregon, Washington and Idaho to visit friends and relatives.

CHARLES E. CRUZE JR. leaves this week for Columbus, where he has been transferred by Southern Bell Telephone Co. Mrs. Cruze and their daughters, Delores and Jeannine, will join him there later.

DAILY GUIDE — This could turn out to be quite a day of interesting developments. Even if you are not touched personally by some of the exciting action and reaction, you can feel the curious undercurrents of stimulation through newspapers, radio or TV. These are highly charged electrical currents, so don't go barging around without regard for safety or courtesy to the other fellow. You might get the surprise of your life! Some new records for speed, or an invention of a startling type could be announced. Be ready in your own personal dealings for new ideas, new ways, new people to interest.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CAPRICORN! There can be plenty of action around you this week, so be ready to respond with quick thinking, but do not take an irresponsible attitude; relationships with others are now important, so either break cleanly from a partnership, or find a completely new approach. In May such relationships are bound to improve and your luck may come through other people rather than through your own efforts. Keep your own temperament under control, and don't let others upset you. Watch out for deceptive appearances. Don't set your ambitions too high. Capricornians like to climb right to the top!

Lunch Clubs Make Dieting A More Sporting Proposition

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The alert businessman is well aware of the dangers of excess poundage, and more or les determined to cope with calories. But diet has always been strong medicine for a man, particularly at lunch when he's on his own.

So to make it more of a sporting proposition, some of the overweight boys are forming exclusive luncheon clubs and eat together every working day. The spirit of camaradie among dieters more than makes up for the absent piece of apple pie a la mode. As an added incentive, the dieters have a small wager on the side—and the best loser wins.

In a large city where the members of one such lunch club are scattered, they can meet only once a week. So to keep enthusiasm up and calories down, they make the kitty worth working for. They meet on Mondays and each puts a dollar in the kitty. Then with much good - natured joshing, they weigh in and the best loser takes all. The boys have a lot of fun losing.

TOUGH TIME

If you're having a tough time curbing calories, particularly at lunch, why not try that sociable way and enjoy dieting? If you are with an organization where there is a dietitian in charge of meals, enlist her co-operation. But if there is no dietitian to cut calories for the club, and you're on your own when it comes to ordering, here are the nutrition guides:

The backbone of any reducing mail is protein, so have lean meat, fish or chicken, or seafood, cheese or eggs. Protein foods are made to order for dieters. Not only do they stick to the ribs and afford an energy carryover, but protein also stimulates the burning of calories. Be sure to start the day with a good breakfast.

A good rule to go by in dodging calories is: if a dish is prepared with sugar or flour, skip it. That means all casserole and cream sauce foods are out. Order a protein food, plus two vegetables or a salad (light on the dressing) and a beverage. Perhaps you can even add fruit or cheese if the vegetables are low in calories.

SAMPLE FOR MEN'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Citrus Fruit juice, 5 oz.; Choice of: Eggs (1 or 2), Toast, 1 slice; Butter, ½ pat, or Hot Cereal, ¾ cup; Whole Milk, ½ cup. Sugar 1 tsp.; Coffee, black.

LUNCHEON: Choice of: Hamburger on Bun, mustard or Grilled Chop with Vegetable; Baked Ham on rye—mustard; Slice Tomato or Cole Slaw; Dessert: Small Serving Fruit; Glass of Buttermilk, Milk or Coffee if desired.

DINNER: Choice of: Beef Stew with Vegetables, generous cupful, or Roast Lamb or Beef—2 large slices—fat trimmed; Choose one 40-calorie Vegetable—½ cup: Diced carrots, or beets, winter squash; Large Combination Green Salad, Special Dressing, plus ¾ oz. wedge of cheese; Grilled half Grapefruit with Honey; Coffee or Tea.

Total Calories for Day—1,085—1,145.

NOTE: Man may add 150 calories to day's total—perhaps in fluffy baked potato with butter, or—ONE cocktail.

If you wish TAKE YOUR CHOICE DIET and Mr. and Mrs. Daily Double Diet, send self-addressed long envelope. Address request to IDA JEAN KAIN; care of this newspaper.

Stop Taking Harsh Drugs for Constipation

Avoid Intestinal Upset! Get Relief This Gentle Vegetable Laxative Way!

For constipation, never take harsh drugs. They cause brutal cramps and griping, disrupt normal bowel action, make repeated doses seem needed.

When you are temporarily constipated, get sure but gentle relief—without salts, without harsh drugs. Take Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative contained in Syrup Pepsin. The extract of Senna in Dr. Caldwell's is one of the finest natural laxatives known to medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative tastes good, gives gentle, comfortable, satisfying relief of temporary constipation for every member of the family. Helps you get "on schedule" without repeated doses. Even relieves stomach sourness that constipation often brings.

Buy Dr. Caldwell's. Money back if not satisfied. Mail bottle to Box 280, New York 18, N. Y.

REDUCED FEEL GRAND

ALBANY, GA.—"I have been taking Anaro Concentrate for reducing for just a short time but have already lost 10 lbs. I feel grand, for this safe Anaro home recipe way to reduce has also taken out all the bloat and gas discomfort which I used to be bothered with. I can truly recommend Anaro to anyone wanting to lose those uncomfortable and dangerous pounds of extra fat." So writes Mrs. H. C. Giles, 1209 Eager Ave.

Your druggist has liquid ANARO. Ask for free booklet. ANARO has been proven and recommended by thousands of your Georgia neighbors. Satisfaction guaranteed with the first bottle or send to manufacturer for refund. You'll not be hungry reducing with ANARO. Costs only $1.40.

Hillside Cottages To Install New President

Mrs. F. O. Brooks will be installed as president of the women's board of Hillside Cottages at ceremonies at 3 p.m. Thursday in McBurney Cottage, 690 Courtney Dr, NE.

The board is responsible for management of the cottages which give temporary housing to wards of Fulton County Juvenile Court and Welfare Department, Mrs. Brooks explained. The cottages are a Community Chest agency, she said.

Other new officers are Mrs. C. D. LeBey, vice president; Mrs. Thomas McPherson, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Ingraham Jr., Mrs. Carl Johnston and Mrs. Lewis Clark, secretaries, and Mrs. Maynard Smith, Kiwanis Club liaison.

A tea honoring the cottages' trustees and their wives will follow installation of officers. Mrs. J. Wallace Carpenter is outgoing board president.

THE WORRY CLINIC

By Dr. George Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

A family counseling authority, Dr. Crane relates many actual cases that have come to his attention to give understandable answers to the many problems of today. You'll find many parallels to your own dilemmas in articles on marriage, child cases, business strategy, nervous ills and personality cases.

Over 50,000 readers are now following the sound advice of Dr. Crane and his "Worry Clinic."

AT FOX—Jane Powell portrays the girl in "Three Sailors and a Girl," a technicolor musical beginning Friday at the Fox. The sailors are Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson and Jack Leonard.

AT RIALTO—Rita Hayworth plays the title role in "Miss Sadie Thompson," a 3-D drama based on Somerset Maugham's famed story, "Rain." It opens tomorrow at the Rialto.

AT PARAMOUNT—Dorothy Malone appears with Mark Stevens in "Jack Slade," an Allied Artist Western which opens tomorrow at the Paramount Theater.

Gali Gali Opens Legerdemain Act At Henry Grady

Gali Gali, Egyptian magician whose legerdemain has excited the interest of televiewers and cabaret crowds from Las Vegas to New York, will open tomorrow in the Henry Grady Hotel as star of the new revue.

Featured in the new program with him will be Jack Mathers, who was featured as singer on the Chance of a Lifetime television show, and Doris and Lee Storm, a young dancing team.

Brenda and Valenti, European comedy team, closes its 14-day engagement to open in the famed Palace Theater in New York City.

Legion Posts Honored For Membership Drive

Two of the state's American Legion posts have won awards in recognition of accomplishments in a membership drive.

East Atlanta Post No. 159 was awarded a National Honor Ribbon. The Bolton Post No. 156 was awarded a Meritorious Service Citation.

CONSTIPATED?

If you suffer from constipation, don't miss reading this letter from Bess Durham!

"Honestly, I'm like a new person these days," smiles Bess Durham, Memphis, Tenn. "I used to suffer something awful from constipation. Couldn't seem to get relief from the laxatives I was using for half the day or so. And then I discovered Sal Hepatica. What a wonderful friend it's been. Why, if I wake up feeling logy and constipated, I take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast, and get gentle, speedy relief usually within an hour!"

Yes, that's how to avoid "Laxative Lag"* with Sal Hepatica. Sal Hepatica gives quiet, speedy, gentle relief from constipation ... sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Gentle, speedy
SAL HEPATICA
Saline, Antacid Laxative

*Laxative Lag—that feeling of discomfort that continues for hours until ordinary, slow-acting laxatives bring relief.

The figures of Old Colony Trust Company, which is beneficially owned by the stockholders of The First National Bank of Boston, are not included in the above statement. The figures of Foreign Branches, in their dollar equivalents, are included.

The Argentine Branches, like all other commercial banks in Argentina, by law receive and pay deposits only as Agent of the Central Bank of the Argentine Republic, and The First National Bank of Boston has no liability to depositors therefor. Such funds are included in "Deposits," inasmuch as the Branches service them as Agent. The offsetting account with the Argentine Central Bank, less liability to that bank for funds utilised in conducting the banking business under Argentine law, is contained in "Cash and Due from Banks."

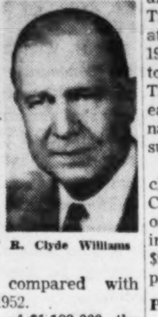
E. D. Smith, R. C. Williams Elevated by First National

Edward D. Smith, Atlanta attorney and civic leader, has been elected president of The First National Bank of Atlanta. At the same time, R. Clyde Williams, president of the bank since 1945, was elevated to the position of vice chairman.

Edward D. Smith



R. Clyde Williams

The elections were announced yesterday by James D. Robinson Jr., chairman of the board of the bank, following the annual meeting of the stockholders. All other officers and directors were reelected.

ALABAMA BORN

Smith was born in Birmingham, in 1912, and moved with his parents to Atlanta seven years later. He attended Marist College and Boys High School, and in 1932 received his A.B. degree from Emory University.

Following graduation from Harvard Law School in 1935, he became associated with the Atlanta law firm of Smith, Kilpatrick, Cody, Rogers and McClatchey. He has continued as a member of this firm until the present.

Smith is currently serving as president of the Metropolitan Atlanta Community Services, Inc., and served as general chairman of the Greater Atlanta Community Chest for 1951 and 1952.

LAWYERS CLUB

He is also president of the Lawyers Club of Atlanta, past president of the Executives Association of Atlanta and of the Piedmont Driving Club, and is a member of the Capital City Club, Atlanta Bar Assn., Georgia Bar Assn., American Bar Assn., American Law Institute and the Georgia State Board of Bar Examiners.

During World War II he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve as an air combat intelligence officer.

The son of the late E. D. Smith Sr., he is a communicant of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Phillip. He and his family reside at 3540 Woodhaven Rd., NW.

Williams, the new vice-chairman, has been associated with The First National Bank of Atlanta since 1925, at which time he came as credit manager from the War Finance Corp. He is a native of Alabama.

He was elected vice president of the bank in 1926, executive vice president in 1938 and became president in 1945.

Williams is a director of Exposition Cotton Mills, Atlantic Co., Central of Georgia Railway Co., Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. and a trustee of the Maryland Casualty Co., Baltimore.

STOCK REPORT

In a report to shareholders, Robinson pointed out that in 1953 the bank had net earnings of $2,011,042.73 as compared with $1,608,918.69 in 1952.

After dividends of $1,120,000, the remainder of the year's earnings, amounting to $891,042.73, were retained in the bank's undivided profits account, bringing its total capital funds to over $22 million.

Robinson said, "It is currently evident that readjustments in business as earlier predicted are taking place and that this trend will continue for some months. . . . All business, including ours, will become more competitive."

The chairman reported a number of expansions carried out by the bank last year, at the main office at Five Points and at branch offices here.

Founded in 1865, The First National Bank of Atlanta is among the 100 largest financial institutions in the nation. Its resources as of Dec. 31 amounted to $376,359,071.87.

C&S Reports Peak Income In Operation

The Citizens and Southern National Bank yesterday reported the best operating income record in the history of the bank.

Mills B. Lane Jr., president, told stockholders at their annual meeting in Savannah that operating income over expenses reached an all-time high of $4,677,000 in 1953, an increase of $981,000 over the previous year.

During the year the bank elected to rearrange its government bond holdings, Lane said. At the end of 1953 the market value of government bonds had stood at $641,000 below their cost.

By selling these bonds, net earnings for 1953 were reduced by $233,000. Lane said the bank immediately reinvested in other government bonds, however, with the result their market value at the end of 1953 was $1,529,000 in excess of the value at which they were carried on the bank's year-end statement.

Net earnings included the stockholders' interest in the Citizens and Southern Holding Co. were $2.86 per share, compared with $3.25 the previous year. Dividends for the year increased to $1.35 per share, compared with $1.25 in 1952.

Deposits of all C&S banks in Georgia were $424,926,000 at the end of 1953, compared with $426,398,000 a year earlier.

In addition to copies of the bank's annual report, stockholders received an 11-page independent audit of the bank's management and policies.

The audit, conducted by the American Institute of Management, ranked the C&S among the 18 excellently managed banks it has examined, giving it a rating of 1,345 points over and above the 7,500 required for excellence.

The C&S operates in Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Athens and Valdosta. C&S affiliate banks are located in Dublin, LaGrange, Thomaston, Albany, Atlanta, East Point, Buckhead and Emory University.

All directors and officers were re-elected at the meeting.

Trust Co. Reports Top Net Earnings

The highest earnings in the 63-year history of the Trust Company of Georgia were reported to stockholders at their annual meeting in Atlanta yesterday.

John A. Sibley, chairman of the board, told stockholders that consolidated net earnings, after taxes, of the Trust Company of Georgia and its wholly owned subsidiary, Trust Company of Georgia Associates, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1953, were $1,771,000, as compared to $1,651,000 in the previous year. This amount did not include net earnings of $227,000 of Trusco Finance Company, a wholly owned subsidiary.

Dividends of $800,000 were declared to shareholders of the Trust Company of Georgia, an increase of $80,000 over the amount declared in 1952. During the year just ended, $920,000 was added to the undivided profits of the bank.

PROFIT SHARING

At their annual meeting, the stockholders of the Trust Company of Georgia voted approval of a profit-sharing plan for employes which had been recommended unanimously by the board of directors. The plan is designed to augment retirement benefits, and to give all employes of the Trust Company and its two wholly owned subsidiaries the opportunity to invest in securities of their own company.

All employes of the Trust Company of Georgia, Trust Company of Georgia Associates and Trusco Finance Company—except the incumbent chairman of the board and president of the bank—will be eligible to participate after completing one year of continuous service with any of the three companies.

Commenting on the monetary situation, Sibley told the stockholders "that a notable factor in our financial history for the year 1953 was the free and independent functioning of our Federal Reserve System, in the control of money and credit. We have seen demonstrated during the year that quantitative credit controls are powerful weapons for curbing inflationary forces.

IMELY STEPS

"The action of the Federal Reserve Board in 1953," he said, "reflected an awareness of the inflationary evils coupled with the necessary courage and good judgment to take timely steps toward stabilizing the value of the dollar and, at the same time, providing sufficient money and credit to meet the legitimate and growing requirements of agriculture, industry and commerce.

"The flexibility and wisdom of the Federal Reserve operations were well demonstrated in 1953. Prior to June the policy was to curtail reserve credit in order to curb inflation as evidenced by the rediscount rate increase and the almost complete withdrawal of support from the market of United States Government securities.

"By midyear an expansion of reserve credit was indicated by lowering requirements and by purchase of government securities, to facilitate seasonal crop movements, to assure the success of necessary Treasury financing, and to support our economy at a high level of activity."

THE PACKARD PATRICIAN FOUR-DOOR LUXURY FAMILY SEDAN FOR 1954

Features New 212-Horsepower Engine With 8.7 to 1 Compression Ratio

Packard Puts New Series on View Friday

The 1954 Packard automobiles, featuring a brand-new series added to the Clipper line, will go on display Friday in dealer showrooms here and throughout the nation.

The Clipper Super series includes the Panama, a hardtop convertible, Super club sedan and Super four-door sedan. Other Clippers are in the De luxe and Special series.

The new series expands the company's coverage of the medium price field with models ranging upward in price from $2,500.

LUXURY LINE

Seven models are featured in the luxury line of Packards. They include a new hardtop, the Pacific; a convertible coupe, two-family sedans, an eight-passenger executive sedan, a custom-built Caribbean sports car and a chauffeur-driven model.

Four engines are offered in the various models. These are the 150-horsepower Clipper Special, the 165-hp. Clipper De luxe, the 185-hp. Cavalier and the 212-hp. Packard engine. The latter is a completely new engine and has a compression ratio of 8.7 to 1, highest in the industry. All four engines are straight eights.

SHIFT GONE

Packard's Ultramatic no-shift transmission has been made standard equipment on almost all the Packard line. Air conditioning, power steering, power brakes and new power seat control will be available on all models. Also offered for the first time as special equipment are tubeless tires.

The new 212-hp. engine is Packard's leading mechanical innovation for 1954, and is said to deliver greater passing ability at the critical driving speeds of 40 to 70 miles an hour than any engine the firm has built in its 55-year history.

The 1954 models will be on display in the Atlanta area Friday at Atlanta Packard Motors, Inc., 370 Peachtree St., NE.

Firmness Pulls Stocks Out of Sag

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—The stock market with a fair showing of firmness today was able to reverse a four-day losing trend.

There wasn't too much enthusiasm about the market's performance as testified by its narrowness and moderate volume.

Best gains ran to around 2 points in significant areas, and a majority of stocks were ahead at the close.

Not many features appeared during the day. Several large blocks were on the tape.

MOPAC IN DEMAND

Missouri Pacific preferred was in demand and closed with a gain of 3⅝ at 44½ after hitting a high of 44⅞. Attention was focused on the stock after Guy A. Thompson, trustee of the road, said he was going to try to speed up its reorganization, a process that now has been under way for more than 20 years.

For the most part the day was a selective affair with buyers responding to lower prices posted in the past four days of decline. It was felt by many brokers that the market must show much more vigor than it did today in order to convince traders and others that a rally is being attempted.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 80 cents at $108.80. Yesterday it was down 60 cents.

BEST SHOWING

The railroad component of the average made the best showing with a rise of $1. The industrials were up 90 cents, and the utilities firmed 10 cents.

Only 1,000 individual issues were traded, lowest since mid-November and 27 under yesterday's total. However, 581 stocks of that total advanced and 229 declined with 14 new highs and 8 new lows for 1953-54 touched during the session.

Volume came to 1,250,000 shares as compared with 1,220,000 shares traded yesterday.

A lot of that was made up of large blocks. Niagara Mohawk Power topped the list of most active issues unchanged at 27⅝ with 41,700 shares traded. Included in that total were two blocks amounting to 21,000 shares at 27⅝.

Grantville's Banks on Fulton Mills' Board

William N. Banks, president of Grantville Mills and a widely known figure in the Southern textile industry, was elected a member of the board of directors of Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills yesterday.

Norman E. Elsas, board chairman of the firm, announced Banks' election following a meeting of the directors at the company's headquarters in Atlanta.

CottonSteady; House Buying

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Cotton futures moved through a quiet session today and closed unchanged to 35 cents a bale higher. Trade and commission house buying was active on the opening and led to moderate gains. The demand was soon filled and prices later backed away from the day's best levels on hedging and profit-taking.

There was not much activity in new crop months as Washington reports indicated some cotton congressmen will oppose the compromised measure boosting the 1954 cotton acreage allotment because it applies only to the 1954 crop. Opponents of the pending bill were said to want permanent legislation as a safeguard against any future drastic cut in acreage.

The FOA issued an authorization of $700,000 to Israel to buy cotton here. Contracting period is Jan. 15-March 31, with June 15 the final delivery date for the cotton.

Private advices to a leading spot firm said that mill buying of spot cotton improved during the past week.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced Tuesday on trade buying and short covering. Closing prices were steady 15 cents to 35 cents a bale higher.

COMMERCIAL COMMENT

Consumer Buying Shows November Dip

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Georgia consumers tightened up their purse strings in November.

Their buying during the month at department, furniture and household appliance stores in the state was characterized by a predominantly downward movement.

Both department and furniture stores suffered declines in sales from November, 1952, although household appliance stores registered a gain in this period.

Department store business in the state fell off 1 per cent when a 6 per cent drop in cash sales more than offset a 4 per cent gain in charge sales and a 1 per cent advance in installment transactions.

Atlanta was the only Georgia city with available department store data to enjoy a higher dollar volume of sales last November than in the same month of 1952. Although cash sales in the capital city fell off 4 per cent, department store sales climbed 2 per cent over the year ago mark as a result of gains in both charge and installment sales.

In contrast, Augusta department stores sustained a 14 per cent sales decline, while both Macon and Rome recorded a 4 per cent decrease.

In its retail trade and credit report released for publication today, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta also noted that November sales at reporting Georgia furniture stores skidded 9 per cent below the November, 1952 mark.

This was the 11th consecutive month that these outlets have recorded a lower dollar volume of sales than in the same month a year earlier.

Macon furniture store sales experienced the largest decline—21 per cent. Atlanta and Columbus registered drops of 9 and 8 per cent respectively, while Savannah sales remained at the same level as a year ago.

Contrasting with the decline in department and furniture store business was a 13 per cent rise in total sales at reporting Georgia household appliance stores. Those in Atlanta enjoyed a 27 per cent increase in November over the year ago level.

Reporting retail outlets in the Sixth District as a whole enpoyed relatively better business last November than did their counterparts in Georgia.

Fulton Bank Lists Overall Gains for '53

Outstanding growth in earnings, capital structure, deposits, loans and in the number of persons using its services were reported to stockholders of the Fulton National Bank at the annual meeting yesterday.

The report was made by Clarence Haverty, chairman of the board, and Erle Cocke, president.

Net profits per share of $10 par value stock were $3.42 in 1953 compared to $2.92 in 1952. "Such profits," they said, "after all other expenses and before federal income taxes totaled $1,250,311.83 in 1953, a gain of 20.44 per cent over the $1,038,106.08 reported in 1952.

TAX INCREASE

"Estimated federal income taxes of $556,000 for the year 1953, represents an increase of 24.9 per cent over the previous year. Net profits for the year, after provision for all expenses including income taxes were $684,311.83 as against $585,084.57 in 1952, an increase of 16.96 per cent."

Cocke pointed out that the 1953 net earnings were up approximately 20 per cent over the past 10-year average, despite the fact that federal taxes for the year 1953 have nearly doubled the average annual tax payments during this 10-year period.

NEW ISSUE

Haverty commented on the increase in the capital structure through the recently completed issue of 50,000 additional shares of stock. This will increase the combined capital account, including reserves, to more than $10,000,000. He said the increase will enable the bank to do its full share in financing the increased expansion of business, commerce, industry and agriculture in the areas we serve.

Deposits were $138,193,268.63 as of Dec. 31, 1953, an increase of $3,649,887.70 over previous year end. Cocke attributed much of this increase to the fact that many new customers have been attracted by the convenience of the Fulton's 10 banking locations, including the new neighborhood offices which were established during 1951 and 1952.

MAIN POINT

"Particularly gratifying," said Cocke, "is the increase of more than $100,000,000 in the past 15 years."

Loans to businesses and individuals increased more than $3,500,000 during the year, reflecting the high volume of business activity in this area. They rose from $40,508,703.73 at the close of 1952 to $44,070,367.23 at the 1953 year end.

The 16-page printed annual report of the bank, which was signed jointly by Haverty and Cocke, pointed out exceptional growth in every department.

BUILDING PROGRESS

"Good progress has been made on our new main office at Marietta and Forsyth streets," said Cocke. "Excavation is now complete and the steel erection is scheduled to start this week.

"Continued high volume operations in our business economy in 1954 seems reasonable thinking at this time," Cocke said, "and we look forward to a continued strong demand for commercial loans, particularly in the Southeast, due to continued expansions in this area."

Business in Brief

E. F. Andrews, president of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, will address the Purchasing Agents' Association of Georgia at its meeting tonight at the Red Fez Club. Andrews, who is director of purchases for the Pittman-Moore Division of Allied Laboratories of Indianapolis, will discuss "Selling Purchasing." He will be accompanied on the Atlanta visit by two of the national group's district vice presidents: George R. Bosworth, City of New Orleans purchasing agent, and John Crawford of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada. Wives of the Georgia purchasing agents will be guests at the dinner meeting.

COST ACCOUNTANTS

Directors of the Atlanta Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants will hold a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p.m. today at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Douglas Hampson, controller for the American Bakeries Co. and president of the local chapter, will preside.

INVESTMENT FORUMS

A series of "investment forums" which started last night at the Atlanta office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane will continue tonight and tomorrow night at the firm's office, 25 Pryor St., NE. Beginning at 7:30 p.m., each forum will last about an hour and a half. They are designed to acquaint the public with the functions of the New York Stock Exchange and fundamental facts about security investments. Each forum will be complete within itself. Reservations should be made in advance.

TEMPORARY DUTIES

John Robertson of Atlanta, manager of the staff accounting department at the Georgia Division of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., left Monday to assume temporary duties for the next six months as consultant for the advisory committee on fiscal organization and procedures for the Defense department, Washington. Robert E. Gross, Lockheed president and board chairman, heads the committee. During Robertson's absence, Charles Laubacher will take over his duties.

YOUNG JOINS WHITE

Nyram L. Young has resigned his position as vice president in charge of safety for the Georgia Motor Trucking Assn., Inc., to become factory representative for The White Motor Co. in Florida. Formerly executive vice president of GMTA, Young resigned that post in March of 1952 to enter private business, and returned a year later in the safety capacity.

SANDELIN APPOINTED

Dr. R. W. Sandelin has been appointed technical director for the Alloy Metal Wire Co. division of H. K. Porter Co., Inc., Prospect Park, Pa. He was at one time chief metallurgist for the Atlantic Steel Co. in Atlanta. In his new capacity Dr. Sandelin will head the metallurgical department and be responsible for quality control.

SALES DEMONSTRATION

C. Ed Johnson, executive special agent of the New York Underwriters Insurance Co., will present a sales demonstration of use and occupancy insurance at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Association of Insurance Agents at 12:15 p.m. tomorrow at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Rail Merger Viewed as Possibility

SAVANNAH, Jan. 12 (AP)—The creation of a vast new rail network was envisioned today in a suggestion that the Central of Georgia might merge with the St. Louis-San Francisco (Frisco) Railway Co.

The 1,700-mile Central operates in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. It would connect at Birmingham with the 5,000-mile Frisco with trackage in Missouri, Tennessee, Kansas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida.

Rumors that the two lines might consolidate have been recurrent in Wall Street for several weeks. Asked about them today, A. W. Ledbetter, Central of Georgia chairman, said:

"The two properties would complement each other extremely well. There is considerable interest being evidenced at the present time. Collateral benefits, in addition to geographical advantages, are quite numerous."

In St. Louis, Frisco president Clark Hungerford said officials of his line are studying the possible benefits of a merger with Central "or acquisition by Frisco of the property."

"We haven't arrived at any definite conclusion yet," he reported. "Just when we will depends on the length of time for the study to be completed."

Hungerford added that the working out of procedure naturally would await a decision on whether to amalgamate the two systems.

Grain Prices Slide Lower

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP)—Grain prices slid lower on the Board of Trade today, all cereals except wheat giving up more than they had gained in the previous session.

Best prices were rung up at or immediately after the opening. From then on trading puttered along at a slow pace with the main trend unmistakably downward. In many cases lows for the day were recorded in the closing 15 minutes.

Wheat finished ½-⅞ lower, corn 1¾ to 2 cents lower, oats ¾-1⅛ lower, rye 1¾-2¼ lower, soybeans 1⅜-3¼ lower and lard 10 to 72 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Soybeans and corn were subjected to the most intense selling. Although even in these pits trading was not particularly active. Corn has been especially easy this week, being the only grain which failed to advance yesterday.

Brokers said main reason for corn's weakness was an increase in shipments of cash grain from the country. This has been true ever since the turn of the year, confirming some predictions made in December.

In soybeans the main difficulty seemed to be the manner in which cash beans delivered on January contracts haven't been able to find a permanent resting place. Deliveries amounted to 680,000 bushels today. This situation indicates no urgent demand at the moment for the cash article, brokers said.

Bowaters Plant Asks Natural Gas Supply

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—A spokesman for Bowaters Southern Paper Corp. testified today the company needs a supply of natural gas next month to put its new newsprint plant in operation at Calhoun, Tenn.

Victor J. Sutton, Cleveland, Tenn., plant manager, testified at a Power Commission hearing on an application of East Tennessee Natural Gas Co., Knoxville, to supply the paper firm up to nine million cubic feet of natural gas daily on an interruptible basis.

Phil B. Whitaker, attorney for East Tennessee, said the 55-million-dollar Bowaters plant will be completed next month, and will produce about 130,000 tons of newsprint annually for some 100 newspapers in the South.

Sutton said the company's full investment will amount to about 60 million dollars, including five millions in woodlands development.

He said the company had spent about $200,000 in anticipation of using natural gas in the plant. The East Tennessee pipeline runs through Bowaters property, he said, and the line to carry gas to the plant has been constructed, but has not been connected.

Sutton testified that a major consideration in the decision to locate the plant in Tennessee rather than Alabama was the availability of natural gas.

James L. Bomar Jr., Shelbyville, Tenn., attorney for Tennessee Gas Co., said his company objects to East Tennessee's supplying gas to Bowaters if it would adversely affect the supply available to Tennessee Gas Co. from Tennessee.

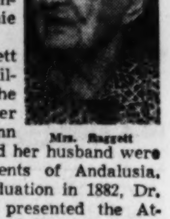
Surviving are his wife; a son, Ross G. Snell, both of Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. George W. Whitehead, New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Baggett Dies at 100; Rites in Ala.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Baggett, 100, Atlanta widow of Dr. Malcolm Baggett who practiced at Andalusia, Ala., for many years prior to his death in 1919, died Monday at Andalusia while visiting a daughter, Mrs. Annie Turner.



Mrs. Baggett

Mrs. Baggett was born at Milligan, Fla. She was the former Margaret Ann Cobb. She and her husband were pioneer residents of Andalusia. Upon his graduation in 1882, Dr. Baggett was presented the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons' valedictory medal by Henry W. Grady.

Mrs. Baggett had resided in Atlanta for 30 years with a daughter, Mrs. Hutto Manning of 1194 Mansfield Ave., NE.

She had remained active in recent years, having won the prize as the oldest person present at Rich's birthday party. She attended dances occasionally, remarking that she "liked to watch the young couples."

Surviving are two other daughters, Mrs. M. R. Hogan, Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Carolyn Barrow, Atlanta; a son, S. M. Baggett, Charlotte, N.C.; 22 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral and burial services will be held today at Andalusia.

R. E. Sidwell, Du Pont Film Chief, Dies

R. Everett Sidwell, 55, of 812 Clemont Dr., NE, Southeastern district manager of the film department of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., died unexpectedly after a heart attack yesterday morning in a private hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Sidwell left a position in Philadelphia as assistant manager of du Pont's Eastern District to establish this district's offices at 619 Peachtree St., NE, in 1944. He had served as Southeastern manager for nine years, and was to have celebrated his 25th anniversary with the company in July.

He was a native of Wilmington, Del., and had received a degree in electrical engineering from Philadelphia's Drexel Institute of Technology in 1922. He was a member of the Atlanta Athletic Club, the Atlanta Sales Executives' Club, the Atlanta Bakers' Club and East Lake Country Club.

Survivng are his wife, the former Katherine Stackhouse, a native of Indianapolis; two daughters, Mrs. P. D. Shockley, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. R. E. Small, Chicago; a son, Lt. R. A. Sidwell, MacDill Field, Fla.; father, Richard Sidwell, Wilmington, and four grandchildren.

W. H. Stringer Found Dead in Hotel Bed Here

William Henry Stringer, 78, of a local hotel address, was found dead in bed there yesterday afternoon, according to police reports.

According to police Mr. Stringer was discovered by the hotel's manager, D. J. Melancon, who said he had not seen him for three days.

Mr. Stringer did not, according to reports, have any close relatives, and was drawing relief checks. He had lived at the hotel for six years, and had been in poor health for the past six weeks.

A post-mortem examination revealed that he had been dead of natural causes for about three days.

Car Crash Kills Vandenburgh of Mortician Firm

Leroy M. Vandenburgh, 47, Oklahoma City, morticians' supply company representative, formerly of Atlanta, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon in an auto wreck near Ozark, Ark.

No details of the wreck were received immediately. Mr. Vandenburgh, however, was alone in the car.

For about 15 years prior to moving to Davenport, Iowa, about four years ago, he was associated with H. M. Patterson & Son, Atlanta morticians. He had many friends here.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ethel Eldridge, a native of Davenport, Iowa, and a son, Leroy M. Vandenburgh Jr., both of Oklahoma City.

Funeral services and burial will be Saturday at Armstrong, Iowa.

Tax Coddling of Mobster By Democrats Is Charged

By JAMES LEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (INS)—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) accused the Truman administration today of a "disgusting" case of "gangster coddling" and demanded exposure of the Treasury department official who he said was responsible.

The senator, in a vehement speech on the Senate floor, said tax leniency was extended to Frank Cammarata, now a Michigan convict. Williams said Youngstown (Ohio) police files list Cammarata as a brother-in-law of "the notorious Pete Licavoli, reputed head of the Detroit Purple Gang."

MASS CHARGE

The Delaware Republican, whose one-man probe of income tax scandals had much to do with the "mess in Washington" charges against Democrats in the 1952 elections, told his colleagues:

"The Cammarata case is an even more disgusting example of gangster coddling than others I have protested in the past, involving Frank Costello and Ralph Capone."

The senator said that Cammarata not only received special treatment from the Treasury but that Justice department efforts to deport him a second time after he smuggled himself back to the United States after a previous exile were blocked by three private bills introduced in Congress.

The index of the Congressional Record showed that bills in Cammarata's behalf were introduced in 1948 and 1949 by ex-Sen. Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.), former majority whip, and by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio).

Kirwan said Williams' disclosure was a "political attack." The Ohio Democrat explained he introduced a bill in Cammarata's behalf because the man's wife and three children lived in his congressional district.

INCOME TAX

Williams said Cammarata paid no income taxes from 1939 to 1946 and that the Treasury department knew it. The senator added that "someone" in the Treasury permitted Cammarata to file belated returns—a "leniency not extended to the average American citizen."

The scandal-busting lawmaker commented: "There is no record of any effort being made to bring criminal prosecution against this notorious criminal and as of today there is no criminal action pending in the Treasury department."

WHEN I REALIZED KINCAID HAD BEEN MERELY KNOCKED OUT, I PLACED THIS AUTOMATIC IN HIS HAND AND WAITED.
WHEN HE CAME TO I TOLD HIM HE HAD KILLED THE ROUSTABOUT, BUT THAT I, IN ORDER TO PROTECT HIM HAD DROPPED THE BODY IN THE WELL
I DECIDED THAT IT WOULD BE SAFER FOR ME TO BLACKMAIL KINCAID THAN TO BEAT TWO MURDER RAPS.
CHESTER GOULD
I SHOVELED SOME CLAY IN ON TOP OF THE BODY AND KINCAID AND I WALKED AWAY. WE NEVER RETURNED.

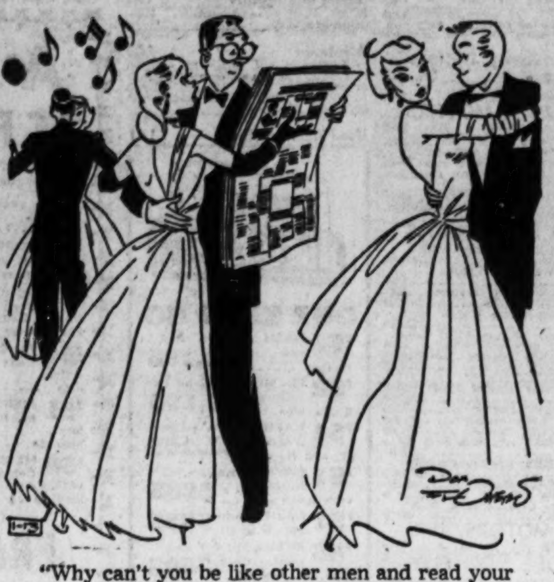
GLAMOR GIRLS



"Why can't you be like other men and read your newspaper at the breakfast table?"

Mirror of Your Mind

By JOSEPH WHITNEY

Can you get along without friends?

Answer: Yes, and many people do. There are many unfortunate individuals who feel that friends are an unnecessary burden. Such people are never able to trust anyone but themselves, because they do not believe there is such a thing as friendship. They often condition themselves to get along without many other things that are necessary for a truly normal existence. They are afraid to enjoy friendship, affection, love, etc., and unconsciously meet these needs by loving themselves.

Are mental hospital patients stigmatized?

Answer: Not in the minds of well-informed people, although until recent years patients confined in mental institutions were often spoken of as "nutty." Improved methods of treatment have brought so many instances of quick recovery that there is now widespread public recognition and acceptance of mental therapy. In the United States during the last 20 years, 90 percent of all mental patients in hospitals have entered voluntarily, just as they would in a general hospital.

Is stuttering more common among boys?

Answer: Yes, various studies have shown that stuttering and other speech defects are far more common among boys than girls; also that boys are slower than girls in learning to talk. The reason is thought to involve parental encouragement given to boys to become independent and aggressive, and then punishing boys more severely than girls when they carry these traits too far. Speech difficulties often emerge from the doubt and insecurity produced by this continuing conflict.

Can't Be Convicted Unless You Drive

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— It took an Arkansas attorney general's ruling to prove that you can't be convicted of drunken driving in the state if you aren't driving.

A 1953 law said that it was "unlawful for any person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor to drive or be in actual control of any vehicle."

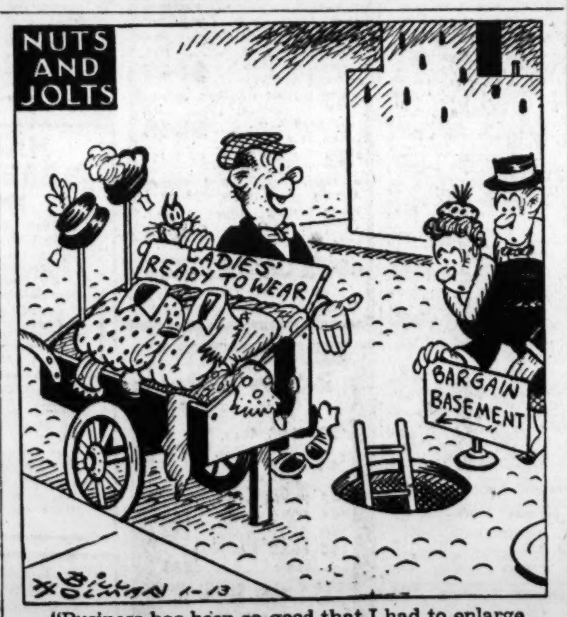
The ruling said the law could "catch any person who might happen to be intoxicated and who might happen to have an automobile and the means to operate it either on the highways or elsewhere."

The law was declared unconstitutional.

Mastodon Tusks Weigh 300 Pounds

TREGO, Mont., (AP)—Walt C. Ritter has a collection of mastodon bones. Included is a set of tusks, found in frozen Alaska tundra in 1899, which weigh 300 pounds each and are 10½ feet long. There are 13 smaller tusks, and a tooth which weighs 14 pounds. A leg and the backbone when connected stand 19 feet.

The bones now are beginning to deteriorate, but Ritter says the ivory tusks apparently are impervious to time.



"Business has been so good that I had to enlarge the place!"

A Rhyme a Day

Professional bill collector, with 20 years' experience, relates, in magazine article, the dangers of his profession and the peculiarities of people who will not pay.

The bill collector's life is not . . . a very happy one . . . he runs the risk of getting shot . . . when he goes out to "dun" . . . some family that hasn't made . . . a payment that was due . . . and tells them if it isn't paid he is prepared to sue.

One's credit shouldn't be abused . . . and we are often told . . . the merchants like to see it used . . . since most of what is sold . . . is on some "easy payment" plan . . . with just a little down . . . and then to catch him if they can . . . before he skips the town.

It takes all kinds of folks to make . . . the world, but in that mob . . . you'll always find someone to take . . . most any kind of job . . . but bill collecting is one kind . . . of effort you can shirk . . . you're always 60 days behind . . . in starting with your work . . . for most folks spend the pay they got . . . before the week is done . . . therefore the bill collector's lot . . . is not a happy one.

Surgery a Boon For Heart 'Leakage'

The surgical treatment of "leakage of the heart" has been one of the great advances in medical science. It proved to be safe considering that those who undergo the procedure are handicapped with advanced heart trouble. The results speak for themselves in that 76 per cent improve and are able to resume normal activity.

Rheumatic fever is the most common cause of "leakage." The mitral and aortic valvular leaflets normally have a consistency of kid glove skin but they become swollen and thickened when inflamed and no longer open and close as they should. After infection subsides the leaflets are criss-crossed with scar tissue and 25 per cent of the victims are left with an imperfect valve.

One of the most serious abnormalities is mitral stenosis in which scar tissue leaves the opening so narrow, the heart muscle has trouble forcing blood from one chamber to another. The operation is aimed at opening the scarred valve. It requires the use of a special thin blade that is fastened to the index finger. A small incision is made into the left auricle of the heart and the index finger is inserted into the opening to prevent blood from escaping.

The knife is on the inside of the heart and by cutting the scarred leaflets, the valve opens to its previous size.

Dr. Robert P. Glover of Philadelphia has done more than 500 such operations. Ninety-four per cent survived the procedure and are alive today.

Congressmen See How Wind Is Blowing Back Home With Their New Weather Maps

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The weather bureau fixed things today so congressmen can always tell which way the wind is blowing back home.

It installed in the House and Senate deluxe national weather maps which are so up-to-date they even give the forecasts in three dimensions.

Two experts skilled in the art of drawing lines, arrows, squiggles and symbols have been assigned to report to the Capitol each morning and mark up the maps with new lines, arrows, squiggles and symbols.

The job is completed just before Congress convenes for the day. Thus a congressman can tell at a glance whether it's raining on his constituents. Comes in handy in case a flood control bill is pending.

Weather officials presented the maps at a brief ceremony in the speaker's lobby. They replace an absolete set that had been hanging in the Capitol 52 years.

The maps are of three-ply glass construction which gives a "3-D" effect. No special eyeglasses are needed.

Gets County Job To Pay His Tax Bill

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A Lincoln man who owed $99.20 in taxes went before the county board and asked for a job so he could pay the bill.

The board directed the county engineer to put the man to work, with the promise of a possible regular county job if things went well.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

When there are several choices open to a declarer as to the method of playing a hand, safety should be a prime consideration; and the method which will succeed, despite an unfortunate break of the cards, should be chosen.

South, holding more than the equal of an opening bid, realizes that there is probably a slam in the hand when partner opens the bid and then jumps. The only deterrent is the fact that partner's jump has been in suit in which he holds but a singleton. When spades are supported by North, fear of a misfit vanishes and South properly shows the ace of hearts.

North's hand takes on added luster, and the possiblity of a grand slam is not too remote. He, therefore, shows the ace of clubs. At this point it should be noted that the showing of an ace at the level of six must always be construed as a grand-slam try, since if it were otherwise, it would be pointless to show the ace. Note that if South had held the queen of diamonds, a grand slam would have been a moral certainty.

In the play, had South worked on the expectancy that either the trumps or the diamonds would break, he would have been doomed to failure. If he had pulled the trumps and then trusted to establishing diamonds with one ruff, the 4-2 break in that suit would have prevented its establishment. Or if he had ruffed two diamonds in order to establish that suit, he would have been defeated, since West would have wound up with one more trump than declarer.

Instead, he went about on the theory that both suits would break 4-2, which, incidentally, is normal. After winning the first trick, he played the ace and king of diamonds and then a small one. But he did not make the mistake of ruffing it. Instead, he discarded a low club, permitting East to hold the trick. There was now nothing the defense could do. Dummy could be entered with the queen of spades and another diamond ruffed high to establish the suit, while the king of hearts still remained in dummy for entry. In this way, declarer took five spades in his own hand, four diamond tricks in dummy, which, with the two hearts and one club, reached the total of 12.

'Petrified Human' Sares Firemen

TEANECK, N.J. (AP)— Firemen got quite a start when they opened a closet in a blazing home and came face to face with a mummy said to be 3,000 years old.

They reported to police, a "petrified human of unknown origin."

Police knew all about the mummy, which belonged to a retired Bergen County game warden William Small. He collects them as a hobby.

This particular mummy, thwarted a robbery at Small's home five years ago. The thieves were scared off before they took anything, police said.

Gets Cuban Medal —50 Years Later

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Rush Rinehart got a medal from the Republic of Cuba—50 years after he earned it.

Several years after the Spanish-American war, an appropriation for medals was made by the Republic so it could honor veterans like Rinehart. However, the money ran out and the awards were discontinued.

About a year ago, Rinehart heard a new appropriation had been passed. He applied for his medal and received it last month.

Mrs. Hanson Wins Business Crown

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Mrs. Howell Ross Hanson, who has guided and expanded the operation of a 660-room hotel for more than 16 years, is Atlanta's Woman of the Year in Business for 1953.

Mrs. Hanson, president and secretary of the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel since July, 1937, was cited by the WOTY business committee for her "foresight, keen judgment and willingness to undertake a large expansion program during uncertain times."

In announcing her selection, Clement A. Evans, chairman of the committee, pointed out:

"She has made constant and continual progress in all phases of the hotel's operation . . . Mrs. Hanson is recognized in the business world today as one of the city's leaders."

Mrs. Hanson, an attractive, gracious woman who bears no resemblance to a business tycoon, admits she "knew very little about business" when she became president of the Biltmore.

HAD TO FINISH JOB

Her first husband, William Candler, built the hotel in 1923 and 1924, and he operated it until Oct. 2, 1936, when he was killed in an automobile accident. Although grief stricken, his widow knew from the first that she "had to finish his job."

"Bankers, friends and relatives advised me to sell the hotel," she said, "because I knew so little of the complexities of hotel operation . . . All I had was faith, but I worked hard and applied myself to the job that had to be done."

She worked out the financial difficulties of the hotel through a reorganization plan. She said her husband's "foresight" enabled her to justify his vision in establishing the big hotel. She said he had believed in the future of Atlanta—and she was inspired by his vision.

Mrs. Howell Ross Hanson

EXHIBITION HALL

Mrs. Hanson directed the recent addition of the hotel's Exhibition Hall, the largest hotel assembly room in the South. The hall can accommodate 2,200 persons.

She plans an addition of about 200 rooms—and perhaps other additions—in the future.

Mrs. Hanson's second husband, also dead now, was interested in the hotel but had another business and left the operation of the hotel to his wife. She always has done all the buying for the hotel (except that for the kitchen) and has supervised all the decorating.

She admittedly has had to be lawyer, decorator, banker, tax expert and psychologist as well as hotel operator. But she is grateful for the help of the hotel's business manager, D. O. Beusse. She also gave credit for the successful operation to W. H. Chambers, her son-in-law and the vice-president in charge of public relations; Mrs. Chambers, her daughter and a vice-president and secretary; William Candler Jr., her son and the executive vice-president; and "all the loyal employes."

ACTIVE IN CIVIC WORK

Mrs. Hanson finds time to devote herself to her seven grandchildren as well as to civic and charitable organizations, such as the Red Cross, Community Chest, American Cancer Society and benefit flower shows. She is a member of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the International Hotel Association.

Besides Evans, members of the business committee include Jack Adair, Hugh D. Carter, Welborn B. Cody, Rutherford L. Ellis, Robert Lynch, and Hal Smith.

Mrs. Hanson will be one of six women honored at the WOTY dinner Jan. 27 at the Piedmont Driving Club. The women will be presented silver trophies by the First National Bank, 1953 sponsor.

Hancock's Condition 'Fair' After Seizure

Herman Hancock, veteran City Hall reporter for The Constitution, who suffered a heart attack Thursday night, was reported in "fair" condition yesterday at Georgia Baptist Hospital. He is not permitted to have visitors.

Hancock, who recently celebrated his 30th anniversary as a member of The Constitution's news staff, lives at 2682 Buford Highway.

Downtown 'Y' To Launch Drive For 500 Members

Atlanta's Downtown Branch YMCA will hold its 1954 Lucky Y Round-up at 6:15 p.m. today at the Luckie Street YMCA. The branch's goal in this year's round-up (membership campaign) is 500 new members.

Officers of the Downtown Branch (Lucky Y Ranch) are Leland Dean, ranch boss; Vincent Dobbs and Bob Bailey, his assistants, and Lloyd Sanborn, branch executive.

The Lucky Y Ranch is composed of eight "ranges." Range Bosses are Fred Logan, Harris Dodd, Sam Hatch, Milton Clark, Tom Oastler, Frank Ross, "Bud" Moseley and Bob Pendleton.

School Board Seeks Ruling On Athletic Field at Roswell

The Fulton County Board of Education yesterday petitioned Superior Court to declare that the county commision has a right to develop a high school athletic field inside the city of Roswell.

The petition was brought after county commission denied a school board request to provide labor for the project on the ground that the state constitution forbids Fulton County to engage in "public works" inside municipalities.

County Atty. Harold Sheats advised the commission to deny the request so that the petition could be filed to clarify the phrase "public works."

The school board takes the position in the petition that public works should not be construed to mean the county has no right to provide labor for athletic facilities at Roswell High School.

The school board also made the point that many of the students at Roswell High School live in unincorporated areas.

Legal Aid Society Elects Officers Today

The Atlanta Legal Aid Society, a Community Chest agency, will elect officers for 1954 at its annual meeting at 4 p. m. today at the Lawyers Club, President Randolph W. Thrower announced.

The society, which gives free legal service to persons unable to pay for it, also will hear a report from Fred Gober, executive director.

Gober will report on the organization's activities in 1953 during which three staff officers handled 2,209 cases, 95 per cent of which were settled out of court.

Talmadge Signs DeKalb Pension Bill

Gov. Talmadge yesterday signed into law a new pension plan for DeKalb County employes.

Meanwhile, the employes elected two representatives to the board that will direct the plan. Two other members will be named later.

Two bills passed by the General Assembly last session and signed by the governor abolished the county's old retirement system and placed the employes under federal Social Security and a supplementary pension plan.

The supplementary plan, with Social Security, will make retirement benefits under the new system equal to those available under the old county pension system.

In an election Monday, 160 county employes elected Theron Burgess, deputy clerk of the Superior Court, and Paul Matthews, a work camp superintendent, to represent them on a new retirement board.

County Commissioner Scott Candler, a member to be appointed by him and a fifth member elected by the first four will comprise the board.

Tucker Bus Cancellation Under Fire

The Decatur Merchants Assn. board of directors has adopted a resolution condemning the abolition of a Decatur-Tucker bus line without a public hearing.

The business group joined the Decatur City Commission in opposing the Georgia Public Service Commission ruling that would allow the Metropolitan Transit Co. to discontinue service on the line late in January.

Spokesmen for the transit company have said they will be glad to discuss the proposed change with interested parties.

In its resolution, the merchants board urged that the PSC reconsider its order permitting the discontinuance and require a public hearing be held.

Charles D. McKinney Jr., secretary of the association, said representatives of the Decatur businessmen would appear at a PSC hearing on other proposed transit changes in DeKalb County scheduled Jan. 19.

The merchants would emphasize their stand at the hearing and would request that all changes in DeKalb routes be subject to public hearings, the resolution said.

DeKalb Gives School Staff Pension Plan

Non-professional employes of the DeKalb County Board of Education have been placed under Social Security effective Jan. 1 of this year, School Superintendent Jim Cherry announced yesterday.

The personnel category to come under the federal pension system includes lunchroom workers, school bus drivers, building custodians, maintenance workers and construction crews, Cherry explained.

Those groups previously had no retirement coverage, the superintendent said.

State Teacher Retirement benefits already were available to professional employes, Cherry said, with that category covering clerical personnel as well as teachers.

Accident, hospital and disability insurance under a groups plan was available to all employes of the board of education, the administrator said, and the board action placing the non-professionals under Social Security rounded out the school system's employe benefit program.

To Tell Part In Bettering Turk Health

A Decatur public health physician who helped the Turkish government modernize its health program will speak tomorrow at the meeting of the Clairmont Civic Club.

Dr. Lester M. Petrie recently took a leave of absence from the Georgia Health department to go to Turkey as an advisor under the World Health Organization of the United Nations.

The physician, a resident of the Clairmont area, will deliver a lecture on his Turkish assignment at the civic club's meeting at 7:30 p.m., at Clairmont Elementary School.

Petrie will illustrate his talk with photographs taken by him and his family during the trip. Mrs. Petrie, also a physician, is assistant health officer of DeKalb County.

M. W. Buttrill Heads Southeast Kiwanis Club

M. W. Buttrill has been installed president of the Southwest DeKalb Kiwanis Club.

J. Lon Duckworth, lieutenant governor of the first division of Georgia Kiwanis, installed the new president at the club's annual dinner.

Other officers include Dr. Frank W. Rogers, first vice president, Barney M. Self, second vice president; Raymond Hargrove, treasurer, and Richard A. Hills, secretary.

Used Clothes Appeal Issued

The Decatur Junior Service League has again issued a special appeal for donations of used clothing for its clothing room in the DeKalb Building.

The group distributes the clothing to needy families recommended by the county welfare department.

OFF TO ROARIN' START

350 Twirl Lassos for 1,000 In DeKalb YMCA Roundup

The annual membership "roundup" of the Decatur-DeKalb branch, YMCA, got off to a rip-roarin', six-shootin' start this week as more than 350 workers looped their lassos to pull in 1,000 "Y" members, the goal of the drive.

Formalities of the drive's kick-off included a proclamation by Decatur Mayor A. Mell Turner exempting roundup hands from the city ordinance that prohibits the parking of horses or wagons around Court Square.

About 150 of the membership workers met at Emory University for a kick-off dinner Monday night. Report meetings will be held by the group Jan. 18, 24, 25 and Feb. 1, according to George Dillard, drive chairman.

At the Emory meeting, A. B. Chapman, director of the "Y" in DeKalb, told the group that 257 groups of adults and youngsters in the county were served by the YMCA last year.

The groups held 3,753 meetings with a total attendance of 58,246, Chapman reported. The "Y" branch activities were directed by 134 paid and volunteer leaders.

One of the major programs, Chapman pointed out, was an interchurch sports schedule that included 62 groups from 21 churches in Decatur and DeKalb.

Monthly Hike

The monthly hike of Boy Scout Troop 200, sponsored by the Oakhurst Presbyterian Church, will be held Saturday and Sunday at the DeKalb Youth Camp. Parents of scouts are invited to visit the camp Saturday evening or Sunday morning.

Direct Aid To Be Given By DeKalb Cancer Unit

The DeKalb unit of the American Cancer Society will extend its services this year to give direct aid to the county's cancer victims for the first time.

Under a reorganization plan which calls for about 400 volunteer workers, the DeKalb group will be divided into five committees, two of which will deal directly with patients, according to Gilbert McLemore, president of the unit.

CANCER FUNDS

Previously, McLemore said the unit consisted only of a board of directors which conducted annual campaigns for cancer research funds, he explained.

Under the new setup, a funds crusade committee, under Jim Cherry, will conduct a fund drive each year, the president said. The 1954 drive is scheduled for April.

Mrs. Alfred Boylston Jr. heads a patient services committee. The committee will aid in transportation of indigent patients to clinics for treatment and will serve as an information committee to refer persons to proper sources for examination and treatment.

A professional services committee under Dr. T. O. Vinson will assist in referring persons to proper examination and treatment centers and will help to inform professional groups on the latest results of national cancer research.

EMPLOYES EDUCATION

James A. Mackay will head the employes education committee, which will help educate persons in business and industry on cancer.

A publicity and information committee under Miss Dora Byron and Joseph H. Baird will distribute cancer information through news media and other means, McLemore said.

McLemore, who is assistant administrator of Emory University Hospital, was named president of the DeKalb cancer unit by a board of directors headed by C. O. Emmerich.

Other members of the board include Mrs. Alfred Bolston Jr., S. A. Council, Hansford S. Sams, Calvin Rutland, Scott Candler Sr., Guy Rutland Sr., Walter Scott, Dr. Dick Hall Jr., Dr. J. Elliot Scarborough, W. L. Hobb, Jim Cherry and McLemore.

The committee chairmen will meet at least once a month, McLemore said, with an annual membership meeting scheduled for February.

After 50 members of the DeKalb cancer unit will attend a state meeting of state cancer workers in Atlanta next week, McLemore said.

7th Graders Set Party on Friday

Seventh graders from Glenwood and Oakhurst Elementary Schools Friday will gather for the second in a series of seventh-grade parties sponsored by the Decatur Recreation Department.

The party will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. at the TNT Clubhouse in Scott Park.

YMCA Lists Church Slate ForBasketball

Games are scheduled Thursday and Monday in the Decatur YMCA Interchurch Basketball League, and the DeKalb YMCA Interchurch League will begin the second half of its season Monday.

In the Decatur League Thursday, Decatur Presbyterian will meet First Methodist, with the men's game at 6:30 and the women's at 7:30 p.m. First Baptist will play Pattillo Memorial Methodist, with the men's game at 8:30 and the women's at 9:30 p.m.

Monday, First Methodist will play First Presbyterian at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m., with the women's game first. Decatur Heights Baptist will meet Oakhurst Baptist, with the women's game at 8:30 and the men's at 9:30 p.m.

The Decatur league games will be played at Decatur High School.

In the DeKalb league, games will be played at Avondale High School. Mountain View Baptist will meet Scott Boulevard Baptist at 7:30, North Decatur Methodist will play First Nazarene at 8:30 and Avondale Baptist will meet Dunwoody Methodist at 9:30 p.m.

DeKalb Girl Cited by Fire Commissioner

A 12-year-old DeKalb County girl has been cited by Safety Fire Commissioner Zack D. Cravey for risking her life to save her five-year-old sister from a fire last year.

Cravey made Bobbie Jean Cobb, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Leslie Cobb, Rt. 2, Decatur, an honorary deputy fire marshal and presented her a certificate for distinguished service in ceremonies recently.

Bobbie Jean's sister, Mary Alice, was playing near burning leaves when her clothes caught fire. Bobbie Jean ripped burning clothing from her younger sister.

Confederate Cross Awarded Korea Vet

The Agnes Lee Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has awarded its first Confederate Cross of Military Service to a Korean War veteran, the 15th such award to be made in the United States.

The UDC medal was awarded Ernest D. DeLamater Jr., 22, of 117 Wilton Dr., Decatur. DeLamater served 23 months as a seaman with the Navy in the Korean area.

The award is made only to servicemen who are lineal descendants of Confederate soldiers or sailors.

First Aid Course To Begin in DeKalb

A standard course in first aid will begin tonight under sponsorship of the DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The course, which offers 22 hours of instruction, will be taught by C. M. Babbitt, volunteer instructor, and classes will meet each Wednesday.

SEEKING BETTER RECORD

DeKalb County To Dance For March of Dimes

A polio square dance Saturday will highlight activities of the 1954 DeKalb County March of Dimes campaign this week, as workers in the drive attempt to bring DeKalb up from its 10th place in Georgia for per capita contributions.

Residents of the county contributed $39,932 last year to rank third in total contributions, but fell behind nine other Georgia counties in per capita receipts.

The DeKalb group's goal this year, according to Charles J. Lyon, director of the drive, is to double the per capita contribution.

Contribution stations with coin cans and "wishing wells" have been set up over the county, Lyon said, and several sports events and a house-to-house solicitation by DeKalb mothers will constitute the drive this year.

The square dance, with all proceeds going to the polio drive, will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Saturday in the Decatur High School auditorium.

Other leaders in the drive are Charles D. McKinney Jr., co-chairman; Claude Blount, treasurer; Mrs. Guy Hudson, chairman of the "Mothers' March," and Mrs. William C. Crane, publicity chairman.

Lt. William Lewis On Rensselaer Staff

Lt. (j. g.) William W. Lewis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lewis of 110 Maple St., Decatur, has joined the faculty of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y.

Chamblee Parents Plan Teen City Home Today

Parents of Chamblee's teen-agers will meet tonight at the Chamblee City Hall to discuss plans with the DeKalb Lions club to set up a clubhouse for Chamblee's Teen City.

The ground floor of the Masonic Hall has been selected as the new clubhouse and Chamblee City Council voted at its Friday meeting to provide $25 a month for rent of the clubhouse for the group.

MEETING HALL

The club has been hampered in not having a place to meet and hold dances. Meetings have been held in the City Hall. The Lions Club took over the sponsorship of the club and together with the council is providing funds to get the new clubhouse started.

Teen City is made up of youngsters in the Chamblee area between the ages of 12-17. Mrs. Bruce Richardson started the club to provide Chamblee children with an opportunity to enjoy social and recreational opportunities.

MEET PARENTS

Parents of the club members have been meeting with the teens and taking them on hayrides and skating parties. The youngsters have also held dances.

Plans for the new clubhouse are for it to be open afternoons and evenings. Regular dances and socials will be held at the club. Parents of the children will act as chaperones for the activities.

The club has a juke box and records for dancing. Ping pong tables and furniture will be installed, according to present plans.

TEEN LEADERS

Teen City officers are Beth Bullard, president; Paul Hyde, vice president; Jim Borum, secretary; Mildred West, treasurer, and Adrian Briscoe, social chairman.

Mrs. Richardson acts as general adviser to the club. She is assisted by Mrs. R. P. Chatham, adviser to the social committee, and Mrs. H. L. Pair, adviser to the secretary.

Membership in the club is open to any youngsters in the Chamblee area. They may join by contacting any of the club officers or by coming tonight.

MAYOR SWORN
Woody B. Malone

Chamblee's Malone In as Mayor

Chamblee Mayor Woody B. Malone and Councilmen E. C. Daniel and Robert D. Carlen were sworn into office Friday by City Clerk Mrs. G. N. Miller.

Following the ceremony in the city hall, the council passed ordinances prohibiting the placing of articles on or near roads or highways in the city limits and permitting police to hold certain prisoners without collateral for a given number of hours.

CAN BE HELD

The ordinance provides that a person clearly in an unsafe condition either from drunkenness or dope addiction can be held for four hours at the discretion of the police.

Also included in the ordinance is a provision allowing a prisoner to be held for 72 hours without bond or collateral for purposes of investigation.

The council approved a permit for a sign for Smith and Proctor Co. and rejected an application for billboard signs by the Supreme Oil Co., formerly the Thone Oil Co.

The signs on Supreme Oil Co. property fail to comply with Chamblee billboard ordinances, according to the council.

SEWER OKAY

DeKalb County was given permission to install sewers in the city limits. The new sewers will tie onto existing lines at the firehouse and follow Peachtree Rd. to the Prospect Methodist Church.

Council took action to provide $25 a month to Chamblee Teen City to help pay part of the rent for clubhouse room in the Masonic Hall.

City Attorney Carl Hudgins was reappointed by the council. Others reappointed were Gene Smith, electrical and plumbing inspector, and T. F. Dyer, building inspector.

Councilman E. C. Daniel was elected mayor pro tem.

Zoning Hearing Set For Buford Property

The City of Chamblee will hold a hearing Feb. 12 at the city hall on rezoning of a piece of property on the Buford Highway from commercial to industrial zone.

The property is located north of the Georgian Galleries and is owned by Steve Watkins of Thomasville.

Watkins in his petition for rezoning stated if industrial zoning is granted, he intends to build a warehouse on the rezoned property.

Kiwanis Gives Scouts Price of 8 Pup Tents

Boy Scouts Troop 260, sponsored by the Brookhaven Methodist Church, was given funds Monday for eight pup tents by the North DeKalb Kiwanis.

The Scouts are trying to raise enough money to purchase 16 tents for use by the troop during their summer camp-outs.

2ND PLACE HONORS

Doraville Awarded $750 And Home Town Plaque

Doraville took its place among the champions last night when it was awarded a Champion Home Town plaque and a $750 check at a banquet in the community center of the north DeKalb County municipality.

The second place award in its group in the Georgia Power Company's 1953 contest was presented by George H. Brodnax, power company vice president and Atlanta division manager, to George Walker, general chairman of the town's contest committee.

SECOND SPOT

Doraville ran second to Cleveland in the under-1,000 population group.

Brodnax said Doraville's award winning effort was an excellent example of democracy in action, in which the citizens of a community pooled their efforts to make their home town a better place in which to live.

Walker pointed to the building in which the dinner was held as evidence of the results of the drive to make Doraville a better community.

BETTER PLACE

Taking as a theme "Doraville a Better Place to Live," this city organized its citizens into committees to carry out the theme.

The growth of Doraville has been marked by substantial increases in the number of new homes erected. During the contest year more than 130 new houses were built. About 104 more are going up.

The campaign covered all fields of civic improvement such as beautification, business and industry, education, health and sanitation, municipal improvement, recreation and youth, religious welfare and advertising and publicity. A special committee from the Negro community joined in the campaign.

The beautification committee, headed by J. R. Kinnard, kicked off its campaign last spring with the planting of pink and white dogwoods and flowering crabapples along the streets.

Doraville businessmen caught the spirit of the drive and repainted buildings and landscaped their property. Grass was planted on the elementary school lawn and shrubbery added around the school building.

Homes were painted, lawns put down, shrubbery planted and awnings put up. Cement drives, garages and porches were built.

BRING PLANTS

The business and industry committee, led by W. L. Brown, worked to attract new business and industry. Eight new businesses were started in Doraville during the contest year and five additions to already established businesses were made.

The education committee, under the chairmanship of J. L. Bickers, brought together the PTA and such civic organizations as the Woman's Club, the Civic Club, UAW-CIO Local No. 10, Lions Club, Civitans, American Legion and Order of the Eastern Star into a well rounded and integrated program providing educational aids, record players, hot lunches for the children and school recreational programs.

This committee was supplemented by the recreation and youth committees. Mrs. W. L. Brown, chairman of the recreation committee, instituted a Teen Town Club for the teenagers of Doraville. Janet Chapman was chairman of the youth committee.

NEW LIBRARY

As a result of the work of the municipal development committee, headed by E. H. Albea, city and county officials of Doraville added a new auditorium, a library, a health center and swimming pool in the new Community Building.

The City Hall was painted, a new police car was bought, a new traffic light installed and paving and curbing was done in the city and 11 new street lights installed.

The religious welfare committee, led by the Rev. Harry Schutte, reported improvements to the Winters Chapel Church, the Doraville First Baptist Church, the Doraville Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, and the Prospect Methodist Church.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Doraville Woman's Club, Mrs. J. B. Dabney, president, made pajamas for hospital patients and worked with the health and sanitation committee, headed by George Herman, in establishing the health center in the community building.

The Doraville Civic Club, J. D. Chesnut, president, was instrumental in selling the idea of a community center to the city commissioners and organizing the citizens' vote to pass a $50,000 bond issue, without a single vote against the issue.

The committee from the Negro community announced the erection of nine new homes in Carver Hills, a long range plan to erect 18 new homes in Parsons Village, and major endeavors to improve homes and surroundings. A lunchroom and a shoe store were added to the business section.

DINNER GUEST

Officials from the Georgia Power Co. attending the dinner were W. P. Parrish, who acted as master of ceremonies, C. M. Wallace, Temp S. Davis, Frank Hood and members of the advertising department.

Also attending the dinner were three of the four state judges, Howard Minhinnick, head of the city planning department of the Coca-Cola Co., and Mrs. Agnes Reasor Olmstead, home economist of Colonial Stores.

Special guests included Clark Gaines, head of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, DeKalb Commissioner Scott Candler and Robert M. Holder, north DeKalb realtor.

Tax Deadline Set April 20 in Chamblee

The deadline for returns on property taxes in the City of Chamblee is April 20, according to Mrs. G. N. Miller, city clerk.

Returns are being accepted at the Chamblee City Hall. The clerk cautioned all residents of the city that they must make their 1954 returns for all taxable property.

East Point Mayor Gives 14-Point Improving Plan

A traffic squad, better garbage collection and closer supervision of city supplies were top recommendations of East Point Mayor Al Roberts for improving city services.

The mayor listed 14 recommendations to council in his year-end survey of the city's financial and governmental status. He approved the $6,000 cash surplus in December but criticized the "laxity" of city employes in some departments.

He called for creating a three patrolman force on special traffic duty to handle parking meter collections, parking lot patroling and traffic directing.

The group would give reliable assistance, Roberts believes, in suggesting remedies to traffic problems now facing the city.

A "multitude" of complaints about garbage collections, Roberts said, indicates that collectors are being careless on their routes. He called for an immediate improvement.

In another recommendation concerning city employes, Roberts suggested that the city adopt a more "definite" ordinance covering sick leave.

"The one now in effect is vague and indefinite and is drawn in such a way that an employe can absent himself from the city for seven he said.

A copy of the soon-to-be-published city code should be given each council member as a means of improving "his advice to constitutents on their problems," he added.

The mayor also went on record as favoring the immediate paving of DeLowe drive from Headland drive to Neely avenue and requiring a formal petition of 51 per cent of the property owners on a street they wish paved.

Such a petition would eliminate "unjustifiably occupying council time with neighborhood squabbles when three or four persons want the street paved and the others do not," Roberts said.

College Park Lutherans in Charter Meet

The newly formed Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in College Park will officially organize a congregation Sunday when 70 signers of the church charter will be received into membership.

Dr. C. E. Fritz, president of the Georgia-Alabama Synod of the United Lutheran Church, will address the new congregation at 11 a.m. services in the College Park Auditorium. He will be assisted by the Rev. Thomas O. Stelling, pastor.

A business meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday to elect nine deacons and to set the business policies.

Among the major projects of the church will be the purchase of a building site, the Rev. Stelling said. The church will continue to conduct regular services at the auditorium until a church is built.

The church has opened a Sunday School and formed a choir.

Hapeville C. of C. Board Sets Meeting

Hapeville's Chamber of Commerce directors will hold their first 1954 meeting tomorrow to discuss a new budget, name committee chairmen and consider revamping the dues assessments.

The directors will meet at 12:15 p.m. at Frances' Restaurant on Stewart Avenue.

Four new directors will be recognized at the meeting. They are: J. Curtis Smith, Dr. L. M. Hewitt, Earl Knight and Fred Inman.

Robert McCord, chamber president, said, "We expect to carry on chamber activities in much the same way as last year, at least until we hire a full-time executive secretary."

Pianists Slated By Music Club In College Park

A joint recital by pianists Eugene Barton and Charles Dellinger will be presented as the feature of the monthly meeting today of the College Park Music Club at 3 p.m.

The two pianists, who will be presented by Mrs. H. C. Harry, program chairman, will play selections from Bach, Chopin, MacDowell and Brahms.

Both pianists are graduates of Wesleyan Conservatory, and now are instructors in Atlanta.

Mrs. L. O. Freeman will present a study of the hymn, "As With Gladness, Men of Old." Mrs. T. H. Yon, president, will conduct the business session.

Mrs. W. D. Warriner and Mrs. W. T. Mount will serve tea following the recital.

East Point Lions Group To Elect Officers for '54

Loins Inc., a corporation formed by members of the East Point Lions Club to handle its building fund, will elect 1954 officers tomorrow night.

Nominated for president is Scott Walters Jr., outgoing secretary of the corporation. Walters will replace H. M. Lemaster.

Other changes in the officer slate, listed by the nominating committee, include Dan Johnson for treasurer to replace Wilbert Hembree, who has been nominated as 1954 secretary. Raleigh Murphy was nominated to another term as vice president.

Two new trustees also will be named tomorrow night to fill positions vacated by L. E. Casey and Tom Marshall.

The corporation at present is attempting to raise funds for construction of a clubhouse. A lot at the rear of Dr. Claude Cobb's offices on Church Street has been presented to the group as a building site.

Fritz Orr To Address Longino School PTA

Fritz Orr, director of the Fritz Orr Camp for Boys and Girls, will speak on "Recreation" at a meeting of the Longino Elementary School PTA at 7:45 p.m. in College Park Monday evening.

Orr will be introduced by Mrs. C. L. Abercrombie, program chairman.

Tax Kick Plan Set at Hapeville

All Hapeville taxpayers will be notified by mail this year when they may register complaints about the 1954 assessments in a new procedure worked out this week by the board of assessors.

Previously, only those taxpayers whose assessments were raised or lowered were notified by mail of the time "complaint day" would be held.

Newspaper advertising was used as public notice for residents whose taxes remained the same.

AGREE AT MEET

The new procedure, according to Mayor Gene Dixon, was approved unanimously by the board and agreed to by city council this week at a "get-together" of the two groups.

The meeting was held to familiarize councilmen with the work the assessment board conducts and to discuss how the assessors might improve their procedures, Dixon said.

Council agreed that the assessors should investigate thoroughly any improvements they notice which aren't listed in tax returns and pledged cooperation with the board in every way possible.

A split in council last week over an unsuccessful attempt to reappoint S. J. Whigham to the board for a three-year term was at least temporarily eradicated at the meeting, observers believed.

MOTION LOSES

A motion to reappoint Whigham, who was a member of the board for several years, lost, 3-2, with Alderman C. B. Bonds and Councliment Hoyt Smith and Tom Morris casting the "no" votes. Newly installed Councilman I. L. Ellis, who stated he had queried some 60 businessmen and residents over whether they were satisfied by last year's tax assessments, made the unsuccessful motion to re-elect Whigham.

Councliman Perry Jackson, chairman of the finance committee, voted with Ellis.

Whigham was replaced on the board by Thomas A. Lewis, while Richard Paula was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late H. W. White. He will serve one year.

The other member of the board is I. W. Taylor.

East Point Club Slates Concert By Dr. O'Steen

Dr. Alton G. O'Steen, head of the Department of Music at the University of Alabama, will give a piano concert in East Point Tuesday in a observance of the 15th anniversary of the East Point Music Club.

The concert, sponsored by the music club, will be held at the East Point Woman's Club, beginning at 8 p.m.

Following Dr. O'Steen's appearance, a reception marking the club's anniversary celebration will be held.

A native of Douglas, Dr. O'Steen is a graduate of Emory University, Atlanta Conservatory of Music, Juilliard School of Music and Columbia University in New York City.

He will be presented by Mrs. C. L. Cheek and Mrs. Virginia Morris, co-chairman of the program.

Mrs. A. J. McCoy Jr. and her social committee will serve refreshments following the concert, including an anniversary cake.

HEAD KIWANIANS IN 1954—The Airport Area Kiwanis Club has installed new officers (l to r), Albert Henry, treasurer; Henry Dorsey, vice president; C. P. Glover Jr., president, and Sam Denmark, vice president. J. Lon Duckworth, Kiwanis district governor, installed the officers.

CONGRATULATIONS—Outgoing Hapeville Mayor Frank Lea (right) congratulates Eugene Dixon, the city's new chief official, at installation ceremonies. Judge Claude Shaw administered the oath of office to Dixon, who defeated Lea and Harvey Peppers in the election last month. Dixon's term will extend through 1955.

Fulton Offers Hapeville Part Of Sewage Plant Expense

Fulton County has offered to pay one-third of a $25,000 bill levied as Hapeville's part in expanding and remodeling the South River sewage disposal plant, Mayor Gene Dixon said this week.

Under the proposal, the county would pay the first of three yearly installments on the bill, which was presented to Hapeville City County last summer.

LEGAL ASPECT

No action has been taken on the bill, and council has questioned whether the city has any legal responsibility in the project.

The South River plant is owned by Atlanta, but Hapeville and East Point use the plant facilities on a contract basis.

Mayor Dixon said he had turned the new proposal over to Perry Jackson, chairman of the finance committee, for further study, but added:

"I feel sure we will eventually have to pay some portion of the bill. We're negotiating to reach a satisfactory conclusion on what would be a fair amount."

Dixon said the three-year payment plan was suggested at a recent meeting of county officials, which he attended. A. P. MacDonald, Fulton County public works director, who first notified Hapeville of its bill, and Harold Sheats, county attorney, offered the new proposal with the approval of the county commissioners.

SIMILAR OFFER

The offer to pay one-third of the bill is similar to one adopted in December by East Point City Council.

East Point was asked for $60,000 as its part in the South River project since it holds a proportionately larger service contract with Atlanta for use of the plant.

Fulton County will pay the first $20,000 of East Point's bill. The city will pay the remaining $40,000, plus interest in 1955 and 1956.

Cost of the entire project will total $321,389. Atlanta public works officials estimate.

East Point Taxi Ruling Is Awaited

Two taxi concerns were still operating under the name "East Point Cab Co." this week as they awaited a council ruling Monday on which outfit owns the name.

The squabble was referred back to full council by the police committee, headed by J. Henry Blair. The committee voted to send the matter to council after hearing numerous witnesses for both companies Friday, each claiming rights to the name.

A petition for a temporary injunction, filed by J. I. Vincent, operator of the company at 401 S. Main, was denied last week by Superior Court Judge Virlyn B. Moore on the grounds that the matter should be considered first by East Point officials.

Vincent, represented by attorney Scott Walters Jr., asked the court to prohibit J. P. Saylor from using the East Point name and asked $5,000 in punitive damages and $100 for each day the Saylor concern used the name.

Both operators were issued business licenses Dec. 23 in the office of City Clerk Early Cole, but Saylor's application was made out as "Saylor Cabs." Vincent's license was made out for "East Point Cab Company."

Saylor, who operated a taxi company under the East Point name during the 1940's asserts that he has never relinquished the trade name. He re-registered the title Dec. 29 with the Clerk of Fulton Superior Court both in his and his wife's name.

Vincent maintains that the name reverted to public domain when Saylor sold out his taxi business several years ago.

East Point C. of C. Sets Up Traffic, City Planning Goals

Off-street parking, orderly city planning and relief of traffic congestion were adopted this week as principal aims of the East Point Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber's board of directors, meeting to map its year's program, also elected committee chairmen to work on the various projects.

The chamber has already gone on record as favoring the recent Metropolitan Planning Commission recommendations for easing the city's traffic congestion. One of the major projects called for in the commission report is the creation of a city parking authority with power to build a municipal parking lot.

One of the first projects planned for completion this year will be the release of a new city street guide and informative booklet, prepared by J. G. Stith and a special committee, Mrs. Thelma Hughes, chamber manager, said.

The guide will be available to the public and is due for publication by March 1, she said.

Committee chairmen for the year include Scott Walters Jr., civic improvement; J. R. Grayson, city beautification; J. G. Stith, water and electric system development; W. B. Smythe, Tri-Cities consolidation and annexation; Paul West, education; J. R. Crews, agriculture; N. T. McClellan, national affairs; Dr. Preston Sumner, hospital and health, and Joe Westbrook, city planning.

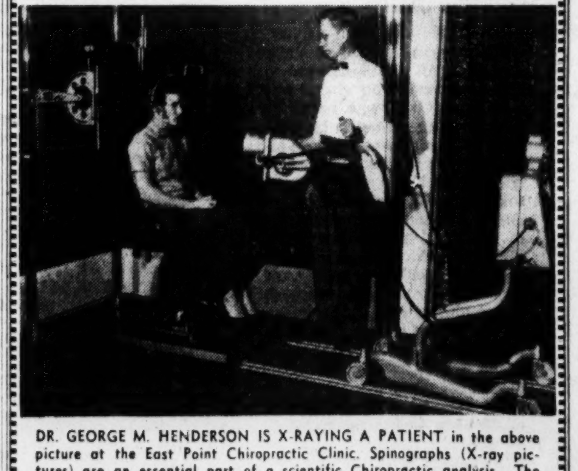
Your HEALTH Is Your Most Treasured Possession—Protect It Through CHIROPRACTIC—Nature's Way to Better Health

CHIROPRACTIC MAINTAINS THAT THE SPINE IS THE KEY to the Nervous System and therefore to Health because all nerve trunks are distributed from the spinal cord and emit through openings between the vertebrae. Falls and Accidents cause slight displacements of these vertebrae, producing pressure on the nerve trunks which sooner or later results in some form of bodily disorder.

CONSULT YOUR CHIROPRACTOR AT THE FIRST INDICATION OF ILLNESS. Aches and pains are nature's warning signals that something is wrong. Chiropractors are trained to locate and adjust the spinal cause of disease. Keep your spine in normal condition and you will enjoy good health.



DR. GEORGE M. HENDERSON IS X-RAYING A PATIENT in the above picture at the East Point Chiropractic Clinic. Spinographs (X-ray pictures) are an essential part of a scientific Chiropractic analysis. The Chiropractor makes use of the X-ray picture to determine the exact position of the vertebrae, thus enabling him to know which vertebra or vertebrae need adjusting and the precise direction in which the adjustment must be given.

PRECISION AND ACCURACY ARE ESSENTIAL in taking X-rays for spinal analysis. The East Point Chiropractic Clinic is equipped with the latest X-ray equipment to render a better Chiropractic service to its patients.

Audubon Church Plans $250,000 Sanctuary

Audubon Forest Methodist Church will begin construction of a $250,000 sanctuary about March 1, the Rev. Bevel Jones, pastor, has announced following a meeting of the church's Men's Club.

The proposed sanctuary will seat an additional 660 persons. The Rev. Mr. Jones said a church school building costing about $100,000 will be added to the rear of the proposed sanctuary, but not in the immediate future.

Value of the church plant, after completion of the two buildings, will amount to nearly a half million dollars, he said.

Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who spoke at the meeting, was given one of the most tremendous ovations ever accorded a minister, according to the Rev. Mr. Jones.

Dr. Harris spoke on the theme, "a man who lives in a community and does not support a church is a parasite."

Dr. Harris, who has traveled over 40,000 miles since last August, said he sensed a "profound turning back toward religion all over the country."

At the meeting, the Rev. Mr. Jones traced the history of his church's phenomenal growth since its founding in June of 1949 with 50 members. A chapel and church school plant, costing $50,000, was occupied in October of 1950, he said. The church had about 250 members at that time.

The $35,000 church school addition was completed in January, 1952, the pastor said.

Today, the church membership numbers nearly 800.

The church's present assets amount to about $140,000, the Rev. Mr. Jones said, with only about $11,000 in debt remaining.

This debt will probably be retired by March, when the new construction begins, he said.

The meeting of the Men's Club was to acquaint all the churchmen with the facts of the building program.

People Decide Type of City, Goodwin Says

A community will get the kind of building and expansion its people declare they want by their support of churches, civic clubs and other planning agencies, George Goodwin told the Ben Hill Civitan Club Monday night.

Goodwin, a former Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaperman, is now executive director of the Central Atlanta Improvement Association, a private agency which assists the city and county in planning orderly growth. He is a native of West End.

A city that cannot expand outward because of limited borders will expand upward, Goodwin said. This upward expansion is ultimately bad, he said, because it creates overcrowding and eventually slums.

Planned, orderly expansion can only come outwardly, he concluded, if interested citizens co-operate with public officials charged with such planning.

President C. L. Munday presided. The speaker was introduced by Lewis Clyburn, club program chairman.

Sylvan Slates Panel Session

Mrs. Clyde Larmore will lead a panel discussion on "Child Security Through Help With His Problems" at a meeting of the Sylvan Hills Elementary PTA at 1 p.m., Jan. 19, in the school auditorium.

Panel members will consist of parents, teachers and students.

Teacher members are Miss Josie Slocumb, elementary supervisor for Atlanta schools; Mrs. Thelma Neville, Mrs. Lille Mae Crook and Mrs. Louise Hamilton.

Mrs. Clyde Ellis and Mrs. A. A. Williams will represent parents; and Peggy Register, Jimmy Howell, Craig Nelson and Margie Kitchens will represent students.

15 Complete 3d Army Course In Job Phases

Fifteen persons were presented work simplification training certificates by Lt. Gen. A. R. Bolling at Third Army headquarters recently.

Lions Club Meet

Southwest Lions Club will hold a square dance for members and their wives at Community House No. 3 in East Point between 8:30 and 11 p.m. Friday.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. before the dance.

West Enders Read More Despite TV

West Enders read more books in 1953, despite TV and 3-D movies. Miss Eleanor Harrison of Uncle Remus branch library reported an increase of 18,716 in the number of books read over the previous year. Adults upped their reading by 11,007 books, while juveniles showed a gain of 7,709.

At Stewart Avenue branch, Mrs. J. C. Larmore reported an overall gain in readers of 11,126. Her total readership was 66,745, with 50,957 juveniles and 15,788 adults. She noted that the Ragsdale School section of her library caters only to children and is closed approximately six weeks during the year on holidays.

Adams Park readers checked out 24,321 books over last year, and signed up 428 new registrants for library cards, according to Mrs. Justine Jamison, librarian. Juveniles outdistanced the adults with 16,540 books read to the grownups 7,781.

All three libraries' records show that grownups and children both still read novels and stories much more than non-fiction. Readers checked out more than twice as many fiction books as the fact kind, 85,383 to 33,407.

Mrs. Mitchum Heads Southwest March of Dimes

Mrs L. C. Mitchum of 1568 Pineview Terrace, SW, has been appointed Southwest Atlanta chairman of the January March of Dimes by the Fulton-DeKalb division of the polio fund campaign.

Serving with her as school area chairmen will be Mrs. Ralph Reed, 1140 Veltre Cir., SW, (Cascade, West Haven, Margaret Fain, and Ben Hill schools); Mrs. C. A. Keaten, 1140 Veltre Dr., SW, (Connally, Ragsdale, Harris, Peeples and Lee Street schools); and Mrs. W. T. Duffey, 1807 Buckeye St., SW, (Adair, Sylvan Hills, Capitol View and Perkerson schools).

The area chairmen will be in charge of the Mothers' March which will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on Jan. 29. Fifteen other subchairmen for specific school vicinities will assist them.

WEST MANOR PARK CLUBHOUSE—The green-wood hut in the background is the West Manor Park clubhouse. Members of the West Manor Civic Club charge the club "is inadequately heated" and does not meet original specifications for a "community house" agreed to by Fulton County officials in 1944. City officials say they are not bound by agreements of the county prior to the Plan of Improvement, and parks money for West End in1954 must go to a proposed swimming pool at John A. White Park.

John White Park May Not Get Pool This Season

A swimming pool in John A. White Park, previously scheduled for early construction, may not be completed for use this summer, according to Charlie Leftwich, chairman of the City Parks Committee.

Leftwich and other parks officials earlier indicated the White pool project had the full speed ahead sign from the city and that work would probably start on the pool early this year.

Leftwich, in an interview this week, said he still favors speedy action on construction of the pool but that he did not know how other members of the Parks Committee felt.

He also indicated that Mayor Hartsfield had expressed a desire to give other projects priority over the White pool. Mayor Hartsfield, was not available for comment.

Recently, Leftwich and Parks Directors George Simons told a group of West Manor citizens that no appreciable improvements could be made at West Manor Park this year because "all the money for the West End area this year must go on the White Park pool."

At that time, city officials had also told a West End delegation that Mozley park and pool would be converted to the use of Negroes in January and that White Park pool would replace it.

Parks Director Simons this week said a topographical survey of the proposed pool site has been completed but that detailed estimates on cost and actual location of the pool are not yet ready for submission to the Parks Committee. He also said, 'the pool may not be completed for use this year."

The first 1954 meeting of the Parks Committee is Tuesday, Jan. 19, according to Alderman Leftwich.

Doll Shows Scheduled At West End Schools

Doll shows, sponsored by the city recreation department, will be held at three West End schools this week.

Shows will be held at Lee Street School at 10 a.m. today; at Perkerson School at 4 p.m. tomorrow, and at Connally School Friday at 3 p.m.

All children in the vicinity are invited to enter dolls in the contests.

Hear PTA Officers

The J. C. Harris PTA heard Mrs. Charles Center and Miss Annie Taylor, officers of the Georgia Congress of PTA, speak on "Toward Helpful Living" at their meeting.

A question and answer period was held and a flutist trio of Harris students presented musical selections.

2 Cage Tilts Set Today at Adams Park

Two games in the Junior Boys' League are scheduled at Adams Park gymnasium today as the West End recreation basketball leagues enter their second week of play.

English Park will play the Elks, and Haygood will take on Home Park. The first game is set for 4:30 p.m.

Saturday, four games in the Adams Park Midget league will be played, starting at 9:30 a.m. Opponents will be Adams Park vs. Adamsville; Connally "Shots" vs. J. C. Harris; Connally "Fives" vs. Perkerson Park.

Adams Park Senior Boys' tilts on Monday will match Adams Park and Cooper Street Baptist; Riverside and R. S. Owls, and Grove Park and Cascade Baptist.

Junior girls will play at Adams Park gymnasium Jan. 18 with English Park playing Knight Park, and Cook playing Adair. First game will start at 4 p.m.

The Metropolitan Senior Girls League tilt between Rice and Adams Park will begin at 8 p.m. at the gymnasium the same day.

West Fulton YMCA Membership Drive Set

The kick-off dinner of the West Fulton YMCA 1954 membership drive will be held at 6:30 p.m. tonight at Peeples Street School. Franklin Rodgers, chairman of the drive, will preside.

Chaplain Jones Recalls 5 Years on Troopships

Lt. Col. Emmett G. Jones, who has just been assigned to Ft. McPherson as post chaplain, probably could get a commission in the Navy without half trying.

NEW CHAPLAIN
Lt. Col. E. G. Jones

He has spent nearly half his Army career on ships, but not as a sailor. He served five years as a chaplain on troop transports, including nearly three years on the Queen Elizabeth, largest ship afloat.

During that time he helped ferry more than 1,000,000 troops overseas or back home and crossed the Atlantic 70 times on the giant English ship alone. It took 3,500 pounds of bacon to prepare a morning's breakfast for the men on one of his ships, he recalled.

One of his most vivid recollections is of the American wives and children he accompanied home on a boat from Pearl Harbor only days after the Japanese attack. The animals almost outnumbered the people, he recalls, with the passenger list carrying "two cats, five birds, 80 dogs," but only 90 wives and 100 children.

At sea, the dogs, which had "war nerves" from the bombings, and the children became hysterical when the ship's crew practiced machine gun firing.

On board troop transports, Chaplain Jones and his fellow chaplains conducted as many as 15 week-day religious services and as many as 23 services on Sunday. He also had to pinch-hit as a theatrical impresario and staged a variety show which was seen by 7,000 troops within five hours.

hours Chaplain Jones found himself in Seoul, Korea during the last 13 months of the Korean War.

He helped channel soldier relief to Korean orphans in addition to his regular Army duties.

There were at least 7,000 orphans being cared for in Seoul institutions by the U.N. and Korean relief agencies when he left Korea, he says, and at least half that many more in the city's streets. You could "always sweep up 100 orphans" any time, he says sadly.

When he left Korea, he had served 107 months overseas since December of 1941. En route to the United States, he completed a tour around the world, visiting Thailand, Turkey, Greece, Egypt and the Holy Land.

A native of Colorado, Chaplain Jones served two civilian Episcopal pastorates in that state before entering the Army in April, 1941. He is a graduate of the University of Denver and the General Theological Seminary in New York City.

Virus Fails To Mar Studer Record Of 22 Absence-Free Years in Pulpit

Dr. William G. Studer, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church at Gordon and Hightower roads, celebrated his 22nd anniversary Sunday as a minister without an absence from the pulpit.

Dr. W. G. Studer

But he almost didn't make it Sunday.

Late Saturday, he became ill with a virus infection, but preached both services Sunday despite the presence of some fever.

He's had other near-misses in his career, two of which he recalled this week.

In Chicago, on one occasion, he had to slog through four feet of snow which had halted streetcars and automobiles. He made it without even catching a cold.

The other incident was an unhappy one. His mother, a member of his congregation, died unexpectedly. Fellow ministers volunteered to replace him, but he felt he should fill the pulpit and preached his mother's funeral.

CLUB NOTES

Utoy Gardeners Beautify West Manor Park Entrance

The Utoy Garden Club will plant shrubbery and perennial flowers on beds around the entrance to the West Manor Park as part of a beautification project for 1954.

The flower beds, which will surround the park sign, are being prepared by the city, under the direction of Fred W. Boswell, assistant city director of parks.

A second project of the club is aid to Battle Hill Haven in West End. Christmas food was sent. Fruit juices are donated there each month.

PTA Study Group

Miss Aurelia Davis, co-ordinating counselor for Atlanta schools, will speak on "Pre-Teen Age" at the study group of the Sylvan Hills Elementary PTA Monday, Jan. 25.

The meeting will be held from 10 a.m. to noon at the Capitol View Presbyterian Church.

Hartsfield To Speak

Mayor Hartsfield will speak to the Men's Club of the Calvary Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Wednesday. He will describe highlights of his recent trip through the Middle East.

Health Topic

Mrs. Mary Divine, Fulton County nurse for Adair school, will speak at 3 p.m. Tuesday to the Adair PTA in the school auditorium. Her subject will be "Health in a Changing World."

Woman's Club Meet

Mrs. Fred B. Wenn, supervisor of adult homemaking education for Atlanta and Fulton County, will speak to the West End Woman's Club today at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Otis Clotfelter, education chairman of the club, will be in charge of program, and Mrs. M. W. Stallings, president, will preside. The executive committee will meet at 2:30 p.m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLINIC HELD HERE—Three out-of-state "clinicians" participating in the West End Baptist Church's Sunday School clinic for the next two weeks (L. to R.) are the Rev. W. T. Douglas, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Magnolia, Miss.; Dr. J. T. Edmonds, secretary of survey, statistics and information for the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, and Richard Hamilton, educational director of the Woodland Baptist Church, Chattanooga, Tenn. Dr. Edmonds is leading the West End church's clinic, which is part of a South-wide program being held in Atlanta. The goal of the program is 1,000,000 new members of Baptist Sunday schools in 1954.
